Rocky confirmation set late this week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will have a new vice president by the end of the week, if Congress keeps its schedule in the last days before adjourning and confirms Nelson A. Rockefeller as expected.

In addition to confirming Rockefeller as vice president, Congress is expected to take final action on legislation this week to increase unemployment benefits, curb strip mining and expand foreign trade before adjourning for the year.

The Rockefeller nomination, already approved overwhelmingly in the Senate, faces a House vote Thursday or Friday after being recommended 26-12 by the House Judiciary Committee.

Rockefeller's swearing-in ceremony is expected to follow quickly after the House vote. The United States has been without a vice president since Aug. 9.

House-Senate conference committees also are scheduled to iron out differences among several bills designed to increase unemployment compensation and create more public-service jobs. The unemployment rate in November rose to 6.5 per cent from 6 per cent in October, and more than 6 million persons are out of work.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER

A final Senate vote today would send to the White House a compromise bill aimed at preventing environmental damage due to strip mining of coal.

President Ford has promised he would veto the bill on the ground it would result in decreased coal production at a time when the nation is looking for alternatives to expensive foreign oil.

Ford also has expressed deep reservations about the inflationary impact of another compromise bill that requires 30 per cent of imported oil to be carried on U.S. tankers.

The bill, strongly supported by maritime unions and shipping interests, is up for final Senate action today.

Ford has said the bill would fuel inflation and raise gasoline prices. But Senate aides say there is doubt Ford will veto the bill because it was made clear to him that if he wanted a far-reaching trade bill he would have to accept the shipping measure.

The trade bill empowers the president to negotiate mutual tariff reductions and includes a provision aimed at ensuring free emigration of Russian Jews. The measure is in a House-Senate conference committee to work out differences between versions approved by the two chambers.

AMA journal urges tobacco subsidy end

WASHINGTON (AP) — An article in the Journal of the American Medical Association today accused Congress of subsidizing "increased death and disability" by paying subsidies to tobacco growers, and an accompanying editorial urged an end to such payments.

A spokesman for the AMA said it was the journal's first call for congressional action against smoking after its decades-long campaign of educating physicians and patients about the hazards of smoking.

"Congress is using our tax money, in many ways, to subsidize increased death and disability among our citizens, as well as those of the rest of the world," wrote Dr. Weldon J. Walker of White Memorial Medical Center's cardiopulomonary unit in Los Angeles and a member of the JAMA editorial board.

JAMA editor Robert H. Moser said in an editorial: "Walker's stern challenge to the legislators should be heeded."

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare calls cigarette smoking the leading cause for the 600,000 deaths a year from coronary heart disease, 72,000 deaths from lung cancer and 25,000 deaths from chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

The Tobacco Institute Inc., a trade organization representing cigarette manufacturers, said federal tobacco subsidies actually hold down production by setting acreage quotas.

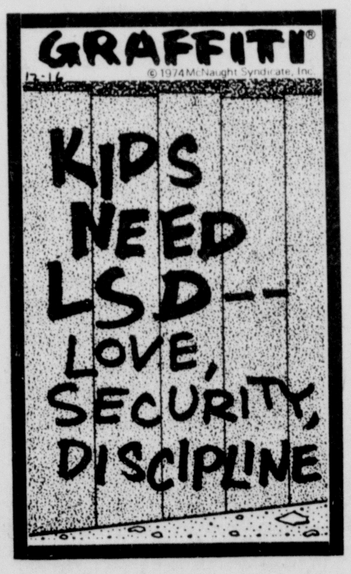

William Kloepfer Jr., the institute's senior vice president, also said federal and state excise taxes on tobacco products will yield $5.5 billion in revenues this year.

In addition, he said, tobacco held by the government will yield a 50 to 100 per cent profit when sold, "a pretty fantastic business deal."

Walker said the death rate from heart disease, although still the nation's No. 1 killer, has been dropping steadily since the first U.S. surgeon general's report on smoking and health in 1964.

After a 19 per cent increase on an age-adjusted basis between 1950 and 1963, the death rate from coronary heart disease fell 10.5 per cent and "coincided precisely" with the surgeon general's report, he said.

However, the death rate from lung cancer has increased 54 per cent every 10 years, he said. Walker said the adverse effects on human lungs linger on after a person stops smoking.

Ford and Giscard end summit meet

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique (AP) — The presidents of the United States and France called jointly today for a conference of oil consuming and oil producing nations "at the earliest possible time."

The call was a compromise to break a French-American deadlock on how best to cope with increased oil prices. Presidents Ford and Valery Giscard d'Estaing agreed in summit talks on a series of "interrelated steps" leading to the proposed conference.

A communique issued as they ended two days of talks on this Caribbean island said these steps "should be taken in sequence:"

—Consuming nations, working "within the framework of existing institutions," should develop programs for energy conservation, for developing existing and alternative sources of energy and for financial solidarity.

—Consumer nations should hold a meeting next March "to develop an agenda and procedures for a consumer-producer conference."

—The preparatory discussions among consumer countries "will be followed by intensive consultations" to prepare a unified position for the meeting with the exporting countries.

The two presidents talked in a friendly, relaxed atmosphere in the balmy Caribbean climate and went swimming together during a luncheon trip Sunday to a 200-year-old plantation hotel. They seemed to have ironed out their differences over how to cope with the crisis arising from soaring oil prices.

Spokesmen for both described the meetings as "amicable and friendly."

Aides said the subjects discussed included the international monetary situation, Middle East problems, the European security conference and Indochina as well as the oil dilemma.

One more session was scheduled this morning before Ford's departure for Washington.

Giscard d'Estaing gave a state dinner Saturday night for his American visitor, and Ford responded with an "All-American" poolside barbecue Sunday night. A White House chef grilled New York strip steaks for the 44 guests. Sarah Vaughan flew from the United States to sing and received a kiss from President Ford for her performance.

Watergate coverup trial expected to run past Yule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate cover-up trial is entering its final week of testimony with the jury verdicts for five former Nixon administration and campaign aides not expected until after Christmas.

Former Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian is testifying in his own defense and the prosecutors are expected to cross examine him today.

Only one more defendant, Kenneth W. Parkinson, former lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee, is still waiting to present his case.

Mardian and Parkinson often seemed like spectators in the crowded courtroom during the first 11 weeks of the trial when attention centered on their three co-defendants: former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-Nixon White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

All five are charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate breakin.

Except for Mardian, the other defendants also are charged with obstruction of justice, and Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman with lying under oath.

The charge against Mardian includes the allegation that he called G. Gordon Liddy from California on June 17, 1972, the day of the break-in, and told him to try to reach then Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and ask him to get one or more of the Watergate burglars out of jail.

On the stand Friday, Mardian denied that and other allegations.

Mardian also testified that his impression was that Richard M. Nixon, not Mitchell, made many major campaign committee decisions. He said he based that on his knowledge that Mitchell occasionally was overruled and that Nixon was the only person he knew who had that authority.

Parkinson is expected to start presenting his case on Tuesday. Later in the week, defense and prosecution lawyers will argue before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica on what sort of instructions he should give the jury before it begins deliberations.

At least three days are expected to be required for closing arguments by the lawyers.

That schedule could take it up to Christmas Eve and current speculation is that in that case Sirica would delay sending the case to the jury until just after the holiday.

Open house sessions start Tuesday

Public hearing set Wednesday on proposed U.S. 35 project

A public action plan meeting designed to discuss a proposed improvement of U.S. 35 from the western end of the Frankfort bypass in Ross County through Fayette County is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Bernard B. Hurst Jr., deputy director of the Ohio Department of Transportation, said to inform area residents on the purpose and scope of the project, the Fayette County Action Plan group will hold an open house at the Mahan Building on Tuesday from 2 until 8 p.m. and again on Wednesday from 2 until the 7:30 p.m. meeting time.

J. HERBERT PERRILL, chairman of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners, will serve as chairman for the Fayette County Action Plan group. The group consisted of Fayette County commissioners, township trustees, the Fayette County engineer, members of the Fayette County Regional Planning Commission, Washington C.H. City Manager Dan Wolford and representatives of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

During the open house, personnel from the Ohio Department of Transportation will be present to explain displays and discuss the overall purpose of the Wednesday night meeting. The proposed design features of the U.S. 35 improvement from near Ohio 138 in Ross County, through Fayette County, to the Fayette-Greene county line, will be the subject of discussion at the public meeting.

The public is invited to voice opinions on the design features of the project such as interchanges, number of lanes and grade separation.

Two sections of the U.S. 35 improvement are presently under construction in Ross County, including the Frankfort bypass and the Pleasant Valley segment, near Chillicothe. The Washington C.H. bypass of U.S. 35 was officially dedicated during a formal ribbon-cutting ceremony March 26.

Picketing continues to curb full coalfield production

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Almost two weeks after a month-long United Mine Workers strike officially ended, the Appalachian coalfields were expecting only partial production today.

UMW locals in central and southwestern Pennsylvania and in West Virginia agreed Sunday to honor picket lines manned by striking UMW construction workers.

Although both miners and construction workers belong to the UMW, the two groups work under separate contracts.

The miners won a 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits over a three-year contract, but the construction workers want additional unemployment benefits and travel pay because they are subject to more frequent layoffs and often have to move around from one mine construction site to another.

Contract negotiations between the UMW and the Association of Bituminous Contractors continued in Washington Sunday but there was no indication that a tentative agreement was near.

A tentative contract was approved by negotiators last week, but the UMW's 38-member bargaining council sent it back for further study. The council must approve a contract before it can be submitted for a rank and file vote by the 4,400 construction workers.

Picketing last week idled about a fifth of the UMW's 120,000 miners. About 8,000 were off the job in Pennsylvania while West Virginia estimates were around 7,500. Almost 4,000 were idle in Virginia, as were most of Indiana's 2,500.

The figures are expected to be greater this week as a result of the locals' official sanction of picketing activity.

Demos delay Lavelle ouster

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three recommendations emerged Sunday night from a meeting of John Glenn Democrats, faced with trying to find a consensus candidate for state party chairman.

Glenn, a million-vote winner for U.S. Senate in Ohio's Nov. 5 election, talked with newsmen after a 3½-hour meeting in his Columbus home with elected state officials and their representatives, along with a delegation of county Democratic chairmen.

He said they were unable to reach a consensus on a replacement for the present chairman, William A. Lavelle, and decided to ask him to remain in the post until after Jan. 13 when John J. Gilligan turns over the governor's office to GOP Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes.

Lavelle said previously he would resigned next Friday at a planned meeting of the state Democratic Executive Committee. Glenn said he is urging that the Friday meeting be postponed.

If Lavelle, Gilligan's hand picked chairman, steps down anyway, the group recommended that the job be taken on an interim basis by Hamilton County Chairman John A. Wiethe, Glenn said before flying to Washington.

Thirdly, Glenn said the gathering rejected Lavelle's statement that his resignation would be contingent upon his remaining a member of the Democratic National Committee.

It was learned that three prospects for state chairman were discussed at length by Glenn, State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahey, Lt. Gov.-elect Richard F. Celeste, representatives of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown and Auditor Elect Thomas E. Ferguson and others attending the meeting. Earl Cunningham of Summit County and E. W. Nastrangelo of Lake County were among representatives of the Ohio Democratic County Chairmen's Association present.

The three names discussed "at length," Glenn said, were Montgomery County Chairman Paul Tipps — whose connections with Gilligan appear his main liability in the Glenn camp — Franklin County Chairman Nelson Lancione, and Robert Blakemore of Akron, former Summit County chairman.

Lancione did not attend the session because of "other commitments," he said, adding that "the county chairmen were well enough represented."

Glenn's big victory in the Senate race, coupled with Gilligan's defeat at the hands of Rhodes, put the former astronaut into the party's leadership position, for all practical purposes.

His rift with the defeated governor dates back to late last year when Glenn rejected Gilligan's request to run on the state ticket for lieutenant governor.

Glenn said he now hopes a unified party can be built around Democratic holds on four of the six statewide offices and the handsome new Democratic majorities in both houses of the legislature.

Holdout on coffee likely to be flop

By The Associated Press

Major Latin American coffee states are planning to withhold coffee beans from the market to bolster sagging prices, but New York commodity experts doubt they will succeed.

Informed sources in Caracas, Venezuela, said Brazil, Colombia, Mexico and other major coffee growers will join smaller Central American countries in holding back 30 per cent of their coffee crop.

Venezuela's President Carlos Andres Perez told the Central Americans at a summit conference in Caracas Saturday that his government would use its oil money to back them. Informed sources said Venezuela would put up $80 million.

But commodity dealers in New York said the coffee countries' attempt to emulate the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries would probably have little impact on consumer prices because there is a surplus of coffee beans and consumption in the United States is declining.

On the oil front, Saudi Arabia's oil minister says that contrary to rumors, his government has no plans to sell its investments in Britain.

"If we start withdrawing it means we lose what we have," Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani told a television interviewer in London. "Besides, it would hurt the political stability in a country like Great Britain."

The Saudis have told American oil companies that they will accept only U.S. dollars in payment for their oil, and this set off rumors last week that sent the pound sterling to an alltime low on foreign exchange markets.

Yamani asserted that Saudi Arabia is fighting against higher oil prices. But he said his government would have to "listen carefully" to those who advocate cutting oil production to maintain reserves unless Western countries supply the technology and "full cooperation" Saudi Arabia needs to make the best use of its oil revenues.

In another interview, Kuwait's Finance Director Chalid Abu Saud told the West German magazine Der Spiegel that global inflation was making it impossible for the Arabs to discuss a cut in oil prices seriously.

In Guyana, Prime Minister Forbes Burnham said the Reynolds Metal Co.'s bauxite mines would be nationalized Jan. 1. He said talks will be held on compensation.

Reynolds, the third largest North American aluminum company, gets only about 1 per cent of its bauxite — the raw material of aluminum — from Guyana. The company has been disputing $8.5 million in taxes Burnham demanded earlier in the year.

Sadat cautious on Mideast outlook

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, describing the Mideast situation as a bomb about to explode, says he is having contacts with President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to decide whether to continue the U.S. approach to negotiations.

"If the Americans through their step-by-step approach can achieve any progress or success, I welcome it," he said in an interview with an Iranian publisher Sunday. "I can agree to it. If not, we shall be going to Geneva according to the Soviet theory, and the Americans also are not excluding Geneva because it is a fact that we shall all be going."

The United States has preferred to delay resumption of the Geneva peace talks until more concrete progress can be achieved in private negotiations between Kissinger and the Mideast governments.

Sadat warned that immediate action is needed to defuse the tense Middle East. He also said he believed Israel has a nuclear capacity and added that Egypt would find a way to acquire such weapons but would not be the first to use them.

The president was interviewed by Iranian publisher Farhad Massoudi of the Etalat group of Tehran. His remarks were made available to The Associated Press today.

"When I say defuse the bomb, I mean that the momentum of the process of peace must continue," Sadat said. "It started with disengagement agreements. It should have continued since then. There has been a slack. We must revive the momentum."

Asked how much more time he is willing to give Kissinger for negotiations, Sadat replied:

"I am now having contacts with President Ford and Dr. Kissinger and we shall see in the near future what will be the result and after that we shall decide."

Sadat said in the meantime Egypt, Syria, Jordan and the Palestine Liberation Organization would meet soon to work out a joint strategy at Geneva in accordance with the decisions of the Arab summit at Rabat. The PLO won backing at the summit to set up a Palestinian state.

Asked if he believes the Mideast is approaching a peace settlement or another war instead, Sadat said the recent "rigid positions" of Israel lead him to question his usual optimism.

"Do they really need peace, do they really aim for peace?" he asked. "We aim for peace, I assure you. For that I am optimistic. But it depends on the other side."

A large, slow moving low pressure center will bring cold air through the Ohio Valley and north to Lake Erie today and Tuesday. A second low pressure center developing in the Carolinas will help hold clouds over the Buckeye state.

Overnight, skies were cloudy with measurable precipitation over much of the eastern portion of Ohio. Precipitation was rain and snow mixed, changing to rain. Temperatures have been on the mild side, generally 10 to 15 degrees above normal readings for mid December.

2 sextuplets still alive

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Another of the Lange sextuplets born nine days ago died early this morning, leaving only two of the premature infants left in their battle for life.

Dr. James Harrod said a boy, Jason, died at Valley Medical Center of respiratory failure. He was the youngest of the six infants and weighed the most at birth, 2 pounds 4 ounces. A normal baby usually weighs between seven and nine pounds.

Like the other five infants, Harrod said Jason struggled against hyaline membrane disease, a disorder that starves the lungs of oxygen.

Another boy, Brian, has shown some improvement over the past two days, but remains in critical condition and on a respirator to help him breathe, said Harrod.

The first born, Jolene Rene, a girl, who had sipped donated mother's milk through a tube over the weekend, appeared to be the strongest. Harrod said she is in stable condition and "making progress, although requiring intermittent respiratory assistance."

Sirhan guilt questioned by ex-solon

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein says that after a personal year-long study, "I don't believe the evidence sustains the theory that Sirhan Sirhan is the murderer of Robert F. Kennedy."

Sirhan is serving a life sentence in California for the assassination of Sen. Kennedy on June 5, 1968, in a Los Angeles hotel following Kennedy's victory in the California presidential primary.

Lowenstein, a former Democratic congressman from New York, revealed his doubts about the shooting at a news conference Sunday, accompanied by Paul Schrade, a former United Auto Workers official who was wounded at the time of the assassination.

Schrade said Lowenstein had convinced him that there were many unanswered questions in the case.

Lowenstein said he made his investigation because of the "recalcitrance of the authorities" to make all the technical evidence public and because in the wake of Watergate "the country now understands what it didn't before — that things that 'never could have occurred' have occurred."

He said, however, that he was not proposing that Sirhan, a Jordanian immigrant who expressed anger over Kennedy's pro-Israel position, was part of a larger conspiracy. He said he had no ideas so far about the identity of the wielder of the "true gun" in the killing.

Schrade said such a probe is necessary because it "has to do with the future, the life of Teddy Kennedy." He referred to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Mrs. Hearst issues plea to Patty

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Catherine Hearst wants her fugitive daughter Patricia to come home for Christmas.

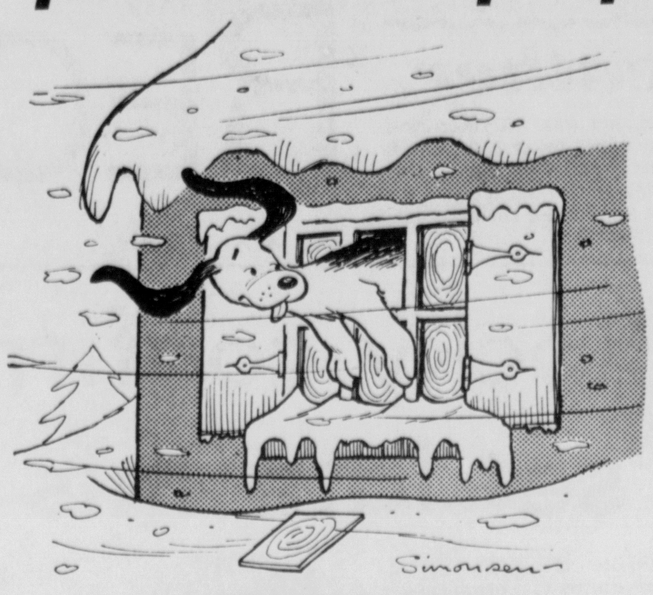

Mrs. Hearst made the plea in a 300-word letter published in Sunday's San Francisco Examiner, the newspaper edited by her husband, Randolph A. Hearst.

Miss Hearst, 20, was kidnaped last Feb. 4 by the Symbionese Liberation Army and has since renounced her family and stated her allegiance to the terrorist group.

"Christmas is almost upon us again, and I am sure you must realize our agony as we face the possibility of a Christmas without you," the mother said.

Santa's problem pup

CHAPTER 6
By Bob Boyle

Halfway through he got stuck.

When they got to the kennel she let Peako off the leash.

He went to the big window in front of the kennel and looked toward Santa's house.

"That won't do you any good," Miss Kay Nihn said as she put a chain across the door.

Peako continued to look out the big window. It was made up of many small panes of glass that crissed cross each other.

Miss Kay Nihn finished chaining the door and said, "Well, you missed your supper so you'll have to go hungry until tomorrow. Now good night and stay put."

As she left she turned off the light.

Peako started to cry.

"Be quiet," Miss Kay Nihn shouted.

After she was gone for a few minutes Peako went to the door and tried to push the chain back with his nose.

He couldn't budge it.

He stood on his two hind legs and tried to move the chain with his front paws.

It still wouldn't budge.

He then tried to grab it with his mouth but it was too tight.

The chain wouldn't move.

Peako couldn't get out the door.

He walked to the back of the kennel but found no way out there.

He went to the front window again.

He put his nose against one of the small panes.

He pushed and pushed and pushed.

Pop went the pane of glass as it fell against the snow.

Peako scrunched himself up, put his head through the opening and then squeezed his tiny body through it.

Halfway through he got stuck. He started to whimper. But he couldn't move.

His cries alerted the other little puppies in the kennel.

They saw that Peako was stuck.

Two of the little poodles got behind him and with their noses they started to push.

They pushed and pushed and pushed and, suddenly, Peako slid through the opening.

He turned to them and wagged his tail as if to say "thank you."

He then turned and ran lickity-split toward Santa's house.

He went to the front door and breathed on the knob to make it warm. He grabbed it in his mouth and again did a somersault, and click, the door opened.

He closed it by pushing his nose against it and ran to the dining room.

But Santa and all the eleves had gone.

Peako started to whimper.

"Hey, what's that?" Juniperperper said, as he rubbed the sleep from his eyes.

"I hear something, too," Jinkersnipes said as he awoke. "It sounds like a dog."

"You don't think it's him, do you?" Juniperperper asked.

"No, I don't think it could be Peako," Jinkersnipes said. "Miss Kay Nihn said she put a chain on the kennel door.

Just then, Peako leaped up onto Juniperperper's bed and started to lick his face. He jumped down and then jumped to Jinkersnipes's bed and licked his face.

The two elves started to laugh.

"It's Peako, it is Peako," they shouted.

The other elves began to awaken.

"Hey, Peako is here," they said. "Good old Peako got out and is here."

The dog ran from elf to elf, licking their hands and faces.

"Hurray for Peako," Jasper said. "He showed old Miss Kay Nihn."

Mrs. Claus was sleeping soundly but the commotion awakened her, too.

Putting on her robe she went into the elves' room.

Peako ran toward her and started to wag his whole body.

"Peako, Peako," she said. "What are you doing here? Miss Kay Nihn will be furious."

After licking Mrs. Claus' hand, Peako ran into Santa's bedroom.

Santa was sleeping soundly in his red pajamas, with a huge nightcap on his head.

Peako jumped up and started to lick Santa's face.

"What's this, what's this?" Santa said. "What's going on? Who is licking my face?"

Mrs. Claus came in and turned on the light.

"Look who is here," Mrs. Claus said.

"It couldn't be, but it is," Santa said. "It's Peako. My, my, how did you get away from Miss Kay Nihn?"

The elves crowded around the door.

"Let him stay, Stanta, let him stay," they shouted. "Please let him stay."

"Well, it is late," Santa laughed. "And I wouldn't want to wake Miss Kay Nihn at this hour, so I guess it will be all right for Peako to stay here tonight at the foot of my bed.

"Now boys, back to bed," Mrs. Claus said. "We must get settled."

When the elves had gone, Peako went to the foot of Santa's bed and fell soundly asleep.

"He is some dog," Santa said, as he closed his eyes.

Boston school desegregation plan readied

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston School Committee submits its phase two desegregation plan in federal court today and decides whether to close schools early for the holidays following a weekend of massive demonstrations for and against busing.

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity ordered the committee to approve a plan and submit it to him by noon today. The committee scheduled a vote on the plan, which is slated to call for the busing of 35,000 school children, just 30 minutes before the deadline.

The initial court-ordered desegregation plan was implemented in Boston schools this fall with the busing of 18,000 of the system's 95,000 pupils. That plan has already divided the city and led to sporadic racial violence.

Sunday, some 4,500 school busing foes rallied on Boston Common, listening to speeches denouncing Garrity and calling for a constitutional amendment to prohibit forced busing.

Just 24 hours earlier the Common was the scene of a prointegration rally which attracted an estimated 20,000 demonstrators, capping a three-mile "National March Against Racism."

Both rallies followed a week of violence and demonstrations in a number of high schools, and the stabbing on Wednesday of a white South Boston High School student. Seven schools in the predominantly white section of South Boston and Roxbury High in the city's black section have been closed since that incident.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed in early trading today, in a carryover of the uncertain trading of last Friday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off a fraction shortly after the opening, while advances and declines were about even on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said there was some anticipation among investors that the government might move soon to fight the recession. Still they noted the sharp drop in November industrial production, as indicated by the figures released Friday by the Federal Reserve Board.

Campbell Red Lake Mines was up 1¾ to 32¾.

Last week the Dow Jones average rose 15.17, closing at 592.77.

In all 793 issues advanced and 920 declined on the Big Board.

Johnny Cash eyes detective show

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A guest appearance with Peter Falk on television's "Colombo" program earlier this year has given country singer Johnny Cash the bug to star in his own nonviolent detective series.

"I think he'll do it. I really do," said Cash's sister and business assistant, Reba Hancock.

Mrs. Hancock said if a script is completed and approved within the next few weeks, a CBS television pilot movie will be filmed in January. And if the ratings are good enough, the series will likely follow, she said.

Mrs. Hancock said script writers working for producer David Wolper are trying to create a story showing Cash as a gentle character, but without losing the potential for good ratings which seem to demand violence in television police shows.

"A police show has to have a certain amount of action," said Cash's agent in Los Angeles, Marty Klein. "Otherwise, it can't get on television. It just can't be a pablum-type show."

Klein said he hopes to get Cash a "new concept" in police show formats.

"They're going to show him in this particular thing living on a farm. They're going to show his private life, which you don't see on television with police shows. You sure don't see it in 'Colombo' or 'Mannix.' He's even going to have a mother."

Cash is not expected to sing in the show. However, plans call for having plenty of country music as background — at the police department, for example.

Cash's wife and singing partner, June Carter Cash, will be written into the story as an associate at the police department, Klein said.

Cash's home in the story is his real-life farm at Bon Aqua, near Nashville. After the initial movie, plans call for building a sound stage duplicate of the Nashville Metro Police Department headquarters to continue the series.

Klein said that to get the pilot movie on the air before the current season ends in April, it must be filmed no later than Jan. 15.

Klan moves to widen membership

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — A major faction of the Ku Klux Klan has voted to admit Catholics and immigrants in a move apparently aimed at increasing the group's appeal in northern industrial areas.

The 16-member governing board of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, the second largest Klan organization, approved the amendments at a meeting Sunday in this suburb of Atlanta.

Previously, the organization had been limited to white, native-born Protestant Americans, with some chapters excluding women. Klan leaders said they would continue to ban non-whites, non-Christians and anyone who is not a citizen of the United States.

The decision was announced by Dale Reusch, 35, of Lodi, Ohio, the organization's proposed candidate for president in 1976. Reusch said he proposed the changes because "half of my membership in the North are Catholics."

"I have been taking them in for five years, at my discretion," he said. "They have proven to be very good, effective Klan members."

The largest Klan organization is the United Klans of America, led by Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Opinion And Comment

Message gets across

There's always a bit of the rough with the smooth, but sometimes the rough's not so bad after all. In support of this thesis we cite the case of the Dr. Jazz Old Fashioned Ice Cream Parlor American Cancer Society no-smoking campaign award.

The smooth consists of the award itself, and of the striking means by which this Chicago establishment won it. The Dr. Jazz Old Fashioned Ice Cream Parlor is rigged (with the cooperation of its patrons, as will be seen) so that this happens when a smoker lights up: smoke sensors activate a siren and red lights, and everybody in the place stares at the offender.

Now for the abovementioned rough. It seems that, according to one of the emporium's co-owners, "some people light up just to make it go off." We confess that we'd find the temptation hard to resist. And in any case, when the lights flash and the siren wails and the assembled ice cream afficionados give the miscreant the cold stare treatment, the message must come through loud and clear: Smoking in places where others prefer breathing unsullied air is really not quite couth - and besides, it's bad for the health of all concerned.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Too little, too late?

WASHINGTON — The bells are ringing, calling laggard senators to vote on a proposition that is in its ultimate meaning, to be or not to be.

They are ringing again and again, quorum calls, amendments, the whole time-consuming process pressing down on harassed men eyeing the calendar, the end of the session and escape for the Christmas recess.

It has such a prosy sound: the trade reform act.

But in its complex and voluminous form the decision is whether or not this nation is to participate in a system of international trade looking to a reduction of tariff barriers and an expansion of that trade for the good of peoples everywhere.

The fact that this vital measure should come up so very late is an outrage. For two weary, dreary years the trade bill has been crawling past the legislative barriers, some inherent in the process, others thrown up by the pressure of lobbies that want to wall off America's productive system.

During all this time a hobbled United States has been unable to participate in negotiations on tariff barriers.

And if the measure is not passed in this last-minute rush it will be a signal to our trading partners that we are opting out to go it alone.

That can mean rising protectionism everywhere. As everyone plays beggar thy-neighbor, a recession can become a depression. It happened in 1930 when the Smoot-Hawley protectionist tariff bill gave a downward push to the worsening economy here and in Europe.

One way the trade act can be killed is by loading it with amendments. This will be the temptation not only for the opposition but for those favoring the measure seeing an opportunity to achieve some desirable end in the final scramble of the dying Congress.

As passed by the Senate, the bill must then go to conference with the House which acted long ago. Burdened with amendments, the process of reconciliation may be impossible.

The most powerful lobby opposing trade reform is the AFL-CIO. This is a perfect example of narrow trade unionism bent on shutting out any and all competing products. The theory is that made-in-America products priced to trade union wages will supercede foreign products now sold in U.S markets.

The ultimate result would be to shut off American sales abroad, although studies show that liberal trade creates more and better jobs in export industries than are lost through import competition.

The principal agent for the AFL-CIO in the Senate is Vance Hartke, the Indiana mixmaster who is third ranking majority member on the finance committee. The act has floundered in the swamp of that committee for weeks, thanks in considerable part to the chairman, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana. Long is adept at the tactics of delay, if only by simple inertia. Entrenched in his chairmanship, he has happily served the interests of Big Oil.

Another reason for the delay has been the long controversy over the Jackson amendment calling for the free emigration of Jews from the Soviet Union. Senator Jackson, who also has AFL-CIO support in his campaign for the presidency, reached a compromise on the emigration issue with Secretary of State Kissinger.

The goal, granted the Soviets live up to the assurance of up to 60,000 Jews allowed to emigrate, is tariff treatment for the Soviet Union comparable to that accorded America's other trading partners.

But this gives George Meany the shivers.

Not only does he fear that any such arrangement will let in state-subsidized goods from Moscow but he is convinced that detente itself will open the way to Communist domnation of the world.

If the act goes down to defeat, the whole process will have to begin all over again in the new Congress. With many freshmen members in the House indebted to the handouts of the AFL-CIO in the November election, the labor lobby will exercise even greater power. The threat is indefinite delay for a step essential to America's role in the world.

President Ford belatedly came out with a strong plea for affirmative action on the trade act. Whether it was not only too late but too little the vote will show. In any event the decision should be above the partisan politics of the moment.

Cincy hotel construction canceled

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati is shopping for another hotel chain to provide badly needed accommodations after Regency-Hyatt House of Chicago canceled plans for a high rise luxury structure.

"It was a blow," complained Fred Lazarus III, who headed a Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce committee which conducted three years of negotiations and raised $2.7 million for local investment.

Lazarus, who heads Shillito's, a division of Federated Department Stores, said Regency-Hyatt House blamed inflation for backing out.

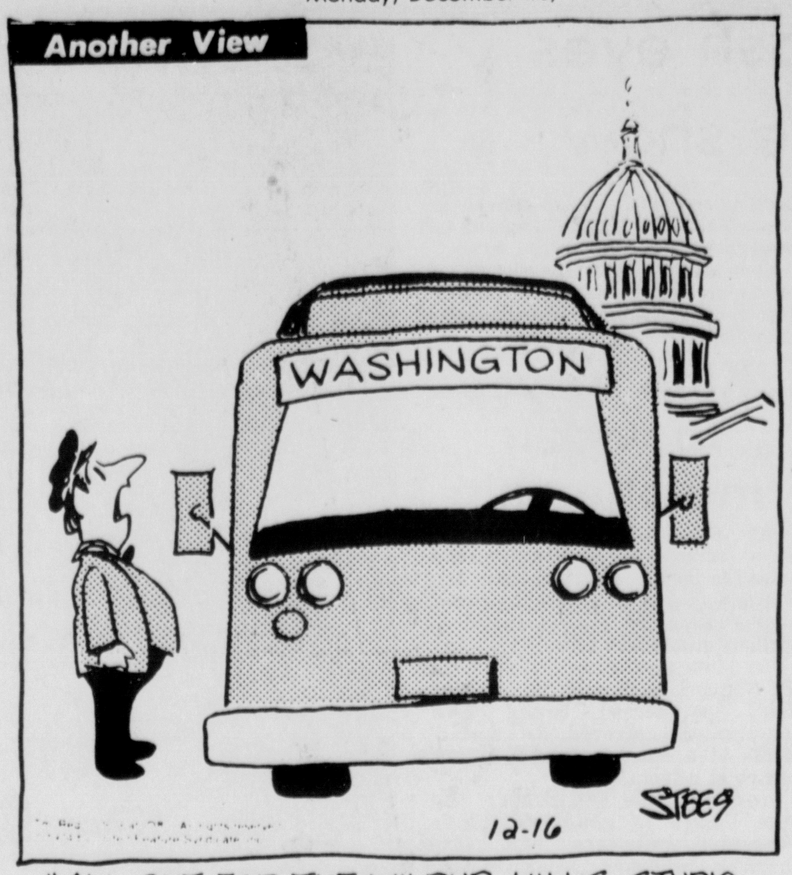

Lazarus quoted a letter from R-HH vice president A.N. Pritzker, Chicago, which said the estimated cost had risen from $2.2 million to $2.7 million in less than a year.

Even anticipating an average $37.50 daily room rent with 75 per cent capacity would not bring in enough cash to make mortgage payments and operating costs, the letter said.

For this and other circumstances not mentioned, Pritzker said his firm was backing out.

The Cincinnati Convention and Visitors Bureau earlier reported it was barely holding its own finding rooms for conventioneers and is badly in need of 650 new rooms to handle visitors.

Energy budget eyed for state

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Beginning next spring builders will have to consider a new type of budget for construction in Ohio — an energy budget.

The energy budget is a proposed addition to the Ohio Building Code, reports Ed O'Brien, chairman of the Governor's Task Force on energy conservation in building.

"The energy budget will restrict the amount of energy a building can use," said O'Brien. "The principal thrust is a schedule of types of building and amounts of energy, but the section also defines terms so engineers and architects will know how to conform."

From March 1, builders will have to fill out a form detailing energy requirements of proposed construction to obtain a building permit, O'Brien said.

Failure to meet the task force's tentative energy standards doesn't mean a permit will not be issued, O'Brien said.

"March 1 starts a data-collecting period," he said. "Builders will have to submit the form so we can accumulate data and set realistic standards."

The forms, filed with local building departments, will be forwarded to the Ohio Department of Building Standards in Columbus.

On June 1, 1976, another section will become law, and builders will be required to live up to the regulation's limits, O'Brien says.

Under the proposed schedule, an office building would be limited to 50 British Thermal Units (BTUs) of energy per hour per square foot of space. An arena would be entitled to twice as much energy. A hospital rates 70 BTUs per hour per foot and a nursing home 40.

The budget has won tentative approval of the Architects Society of Ohio, said O'Brien, a mechanical engineer with a Cleveland architectural firm.

The task force was created a year ago by Gov. John Gilligan to study how the Ohio Building Code could be modified to save energy. The tentative schedule of energy limits was reached after public hearings and meetings with architects and engineers, O'Brien says.

The task force considered regulating building methods and use of insulation, glass and other materials but decided against it because of the difficulty in writing the details and enforcing them, he said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

The office Christmas Party: does his wife go?

DEAR ABBY: My husband's boss is having a Christmas party for the employees. Husbands and wives are invited and unmarried employees may bring their own dates.

Last year I couldn't go because I was in the hospital having a baby. And the year before I missed the party because I had the flu.

My husband is trying to talk me out of going this year. He says if I go I'll have a lousy time because I won't know anybody there. He says he'd like to take a single girl who works in his department.

I really want to go. I even made myself a party dress to wear. I think it's time I met my husband's co-workers, besides, I don't think it looks right for a married man to take a single girl to the company party. What do you think?

MRS. STAY-AT-HOME

DEAR MRS. I think you should go to the party with your husband. Assure him that if anybody has a "lousy" time, it won't be you!

DEAR ABBY: Our son is a very successful professional man who is married, has a beautiful family, and lives 1,500 miles from us.

Yesterday I recieved a call from his secretary. She said "Your son would like you an your husband to be his houseguests from December 22nd through December 28th. Please call me collect and let me know if he and his wife can expect you."

I was hurt and shocked. In previous years my son (or his wife) invited us personally. I thanked the secretary and told her I would talk to my husband and let her know.

When I told my husband about the call he said, "I'll go if you want to, but I don't consider that much of an invitation."

Abby, I agree with my husband, but it's more than some parents get from their married children. Besides, we haven't seen our grandchildren since last Christmas and we are aching to see them.

Should we swallow our pride and go? Or should we be honest and let our son know that if he (or his wife) couldn't find the time to phone us personally we don't care to accept their hospitality?

Maybe I should mention that our son has always sent us money for first class plane tickets.

HURT BUT TEMPTED

DEAR HURT: Your son appears to be very insensitive, but whom would you be punishing if you stayed home? Yourselves. So, be a little selfish, and go!

DEAR ABBY: Do you see anything wrong with re-wrapping Christmas gifts that have been received in previous years and giving them to others for Christmas?

I have dusting powder, colognes, stationery, nightgowns, etc., and my husband has neckties, wallets, scarves, etc., none of which are useful to us. but all of which are good as new. So why should we go our and spend good money to buy gifts for others when we have so many nice gift items on our closet shelf?

Of course I would re-wrap them attractively. Is there anything morally wrong and dishonest about this?

CUTTING CORNERS

DEAR CUTTING: Certainly not, unless you are asked where the gift came from (which is highly unlikely), and you lie about it. (P.S. Remember, perfume and cologne do not last indefinitely. Only fine wine and violins improve with age.)

DEAR ABBY: Someone asked if plants had feelings, and you stated that they reacted to "sounds".

A man named Backster demonstrated by use of an electrocardiograph that plants do have feelings. He conducted an experiment in which a plant reacted violently when someone entered the room thinking menacing thoughts about the plant.

LARRY R.

DEAR LARRY: Fascinating! Please explain how a plant expresses a "violent" reaction.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Dec. 16, the 350th day of 1974. There are 15 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1773, American colonists disguised as Indians boarded a British ship in Boston harbor and dumped 342 chests of tea overboard. The tax protest went down in history as the Boston Tea Party.

On this date:

In 1770, the German composer, Ludwig von Beethoven, was born.

In 1809, Napoleon Bonaparte was divorced from Josephine by an act of the French parliament.

In 1835, a fire in New York City burned some 600 buildings.

In 1916, the monk who wielded powerful influence over the Russian Czar, Gregory Rasputin, was murdered.

In 1944, the World War II Battle of the Bulge was being fought in Belgium.

In 1960, two airliners crashed after colliding over New York Harbor, killing 131 persons.

Ten years ago: Senator Edward Kennedy walked out of a Boston hospital six months after his back was broken in an airplane crash.

Energy alternatives eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top administration officials are drafting major energy policy recommendations for President Ford after spending a weekend in isolation considering possible government measures to curb energy demand and boost domestic production.

The group met in a nine-hour brainstorming session Sunday and a 12-hour meeting Saturday at Camp David, Md. to go over alternatives. Several participants said they were asked by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton not to discuss the talks in detail.

The President's Cabinet-level Energy Resources Council, chaired by Morton, will review the findings of the Camp David meeting, possibly as early as today, and begin refining proposals into specific policies for recommendation to Ford.

One participant said the group took into account "a pragmatic appraisal of what is possible to get through Congress," apparently hinting at a pessimistic view on proposals for a high gasoline tax or any other type of costly energy taxation.

Remaining in contention would be such other tactics as tax incentives allowing industry and the public to save money by saving energy, additional voluntary programs and perhaps mandatory measures that require energy conservation.

No major policy options were definitely discarded during the weekend meetings, the source added.

"It was a very positive meeting," said one participant.

The meeting was called after the administration conceded that voluntary energy-saving measures have proved unsatisfactory.

Ford has said he will announce new energy policies early next year, probably in his State of the Union address to Congress.

Participants in the meeting included Morton, Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar; Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent; Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb, who also serves as the executive director of the Energy Resources Council; and Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

In other energy and economic developments:

—General Motors said the cost of raw materials in its automobiles is leveling off, possibly signalling an end to high inflation. GM Chairman Thomas Murphy said an indicator of material costs rose 42 per cent between August 1973 and August 1974, but has hardly increased at all in the past three months.

—Rep. Philip Burton, D-Calif., said there has been a lack of urgency on President Ford's part to combat the nation's economic problems. Appearing with Burton on ABC's "Issues and Answers," Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., said the blame for economic woes should be placed on slow action by Congress and, in general, on the oil embargo, the poor crop and general world conditions.

—Oil firms say they are sharply curtailing plans to build new refining facilities because of industry concern over economic conditions and government policies.

Cleveland news strike continues

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Cleveland newspaper strike entered its 46th day today with no progress in evidence and no contract talks in sight.

The Cleveland Newspaper Guild had sought to resume bargaining today at 10 a.m., but the Cleveland Newspaper Publishers Association rejected the suggestion over the weekend because of a vote scheduled for Saturday on the publishers' offer.

A federal mediator has left resumption of the talks to the guild and the publishers.

The guild rejected the publishers' offer a second time Saturday 116 to 94 by secret ballot.

The offer, first made Oct. 31, amounted to a wage increase of $62 a week over three years. It was rejected by voice vote Nov. 1 when editorial workers struck.

Present top minimum pay for newsmen is $300 weekly.

Plain Dealer management says its offer is patterned on a 30-month agreement approved by the newspaper's truck drivers.

Rural health issues top topic

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the nation's largest and most powerful lobbying organizations, the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, plans to move full force into rural health issues next year if its members approve the plan.

A spokesman for the NRECA said he did not expect that the plan, now being drawn up by a staff committee, will be a controversial issue at the organization's annual meeting Jan. 19-23 in New Oreans.

If the program is approved, the NRECA plans to exert major pressure on Congress for basic changes affecting health care for all Americans, with a special emphasis on improvements in rural areas, the spokesman said.

The organization represents nearly 1,000 rural electric power systems which serve nearly 6.3 million consumers in 46 states. It traditionally has supported major federal legislation aimed at a wide variety of social issues, including rural housing and other rural development programs.

Rural health has been a matter of congressional review periodically over the years, including a three-day hearing in October by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., who urged Congress "to work logically and rationally toward a solution to the deplorable health problems in the countryside."

Robert D. Partridge, executive vice president and NRECA's general manager, says the problem is twofold: high medical and health care costs have led to a drive in Congress for some form of national health plan; and medical practionners and facilities are concentrated in urban areas.

"Since it's generally understood that it's up to the patient to get to the local clinic for help, today many rural residents are faced with the fact that the nearest doctor is miles away and that house calls are largely out of the question," Partridge said in the current issue of "Rural Electrification" published by his organization.

Among the points made by NRECA officials are:

—Rural areas have fewer doctors, nurses, pharmacists and dentists per capita than do the metropolitan areas.

—Health problems are greater for the poor and the elderly than for other groups, and rural areas have proportionately more of both kinds.

—In 1972 there were 140 counties in the nation without doctors, an increase of 43 per cent since 1963.

"Plainly speaking, the lure of the city dollar and other advantages of an urban practice have left rural America shortchanged in health and medical care," Partridge said.

He said metropolitan areas have more than twice as many physicians per 100,000 population, 50 per cent more registered nurses and nearly 75 per cent more dentists. But Partridge said he was not suggesting that cities have a surplus of medical and health care.

"The point is that rural America is being left behind, with some areas unable even to get a doctor to locate there at all," Partridge said. "Something must be done to meet this basic human need and we aim to do whatever we can to correct the situation."

'The Grand Miracle' Jeff DAR Chapter topic

Mrs. Norman Wissinger was hostess to members of William Horney Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution of Jeffersonville for the December meeting.

Mrs. Louis Ulen, regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form assisted by chaplain Mrs. G. Max Morrow. Mrs. Ottis Thompson, flag chairman, led the Pledge of Allegiance and Mrs. Earl Glass led the singing of the National Anthem.

Mr. Robin Smith, guest speaker and pastor of the Pleasant View Church of Christ, used for his subject, "The Grand Miracle." In reverent recollections he spoke of the Christmas Story, and read from the Book of St. Matthew. He said that the angelic glory of that Holy night of long ago fills the hearts of Christians everywhere with new hope, and the minds with peace.

Mrs. Everad Broberg, secretary, read minutes of the November meeting. Twenty members answered roll call.

Mrs. Harold Zimmerman read the President General's Message. The state regent's message was read by Mrs. Wissinger. Miss Helen Fults, National Defense chairman, read from the National Defender NSDAR, December 1974, "The Capital Christmas Pageant" and "The Christmas Spirit" by Velta Allen.

Thank you notes were read by Mrs. Carroll Ritenour from Kate Duncan Smith, Tammassee and St. Mary's Schools for the boxes of clothing sent them. Seven boxes of miscellaneous items were sent to these schools and Christmas greetings were read.

A generous cash offering was collected for Kate Duncan School for Christmas cheer in memory of a deceased member. Mrs. C.S. Kelley, chairman of DAR service to veterans, gave an interesting report of the gifts, cookies and money sent to the VA Hospital for veterans where Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Ulen and Mrs. Zimmerman spent a day working on various Christmas projects.

Delegates elected to Continental Congress were the regent, by virtue of her office, and Mrs. Norman Wissinger. Alternates are Mrs. Harold Zimmerman, Mrs. Richard Craig, Mrs. Marvin Stockwell and Mrs. G. Max Morrow. Tellers were Mrs. Dale Kirk and Mrs. Earl Hite.

The American's Creed was read. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Carroll Ritenour, Mrs. George Ehrle, Mrs. Earl Glass, Mrs. Charles Franenknecht, Mrs. Byron Harter, Miss Helen Fults, Mrs. Franklin Wharton, Mrs. A.E. Kemp and Mrs. C.L. Culberson.

Mrs. Robert D. Little will be hostess for the January meeting.

A dessert course suggestive of the holiday season was served during the social hour.

Cecilian Double Trio entertains

Yuletide cheer abounded when members of the Elmwood Ladies Aid Society met Thursday noon at the Terrace Lounge for a most enjoyable Christmas party.

Guests joining in the festivities with the 21 members were Mrs. Henry A. Simmons, Mrs. Roger Pope and son Brian, Mrs. Milbourne Flee, Mrs. Maurice Hopkins, Mrs. Gerald Wheat, Mrs. Edwin Thompson, Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Donald Schwaigert and Miss Verna Williams.

Holiday appointments were effectively carried out in the table decorations with colorful potted poinsettias and attractively designed doorknob favors marking each cover. Christmas floral arrangements formed striking centerpieces.

Mrs. Ruth Smith gave the invocation before the serving of the delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Carl Meriweather, program leader, introduced the members of the Cecilian Double Trio and their pianist, who entertained with an entertaining musicale of Christmas songs. Featured soloists were Mrs. Edwin Thompson and Mrs. Lloyd Fennig. At intervals during the rendition of the beautiful selections, Mrs. Gerald Wheat narrated the Christmas story. Later favorite carols were sung by the entire group. In conclusion the Double Trio offered the hymn "Silent Night" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas".

Mrs. Walter Parrett, retiring president, conducted a short business meeting when communications were read and reports given. Recorded were 86 calls and 10 cards. Mrs. Parrett announced that two families were remembered with holiday baskets and Mrs. James Carr reported that 16 Thanksgiving cheer plates were delivered to shut-ins. Mrs. Hazel Miller was feted with the group saluting her with "Happy Birthday".

Gifts for perfect attendance were presented by Mrs. Parrett to Mrs. Mary Stackhouse, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Edith Scott, Mrs. Margaret Runnels, Mrs. Hazel Miller, Mrs. Emily Lanum, Mrs. James Carr and Mrs. Clarence Hackett.

Beautiful and impressive in its solemnity was the candlelight service with Mrs. Ruth Smith in charge of installing the new officers for 1975. Afterwards the new year books were distributed. Mrs. Addie Barger, the new president, announced as the year's project the giving of special cash contributions for every holiday in 1975.

Heaped around the lighted Christmas tree were many gaily wrapped gifts which Santa's helpers distributed among the members.

Success for this holiday party goes to the efforts of the committee composed of Mrs. Parrett, Mrs. Barger, Mrs. Dorothy Bell and Mrs. Meriweather.

Since the organizaton decided to dispense with meetings during the three ensuing months, the next meeting is not scheduled until April.

"HO-HO-HO" — The familiar jingle is being heard as Santa Claus (Mark Thellmann) arrives at the Mahan Building for the annual holiday dinner and party given for employes at The Record-Herald by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rodenfels which was held Saturday evening.

R-H employes feted

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rodenfels were gracious hosts Saturday evening when they entertained the employes of The Record-Herald at the annual Christmas dinner-party, held in the Mahan Building. A smorgasbord featuring turkey and beef was enjoyed.

A beautifully decorated and lighted Christmas tree was in the alcove of the entrance, with holiday decorations on the wall. Candles in red and white, encircled with holly and poinsettias centered the tables which were covered with white cloths.

Santa, in the person of Mark Thellmann, arrived during the evening with 'gag' gifts for everyone, and with special gifts for Mr. Rodenfels, presented by the group. George Malek and Mike Flynn were masters of ceremonies. Music for dancing was provided, and guests lingered long.

Present for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Rodenfels, Mr. and Mrs. Rob Rodenfels of Hillsboro, Mr. and Mrs. Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Malek. Mark Thellmann and Miss Debbie Sweet, Miss Sandy Fosson and Mike Childers, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Arthur, William Metais and Miss Karen Gerker, Miss Barbara Hyer, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Flowers, Mr. and Mrs. James Poole, Mr. and Mrs. George Pierce, Eddie West, Robert Speakman, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sword, Mr. and Mrs. Budd Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Huffman, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Fries.

Work with deaf AAUW topic

The December meeting of the American Association of University Women was held in the home of Mrs. Everad Broberg, with Mrs. Willard Rutledge and Mrs. Donald Ginn assisting.

After delicious seasonal refreshments were served to members, the Rev. Mr. Broberg spoke on "Entrance Into the World of Silence." He stated that it was a very trying experience for him, because he had previously been able to listen and converse with people. In addition, he pointed out that he learned much from the deaf themselves. There are degrees of deafness, he said, and it can start from various parts of the ear. The term "speech reading" is the proper one instead of "lip reading," for facial expressions, hands, fingers, etc. are also used to help the deaf person understand what is being said. Finger spelling is used for proper names, and the sign language for other words and phrases. Rev. Broberg showed an example of Braille printing that he uses, and how the machine works.

During the business meeting, it was decided to contribute to the AFS funds of Miami Trace and Washington Senior High Schools. The president, Mrs. Walter Parsley, spoke of the luncheon meeting which she and Mrs. Robert Lee attended in November as guests of the Columbus Branch AAUW. Mrs. Maxine Thorson, National Association chairman of Fellowships, spoke about the many women who are aided each year financially in securing more education. Besides teaching, other fields of study are law, medicine, architecture, engineering, nursing, business education etc.

The members present had brought various handmade Christmas items to show and to tell how they were made.

The January meeting will feature a foreign dish potluck dinner in the home of Mrs. Glenn Merritt.

The legendary "passion flower," an intricate flower that never blooms longer than a day, is now available at florists due to a new process that lengthens the life of the bloom. The process, developed by a New Hartford, New York, firm, permits the passion flowers to be used as a fresh flower in bouquets, corsages and floral arrangements. The passion flower, brought to the Americas by early Spanish settlers, has been known since early Christian times.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stephanie Edwards, who occasionally appeared in the "Girl With Something Extra" series, is a girl with something extra.

But she'd rather not discuss it. It's the trombone she used to play.

The fact is mentioned in a handout for ABC's new "AM America" morning show she'll be cohosting next year. And she is weary, in a good-natured way, of being kidded about the sliphorn.

"Charles, get rid of the trombone," she begged the press attache accompanying your observer. Your observer, a fine flugelhornist, had the brass to ask about her horn. He quickly dropped the matter.

Miss Edwards, a tall, friendly young Minnesotan, comes to Fun City by way of Los Angeles, where for 3½ years she's cohosted a morning talk show with KABC-TV personality Ralph Story.

She says she got into show biz the traditional way — college drama study, a march on Hollywood and door-pounding for acting jobs between such civilian work as secretary to a minister and instructor in a modeling school.

She credits Story, who'll be the "AM America" Western correspondent, with greatly helping her career. She said she saw him on the tube one day and simply wrote him for advice on how to get started in show biz.

"He called me in for an interview and hired me as a researcher," she said. "I later became his secretary and after a year of that, he had the opportunity to start the KABC show and said, 'I know you'd rather be on camera than behind it' and gave me a try."

Miss Edwards, who strikes one as a very common-sense, straightforward person, says she's found this town, "not as bad as I expected, considering it's a place I never said I'd go....

"But the thing I found the toughest to deal with is how much money it takes to live here. I am really frightened that I didn't ask for enough money."

Perchance her lawyer can take that up with ABC if the show clicks?

"If I can afford the attorney," she laughed.

The Public Broadcasting Service, which on Dec. 5 aired "Primate," a controversial documentary by Frederick Wiseman, says it's sending a 30-minute discussion program about the show today to public TV stations for broadcast at will. Wiseman appears in the second program.

The Yerkes Primate Research Center, where "Primate" was filmed, has a representative in today's show, but not the center's director, Dr. Geoffrey Bourne. He was so outraged by "Primate" he refuses to appear on any followup program in which Wiseman also appears.

Ford's son eyes rodeo lessons

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Rodeo Cowboys Association has offered free tuition in a rodeo school to President Ford's son John.

The offer came Sunday afternoon at the final performance of the National Finals Rodeo here.

Ford, 22, a senior majoring in forestry at Utah State University, flew here "specifically to see the rodeo," association spokesman Randy Wittee said.

Young Ford, wearing a new pair of cowboy boots and a new white hat, said he planned to accept the free rodeo lessons offered by Finals Commission Board Chairman Bob Ragsdale.

Annual report given

Sanders re-elected pilots president

At the annual meeting of the Fayette County Pilot's Association Inc., officers were elected for 1975 and various accomplishments during 1974 by the local organization were acknowledged.

Jack Sanders was re-elected president, Curtis Hiser re-elected vice president, Robert Wilson was re-elected treasurer and Ruth Pfaff was elected secretary for 1975.

Sanders listed various actions taken by the pilot's association in his annual report:

— payment of nine months of maintenance on the nondirectional radio beacon to Boylan and Cannon Electronics, Inc., for 1975;

— installation of rotating light beacon and road signs on Ohio 38 for the Fayette County Children's Home and Fayette County Airport;

— incorporation of the club as a non-profit organization through the legal advice of Otis Hess, with the objectives of improving the Fayette County Airport and promoting the concept that general aviation benefits everyone; — establishment of club by-laws and purchase of new lighting system (runway lights, taxi lights with mik-a-light) which will enable controlling of intensity to reduce electrical power;

— establishment of monthly meeting dates;

— designing of official club stationery and book of minutes;

— sealing of runway and removal of snow from the landing strip and taxiways by the county engineer's office;

— holding of the annual fly-in with profits going toward general airport improvement fund; and

— sponsoring children from the country children's home as guests for the club's flagpole dedication, picnic and tour of Wright-Patterson Air Force Museum.

Sanders reported the airport's new lighting system would result in a considerable savings in bulb replacement. The old bulbs were purchased at $2.39 each with a life expectancy of 700 hours; new bulbs are 49 cents a piece with an expectancy of 8,000 hours.

During the business session, Tic Bryant, John Woodmansee and Frank Patton were recognized and commended for their voluntary hours in installing the new runway lights, the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and County engineer were praised for their cooperation to the club during 1974 and Maurice Hopkins, program committee chairman, presented a film on the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Middle East war possible

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Israeli prime minister Golda Meir says that war may break out in the Middle East again this winter, but "that depends entirely on our neighbors."

Appearing Sunday on CBS' "Issues and Answers," Mrs. Meir said she did not think that Israel would make a pre-emptive strike but that she had learned from experience "that we should be ready for war at any moment."

Mrs. Meir has been in the United States for 12 days helping raise money for the United Jewish Appeal.

Board OKs radio equipment purchase

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners agreed Monday to purchase emergency communication equipment for newly-appointed disaster services director Raldon M. Smith.

Smith had requested approval of the radio equipment, to be installed in his vehicle and owned by the county at a cost not to exceed $300, in order to communicate directly with the Fayette County sheriff, city police and fire departments in times of emergencies.

The commissioners also approved Smith's request to attend any state or area meetings conducted on emergency disaster services and authorized him to make a study of locations for a local headquarters for the disaster services office and report his results to the commissioners.

The public action plan meeting on the proposed improvement of U.S. 35 though Fayette County is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Mahan Building at the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

AN OPEN house will be held in the Mahan building from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. Tuesday and again on Wednesday from 2 p.m. until the 7:30 p.m. meeting time. During the afternoon sessions, officials from the Ohio Department of Transportation will be present to explain displays, charts and the overall purpose of the U.S. 35 bypass construction.

J. Herbert Perrill, commissioner chairman, emphasized the public is invited to voice their opinions on the systems, location and design of the project at the public hearing Wednesday.

In other action Monday, the commissioners met with William L. Pool to discuss additional public liability coverage insurance for county officials as a result of a federal court proceeding. Perrill said the outcome of the court decision may result in county officials being liable "money-wise or jail-wise" if certain provisions such as balanced diet and adequate exercise area are not maintained for county prisoners.

The commissioners agreed to close the Fayette County Courthouse doors at 12 noon Dec. 24 and remain closed until 9 a.m. Dec. 30 in order to save fuel and extend the Christmas holiday for Courthouse employes.

Jet planes to sniff upper-air pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do jet planes pollute the upper atmosphere?

To find out, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is equipping four commercial Boeing 747 airliners with sensors to measure pollution along the world's major air lanes.

The five-year program began this week when a United Airlines jumbo jet carried the detectors for the first time. It will take readings during normal commercial flights over the continental United States and between the West Coast and Hawaii.

Within months, jets of three other airlines will operate the sensors: Pan American over its global air corridors; Qantas of Australia in the Southern Hemisphere, and Scandanavian Airline System over the North Polar route.

The $5 million project is called GASP, for Global Air Sampling Program. The goal is to determine how jet emissions and other pollution sources affect the atmosphere at altitudes above 20,000 feet.

GASP project manager Porter J. Perkins said results may show whether the level of the ozone, which shields the earth from harmful ultraviolet solar radiation, is changing over time; whether jet vapor trails contribute to cloud cover, and how much of the dust in the atmosphere comes from aircraft.

When the planes climb to an altitude of 20,000 feet, the air sampling equipment turns on automatically and does not interfere with regular aircraft operations. A tube protuding six inches beneath the first class cabin takes in air for analysis by the instruments. Particles are counted and some are collected on an air filter which is changed at the time the plane is serviced.

Highland hospital troubles continue

HILLSBORO — Highland District Hospital, which has been plagued with a series of problems, faced still another following the filing of a complaint in Highland County Common Pleas Court.

The action is directed against two respiratory therapists on the hospital staff. Temporary and permanent injunctions to prevent them from continuing to render their services for the hospital are sought.

Respiratory Therapy, Inc., of Columbus, asked the injunctions against Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Ramon Elizondo, of Hillsboro. The complaint says that Elizondo became an employe of the firm Nov. 29, 1971, with his wife joining the company March 22, 1973. They were assigned to Highland District Hospital by the firm, which had a contract for services.

ACCORDING TO the petition, their contracts included provisions for non-competition within a 100-mile radius of Columbus for 12 months subsequent to the termination of their employment. The plaintiff says this means that they would not have been allowed to work as respiratory therapists for any other firm for a year within those geographic boundaries.

Both defendants ended their employment with the firm in August, 1974. The plaintiff says both have since been employed by the hospital in violation of their contracts.

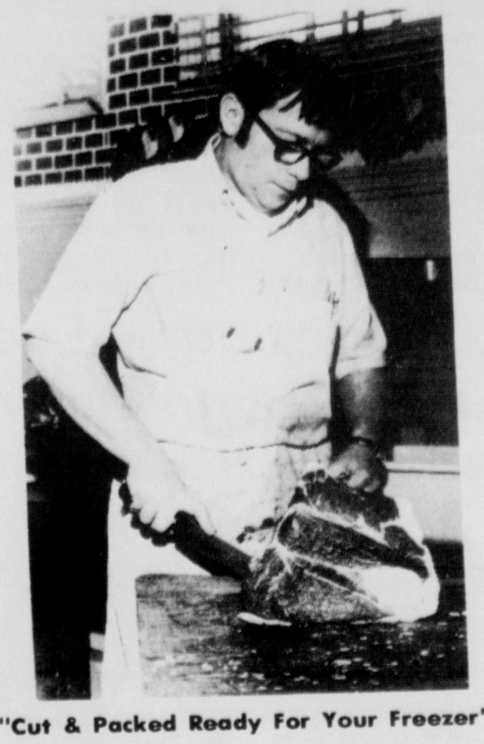

The complaint goes on to charge that Mr. and Mrs. Elizondo conspired with the hospital to replace the plaintiff firm upon termination of its contract. Respiratory Therapy's contract expired Dec. 1, 1974, the complaint states.

The hospital's board of governors, at the recommendation of its medical staff, had discussed starting its own therapy department, which would entail purchase of some initial supplies and equipment costing about $16,000.

Jerry Gillman, hospital administrator, reported to the board that the Elizondos were qualified to head the department. The board gave preliminary approval to the plan at its November meeting.

Jurors seated to ponder Wilmington slaying case

WILMINGTON — A jury was seated shortly before noon Monday in the murder trial of a former Wimington police officer.

A panel of six men and six women will hear the evidence against Dale A. Powell, 26, of Wilmington, who is charged with the April slaying of a Wilmington novelty import shop owner, Randall Goldie, 22, of Martinsville. The jury is expected to visit the scene of the alleged murder Monday afternoon.

Powell, a member of the Wilmington Police Department at the time of the slaying, was arrested two days after Goldie was found dead in his car in the parking lot of Scottie's Restaurant on Wayne Road. He had been shot several times at close range with a shotgun.

There has been widespread speculation that the shooting incident was related to Goldie's alleged involvement in drug trafficking, but those close to the investigation have refused to discuss possible motives.

Powell appeared in Clinton County Common Pleas Court in May and entered a plea of not guilty to the murder charge. Judge Howard D. Barnes set bond at $50,000 which the defendant posted a short time later.

Two other officers were suspended from the force shortly after Powell's arrest. Police Chief Thomas E. White said that although the men were not connected with the slaying in any way, they apparently had information concerning Powell's possible involvement for some time before turning it over to investigators.

One officer was dismissed, the other was reinstated following a civil service commission hearing.

Agronomy agent applauded

Alfred Baxter, agronomy agent on the Washington C.H. Cooperative Extension staff who started a career in agricultural education in 1949, was honored for these 25 years of continued educational work with farmers and youth in 17 southwest Ohio counties by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Agents Association at the annual meeting in Columbus.

During Baxter's first five years on the extension service staff of the college of agriculture and home economics at Ohio State University, he was a 4-H agent serving in Mercer County. In these years he started a 4-H club council and stimulated the formation of a Junior Fair program.

In October, 1954, Baxter moved to Clinton County and he became county extension agent, agriculture. Some of the educational projects conducted as agriculture agent was a soil testing program which grew from 350 tests in a year to 2,500 tests per year in eight years.

Baxter conducted a public affairs program as extension agent which resulted in the formation of several organizations which continue to serve people of the area today.

A corn demonstration program was started with farmers which pointed out the merits of recommended cultural practices.

Since January, 1965, Baxter has served farmers and agri-businessmen in a 16-county area as an agronomy agent on the Washington C.H. Area Cooperative Extension Service Center staff. In this role, Baxter has spent his professional time on crops and soils topics and projects. Some of his time is spent in doing agronomy research. Farm crop demonstrations are used by Baxter to acquaint farmers with methods and techniques of crop production.

Lebanon workers eye new walkout

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)— Eighteen striking city employes threatened to resume picketing this southwestern city of 8,000 today if their bid to unionize the municipal utility force was not approved.

The action would defy a court order and follow a weekend of tension triggered by a fire at a police captain's home and attempts to disrupt the city's power supply.

A Warren County Common Pleas judge Friday ordered all employes back to work today— or quit or face a $20 a day fine.

Benny Dwer, a spokesman for the 18 holdouts who have been striking since Nov. 19, said picket lines would be set up again if city leaders did not place their resolution before City Council.

A 45-minute power failure darkened the city Friday night. The home of Police Capt. Nick Toller was the target of an arson attempt, officials said.

Police and firemen are not involved in the union move. The strikers are employed in the water and power plants.

The city released a statement Sunday confirming other acts of violence such as random gunfire and other attempts aimed at the power supply.

Police were assigned to key city utility plants and the homes of city leaders.

City Manager Charles Guard said City Council "reaffirmed the support of the administration in their position on the strike."

He offered to meet with Benjamin Goodman, a Hamilton attorney representing the striking workers, to discuss "critical issues."

Judge P. Daniel Fedders granted the city a preliminary injunction Friday against continued striking and picketing.

The workers had defied his Nov. 21 temporary injunction and his amended Dec. 10 restraining order prohibiting picketing on city property.

He found all 18 men in contempt of court Friday. The city, however, has refrained from taking action against the picketers.

The striking workers want council to approve or disapprove their attempt to join the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW).

Miami Trace blows 21 point lead

Panthers escape Hillsboro surge

FIGHTING FOR LOOSE BALL — Miami Trace sophomore Dan Gifford hits the deck as he attempts to pry the ball away from an unidentified Hillsboro player. The Panthers' Randy Rhonemus watches in case the ball comes loose from the two players. (Ed Summers Photo)

HILLSBORO — Miami Trace barely escaped a scalping at the hands of Hillsboro, Saturday night. Blowing a 21 point third quarter lead, the Panthers held on to squeeze out a 51-49 South Central Ohio League victory.

The victory may prove to be costly to the Dale Creamer coached Panthers as Allan Conner, Miami Trace's leading scorer, left the game in the first period with a severe ankle injury. He had tallied seven points and garnered seven rebounds before he was injured.

Behind some sterling defensive play, the Panthers jumped out to an early five point lead and continued to build it to a 43-22 margin with just over a minute left in the third quarter. Hillsboro finally began to come alive as sophomore Tim Fuller pumped in eight of his 16 points in the final minute of the third period to cut the margin to 43-30.

Prior to Fuller's outburst, the Indians had only managed five points since midway through the second quarter against the scrappy defense of the Panthers.

Fuller and forward Mike Sharkey, who netted 20 points, continued the Hillsboro barrage in the fourth period. The comeback was also aided by five Miami Trace turnovers in the first three minutes of the frame. Roger Jewett's basket closed the gap to two points, 43-41, with six minutes remaining in the game.

Freshman Art Schlichter came through with a crucial basket on a driving layup with 4:48 remaining on the clock to increase the Panther lead to 45-41. He also added both ends of a one and one free throw situation two minutes later to give Miami Trace a six point margin.

Bob Ream's Indians refused to die, however, and pumped in three quick baskets, after a free throw by Dan Gifford, to cut the Panther lead to a single point, 48-47, with 30 seconds on the clock.

Mark Spears added the first of two free throws after he was intentionally fouled, but the Indians took possession on a jump ball following his missed second shot. Hillsboro managed several shots before Panther Phil Skinner finally came out with the ball and was fouled with seven seconds left in the contest.

Skinner missed the charity toss and the Indians immediately called time out after grabbing the rebound. The Indians apparently set up a play during the timeout but it was spoiled when center Randy Rhonemus snatched the long inbounds pass.

Rhonemus was fouled as he attempted to pass off and calmly stepped to the line to drop in both free throws to clinch the Panther victory. The Panthers allowed Sharkey a final uncontested layup as the buzzer sounded.

Rhonemus had led the Panther defense throughout the game, blocking five shots and knocking down several Indian passes under the basket. He also grabbed 10 rebounds and added eight points to the Panther cause.

Gifford led the Panther scoring attack with 15 points, most coming as Miami Trace built up its early lead, and hauled in seven rebounds.

As a team the Panthers hit a healthy 52 per cent on 21 of 40 shots, while Hillsboro could manage only 21 of 74 for a cool 27 per cent.

Miami Trace committed 16 turnovers, most of them coming in the second half, and the Indians totaled 14 miscues. Both teams committed 17 personal fouls.

The Panthers also held a 40-18 advantage in the rebounding department.

For Hillsboro, it marked the second consecutive game without the services of Kevin Bailey. Bailey, who led the SCOL with nearly a 20 point scoring average last year, was out of the game because of an injured ankle.

With the victory, the Panthers are now 3-2 for the season and move into a second place tie with Greenfield in the SCOL. Both Miami Trace and Greenfield are 2-1 in league play. Hillsboro is now 3-2 on the year and 2-2 in the league.

Wrestlers finish in third place

Miami Trace's wrestling team turned in an outstanding performance as it placed third among nine entries in the Franklin Heights Holiday Tournament, Saturday.

Miami Trace had seven grapplers placing in the top four spots to capture 72½ points. The host team won the tournament with 98 points and Walnut Ridge was second with 82. Finishing in a tie for fourth were Columbus South and Columbus West with 69½ points. River Valley had 48 points and Bloom Carroll came up with 41 points. Utica was last in the event with 35½.

Individual honors were led by first place finishes by junior Kurt Klontz in the 138 pound weight class and senior Don Dunton in the 175 pound class.

Klontz won his class by taking a 3-1 overtime decision in the first round, a pin in one minute of the second period of the second round and winning a 7-5 decision in the finals.

Dunton won all three of his matches by pins. He came up with a pin in 1:33 of the first period of the first round, 40 seconds of the first period of the second round and 1:37 of the second period of the finale round. Dunton lost the most semifinals and won a 7-3 decision in the finals.

"Klontz and Dunton really did outstanding jobs," remarked first year coach Glenn Jacobson. "Klontz was behind going into the third period of his final match and had to take down his opponent and hold him for 20 seconds. Dunton knew what he had to do and just went about his business."

Sophomore Kirk Stookey took the Panthers' only second place in the tournament. Competing in the 145 pound class, Stookey recorded a pin in 1:01 of the second period in the first round, a pin in 43 seconds of the third period in the second round and lost a 9-5 decision in the third round.

Finishing third were junior Jay Crummy in the 167 pound class and senior Mark Moore in the 185 pound class. Crummy notched a pin in 43 seconds of the first period of the first round, lost a 10-2 decision in the second round, won on a pin in 36 seconds of the first period in the consolation semifinals and won a 4-2 decision in the finals. Moore had a pin in 41 seconds of the first period in the first round, lost a 9-2 decision in the second round, won on a pin in 3:40 of the third period in the semifinals and won a 7-3 decision in the finals.

Fourth place winners junior Tom Eddlemon in the 119 pound class and freshman Scott Martin the 132 pound class. Eddlemon won on a pin in 1:58 of the third period in the first round, lost a 4-2 decision in the second round, won on a pin in 22 seconds of the second period in the semifinals and lost a 4-2 decision in the finals. Martin had a pin in 1:59 of the first period in the opening round, lost a 2-0 decision in the second round, had a pin in 1:12 of the second period in the semifinals and lost 2-0 decision in the finals.

"We were real tickled with our performance," Jacobson noted. "It was very exciting wrestling and the team spirit was real high. This type of performance was necessary to help get us ready for the tournament at Circleville this coming Saturday."

Tanks blast Paint Valley

Mick Shoemaker pumped in 40 points, including all 22 of his team's first half points, but it was not enough as Unioto blasted the Bearcats 99-54, Saturday evening.

Led by Greg Alcorn's 26 points and 16 rebounds, the Shermans had four players in double figures. Jeff Throckmorton came through with 18 points, while Steve Frey added 17. Reserve center Scott Brumfield contributed 14 points to the attack.

With the victory, the Tanks take over sole possession of first place in the Ross County League with a 2-0 record. The Shermans are 2-3 on the season.

MT reserves win second

With a nine point outburst in the final two minutes of play, Miami Trace reserves were sparked to a 36-27 victory over the Hillsboro Jayvees, Saturday night.

Joe Black and Terry Rodgers, with 12 and 10 points respectively, led the junior Panthers in the nip-and-tuck battle.

With the score tied at 27 apiece, Rodgers dumped in a bucket to give the Panthers a two point lead. Quickly following were two quick steals, one by Black and another by Bruce Ervin, both of which resulted in Panther scores.

The Miami Trace defense then held the Indians scoreless for the remaining minute of play to wrap up their second victory of the season.

Defense played a big part in the victory as the quick-handed Panthers stole the ball 13 times. They also outrebounded Hillsboro by a 27-18 margin.

Parseghian resigns Irish post

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — After 11 seasons at the helm of America's most traditional college football power, Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian has decided he needs a rest.

In a short statement released to newsmen Sunday, Parseghian said he would leave coaching for at least one year to rest and evaluate the future course of his career.

The announcement, probably not due until after Parseghian directs the ninth-ranked Irish in the Orange Bowl game against No. 2 Alabama on New Year's Eve, apparently was made to stop speculation that Parseghian would take another college job or move to the professional ranks.

"I'm not resigning at this time to take any other coaching position either on the college level or in the professional ranks," Parseghian's statement said. "I just felt that I should get away from coaching for at least one year.

"I just need time to rejuvenate myself physically and emotionally."

This has been a stress-filled year for the 51-year-old Parseghian. Three close friends have died. One of his two daughters is afflicted with multiple sclerosis. The other daughter was married this fall.

His team, which appeared headed to an easy defense of its national title, was rocked by dismissal of six players from the university in a disciplinary action that Parseghian protested vehemently, and other key players were injured before the season even began.

"The pressure has taken the toll on the man," said a longtime associate. "It's time for him to slow down. I'm surprised he's been able to keep up the pace this long."

Close friends say they have seen Parseghian's decision coming for some time. One said the decision was made after the Navy game this year.

"After 25 years as a head coach, I find myself physically and emotionally drained," Parseghian said. "This is certainly not an impulsive decision.

"I've been mulling this over in my head for some time now, and I finally decided at midseason that my health and the welfare of my family was more important than anything else."

Parseghian scheduled a news conference at 11 a.m. Tuesday to discuss his decision. He would not come to the telephone to talk with newsmen who called his unlisted home number.

Parseghian will remain at the university for the next year, helping with the athletic program, said The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, vice president in control of athletics.

Before coming to Notre Dame in 1964, Parseghian was head coach eight seasons at Northwestern and five at Miami of Ohio, where he began his coaching career in 1951.

The Associated Press learned that four of Parseghian's assistants have his endorsement to the faculty board to succeed him.

Brown denies conservatism

CINCINNATI (AP)—Did Paul Brown, coach of the Cincinnati Bengals, violate one of pro football's unwritten rules in Saturday's 27-3 National Football League loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers?

The 66-year-old veteran defended his conservative game plan, saying survival was the key concern for the injury-riddled Bengals.

But his critics contend Brown shunned the code that calls for a pull-all-stops effort even if victory is meaningless.

"We fought it out the best we could," said Brown, after criticism for passing only eight times in the nationally-televised season finale.

Pittsburgh, the AFC Central Division champion, had already wrapped up the title and was headed for the playoffs.

The decision to stick to the ground left Brown open for second-guessing.

"It was a good thing we weren't playing at home or we'd been booed out of the stadium," said Bengals defensive back Lyle Blackwood.

Other members of the club were divided on the strategy.

"I don't think Paul was pulling any punches," said offensive lineman Stan Walters. "He goes out to win every game.

"We did what we thought we could do best," he said.

Royce Berry, the demoted defensive captain who has been in Brown's doghouse, pinned the conservative attack on the loss of passing-minded quarter Ken Anderson, who was injured.

Catfish Hunter expects to become free agent

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League's top pitcher, Jim "Catfish" Hunter, was expected to become a free agent today in an historic arbitration ruling.

The formal announcement was scheduled to be made in New York today, but unnamed sources revealed the arbitrator's decision Sunday.

Hunter's attorney during the arbitration hearing, told The Associated Press Sunday that neither he nor Hunter knew of the decision, although both have felt all along that they would win.

"I've heard so many rumors in the past 48 hours," said Jerry Kapstein from his home in Springfield, Va., "but I don't know."

Arbitrator Peter Seitz refused to confirm the reports, but said the decision could be expected today. It was learned his signed decision had been forwarded to the Major League Baseball Players Association as well as to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office.

Earlier Sunday, a Westerly, R.I., radio station, WERI, said that Kapstein told them that Hunter probably would sign with either the New York Yankees or Boston Red Sox.

Hunter, the 1974 AL Cy Young winner who pitched the Oakland A's to three consecutive World Series championships, sought to become a free agent because the A's failed to live up to the terms of his existing contract.

As a free agent, the righthanded pitcher is free to offer his services to any of the 24 major league clubs, including the A's, and may well command the largest bonus and salary contract in baseball history.

The 28-year-old pitcher signed a two-year $200,000 contract with the A's last season. He was to get $50,000 a year in salary and $50,000 a year was to be paid to some deferment plan of Hunter's choosing.

Bucks' quickness beats Bobcats

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "This is our quickest Ohio State team in several years," said Fred Taylor.

Dale Bandy, Ohio University's rookie coach, agreed after the Buckeyes pinned a 96-87 nonconference loss on the Bobcats Saturday night.

"We are not a quick club and that hurt us. Both of Ohio State's guards (Larry Bolden and Mark Bayless) are very quick," said Bandy.

"Our quickness got us some cheap baskets," admitted Taylor after watching Ohio State move to a 3-1 record. Ohio dipped to a 1-3 mark.

The easy goals helped the Buckeyes hit a blistering 55 per cent from the floor.

"We put enough points on the board to win," Bandy said. "We just have to get better on defense."

Forward Andy Stiegemeier and Bolden each scored 20 points as all Ohio State regulars reached double figures. Bill Andreas and Bayless accounted for 17 and Craig Taylor 14.

Ohio's scoring thrust came from Scott Love with 27 points and Walter Luckett with 25. No other Bobcat had more than 12.

In other major Ohio college action, Bowling Green ran its record to 5-0, keeping Ball State winless 100-69 behind substitute Larry Wingate's 20 points.

Michigan held Dayton to its lowest total in three seasons, dealing the Flyers a 61-50 setback. Dayton's Johnny Davis, averaging nearly 25 points, managed just eight.

It was a lost weekend for Cincinnati in Tennessee's Volunteer Classic. Navy, behind Mickey Hampton's 25 points, handed the Bearcats their second loss in as many nights 76-67.

Xavier, 4-1, beat Thomas More 76-69 with Mike Plunkett's 24 points and 15 rebounds the main weapons for the Musketeers.

Youngstown posted its biggest victory margin in history, walloping New Hampshire 121-46. The previous record was a 72-point spread against Lakeland College 11 seasons ago.

The Hoosier-Buckeye Conference was the only Ohio league active Saturday night and Defiance won while Bluffton and Findlay bowed to Indiana foes.

Defiance, with Bob Martin's 20 points leading the way, staved off Manchester 77-70. It was Defiance's fourth straight conference victory.

Art Larson's two free throws with 18 seconds left gave Anderson a 54-52 decision over Bluffton. Hanover posted its 34th straight home victory, topping Findlay 88-65.

Cards win title with comeback

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It took less than 30 minutes for the St. Louis Cardinals to wake up—and not the 30 minutes in which they'd gotten shoved around.

"Nobody said much at halftime," said Terry Metcalf, revealing the silence in the Cards' dressing room, when they trailed the New York Giants 14-0. "Without saying anything, we all knew we had to do a better job. We'd given up too much and weren't about to give up more."

What St. Louis—mainly Metcalf and Jim Hart—gave in the second half was a typically brilliant comeback performance that resulted in a 26-14 victory.

And that gave the Cardinals their first National Football League divisional title in 26 years, and St. Louis' first ever. When the Cards won the NFL's Western Division title in 1948, they called Chicago their home.

Washington's Redskins, who had charged into a tie with the Cards atop the National Conference East, clobbered Chicago 42-0 and finished tied with St. Louis, each with 10-4 records.

But the Cards got the title by virtue of their two regular-season victories over Washington. The Redskins had to settle for the NFC's wild-card playoff berth.

In Sunday's other games, it was Miami 34, New England 27; Los Angeles 19, Buffalo 14; Houston 28, Cleveland 24; the New York Jets 45, Baltimore 38; San Francisco 35, New Orleans 21; San Diego 17, Denver 0; Philadelphia 28, Detroit 17, and Atlanta 10, Green Bay 3.

On Saturday it was Pittsburgh 27, Cincinnati 3; Minnesota 35, Kansas City 15, and Oakland 27, Dallas 23.

Roger Wehrli's 32-yard punt return to the New York 41-yard line actually woke up the Cards, who had lost two straight games and four of the last six to turn a divisional runaway into a dogfight. But it was Hart and Metcalf who kept their eyes open—and widened the eyes of St. Louis' wildly cheering fans.

Hart started out by firing an 18-yard pass to Mel Gray. A few plays later, St. Louis had its first touchdown in seven periods on Hart's four-yard pass to Ken Willard.

Jim Tolbert's interception of a Craig Morton pass set up another one just 57 seconds later. Tolbert returned the ball to the New York 28 and, on the next play, Hart hit tight end Jackie Smith for a touchdown.

And just minutes later, the Cards got another interception—and another touchdown on Metcalf's one-yard run.

Metcalf polished off the Giants early in the fourth quarter on another touchdown run, this one covering 16 yards.

St. Louis will visit the Minnesota Vikings, champions of the NFC Central Division, next Saturday in a first-round playoff game. On Sunday, the Redskins will face the NFC West's winners, the Rams, in Los Angeles.

In the AFC next Saturday, the Dolphins, first in the East, are in Oakland to play the Raiders, the best of the West. On Sunday, Pittsburgh, the AFC Central Division champ, hosts Buffalo, the conference's wild-card team.

Redskins 42, Bears 0

Veteran Sonny Jurgensen, who started in place of No. 1 quarterback Billy Kolmer, connected on 14 of 22 passes for 205 first-half yards, hitting Charley Taylor for an 11-yard touchdown pass and setting up touchdown runs of one and four yards by Larry Brown to give Washington a 21-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, quarterback Joe Theismann took over and threw a 13-yard third-quarter touchdown pass to Taylor. Duane Thomas and Charley Evans ran for the final Washington touchdowns in the last period.

Dolphins 34, Patriots 27

New England's Mack Herron set an NFL record for most single-season total yards in the Patriots' loss to Miami. Herron gained 185 yards on rushes, receptions and kick returns to finish with 2,444 for the year, four more than Gale Sayers got with the 1966 Chicago Bears.

But the Pats couldn't handle the aerial tandem of veteran quarterback Earl Morrall and rookie wide receiver Melvin Baker, who teamed on touchdown passes covering 37 and 46 yards. Don Nottingham also bulled in for two Miami scores as the Dolphins wiped out New England's early 24-0 lead.

Rams 19, Bills 14

Bob Schriber and Ron Jaworski each scored his first regular-season touchdown, Schriber on a 14-yard pass from James Harris, who also scored on a one-yard run, in Los Angeles' victory over Buffalo.

Oilers 28, Browns 24

Dan Pastorini threw two touchdown passes and Fred Willis and Willie Rodgers ran for decisive second-half scores that enabled Houston to finish at 7-7, its first non-losing season since 1969.

Jets 45, Colts 38

"I don't know whether or not this is my last game," Joe Namath said after completing 19 of 28 passes for 281 yards and two touchdowns in New York's victory over Baltimore.

49ers 35, Saints 21

Gene Washington caught a 17-yard touchdown pass from rookie Tom Owen on the first play of the fourth quarter and, just 23 seconds later, defensive tackle Bill Belk recovered a fumble by New Orleans quarterback Larry Cipa and scored another touchdown, putting San Francisco ahead 28-7.

Chargers 17, Broncos 0

Otis Armstrong of Denver, with a 142-yard day, won the NFL rushing title with 1,407 yards. But San Diego rookie Don Woods surpasses John Brockington's first-year rushing mark of 1,105 yards by gaining 105 to finish with 1,162. And he got San Diego's first touchdown on a six-yard run in the first quarter.

Eagles 28, Lions 17

"We considered this Michael's strongest test, and he did a fine job of throwing and play selecting against a Detroit defense that constantly changed," Coach Mike McCormack said of rookie Mike Boryla, who replaced veteran quarterback Gabriel three weeks ago after the Eagles had lost six straight.

Falcons 10, Packers 3

Dave Hampton's five-yard run in the opening period for Atlanta accounted for the game's only touchdown.

Basketball teams sought for league

An independent basketball league is being formed in Greenfield. Any teams interested in playing in the league should contact Charles Harris at 335-2804 by Sunday. Entry fee to the league is $140 and all games will be played at the Greenfield Armory.

Vancouver Blazers edge Crusaders, 2-1

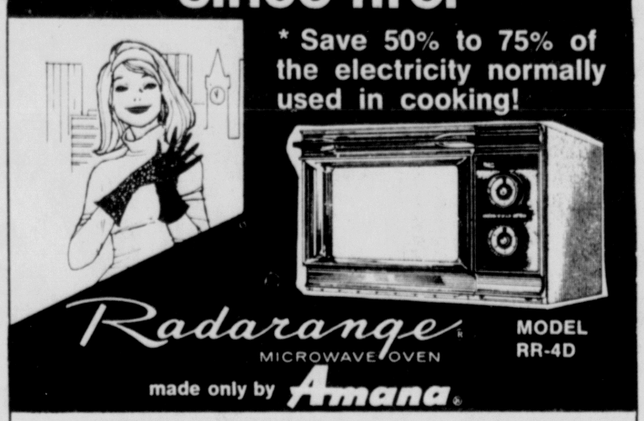

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The Cleveland Crusaders saw their losing string extended to four games as they were edged by the Vancouver Blazers 2-1 Sunday night.

The Blazers began the scoring with a fluke goal by Bryan Campbell in the first period. Campbell's pass-out from behind the net hit Cleveland defenseman Wayne Mauloyn on the leg and bounced into the net.

From High School To The Majors!
A native of Baltimore, Al Kaline joined the Tigers at age 18, right out of high school—entering the major leagues without ever playing in the minors. Through his 22 seasons, he's played in the All-Star game 16 times and has won 10 Gold Gloves for fielding excellence. This year he spent full time at the plate as Detroit's "designated hitter."

"Newspaper Carriers, You Lead the League!"

. . . says the great Detroit Tigers star Al Kaline. And Al knows something about league-leading—he's tops among active American League players in number of games and number of hits, and second in six other hitting categories.

As he entered this season Al was closing in on the 3,000-hit mark, which has been attained by only 11 players in baseball history—nine of them already in the Hall of Fame. But between his at-bats, he takes time to pay tribute to America's newspaper carriers on the occasion of Newspaper Carrier Day 1974.

"It takes steadiness to be a good ball player," Al says. "You've got to be in there all the time, working hard, giving it all you've got. And that's exactly what your newspaper carrier gives you—steady performance every day. That's why these young folks are tops in my league!"

Carriers are tops in the U. S. Savings Bonds thrift league, too. Through the years they've supported the program, and thousands of them buy Bonds regularly out of their earnings. Many of them do it through Newspaper Carriers Thrift Clubs, setting dollars aside each month for college expenses or other important needs. They believe in their country's future and their own. That's what buying Bonds is all about.

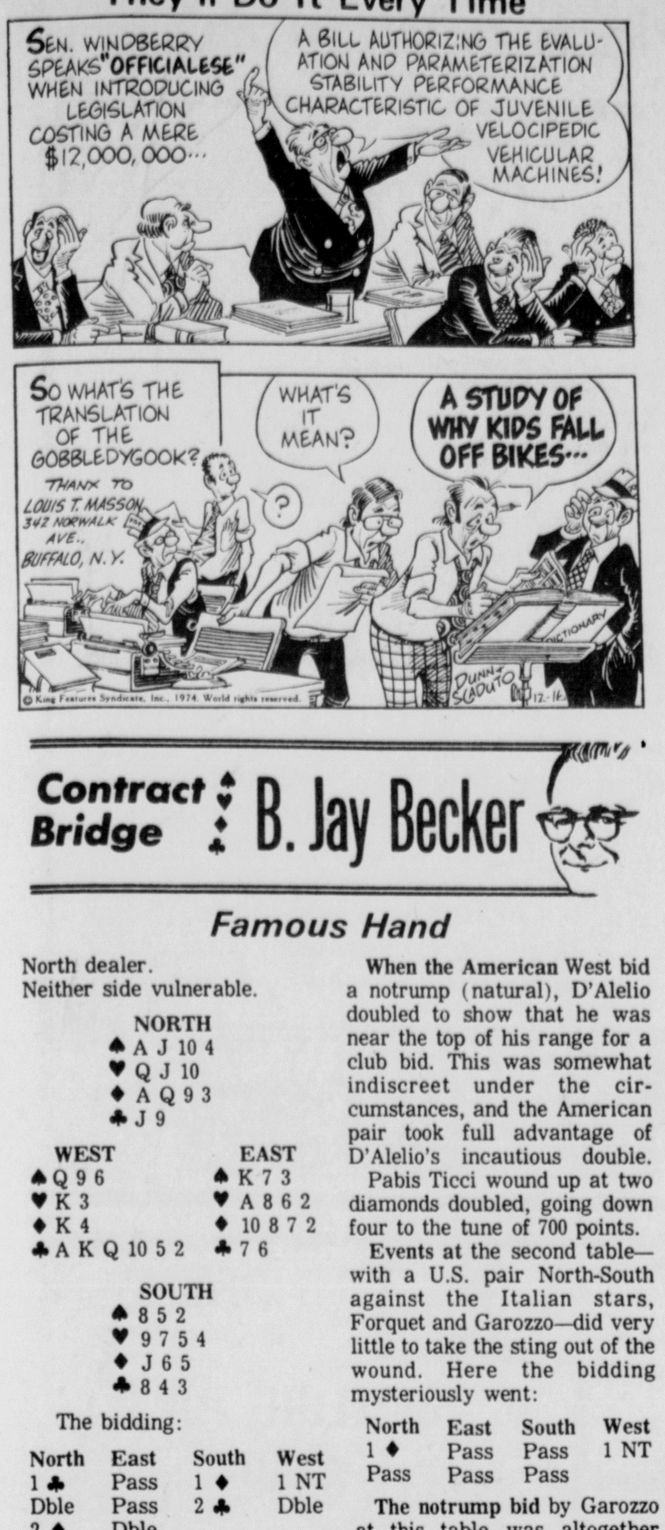

Won't you join Al Kaline and the Treasury Department in a big "thank you" to your own and all of our country's newspaper carriers? It's their day in the sun—Newspaper Carrier Day 1974!

Take stock in America.

See truck strike again

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A leader of last winter's truckers strike says a repeat may loom at the end of January if the nation's indepenent truckers don't get some significant concessions from Washington.

William J. Hill, national chairman of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, said Sunday another national truckers strike could start as soon as Jan. 31 unless truckers get federally-sponsored long-term loans to refinance their rigs and higher weight limits.

He said truckers also will need approval for freight surcharges if the Ford Administration imposes fuel taxes or if fuel prices increase.

Without help from Washington, Hill said independent owner-operators will meet Jan. 17 to plan a second widespread shutdown.

The president of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, Hill is also a leader of the National Independent Truckers Unity Committee, said NITUC members would meet Jan. 17 "in the final pre-shutdown meeting."

Hill said federal Department of Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar has agreed to back the truckers' request for the long-term loans.

Princess ends Burton romance

LONDON (AP) — Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia has broken off an eight-week romance with actor Richard Burton and has returned to her husband in London, the Daily Mail reported Monday.

The London newspaper said the 38-year-old princess had rejoined her banker husband Neil Balfour, their son Nicholas and her two daughters by a previous marriage.

"Yes, I am back. There is nothing more to say," she was quoted as saying. The Daily Mail said friends said Princess Elizabeth told them that Burton's drinking was one of the reasons for the breakup. "I didn't realize it takes more than a woman to make a man sober," she was quoted as saying.

Dearl Alexander, Plaintiff, vs. Ida Inskeep, et al., Defendants.

NO. Ci-74-269
LEGAL NOTICE

TO: Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Orgin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, the unknown heirs of George and Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Origin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, all of whose addresses are unknown and cannot, with reasonable diligence, be ascertained.

You will take notice that Dearl Alexander commenced his civil action in the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County, Ohio, in the above styled case to quiet title to the following described tract of real estate.

Situate in the City of Washington, County of Fayette and State of Ohio. Beginning at an iron pin in the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street (66 feet wide) at the most easterly corner of the tract of land conveyed to Henry Brownell, Jr. (Deed Book 92, Page 464), said point bears N. 47 deg. 38' E. as measured along the line of Rawlings Street a distance of 496.72 feet from the northeasterly line of Delaware Street (50 feet wide); thence N. 42 deg. 22' W. along the northeasterly line of said Brownell's tract a distance of 165.00 feet to an iron pin in the southeasterly line of a proposed 16.5 foot wide alley; thence N. 47 deg. 38' E. along the line of said alley a distance of 81.68 feet to an iron pin at the most westerly corner of the tract of land conveyed to E. & H. Simerl (Deed Book 92, Page 390); thence S. 42 deg. 39' W. along the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street a distance of 82.50 feet to the place of beginning, containing 0.311 acre.

The sum and substance of his complaint is that Dearl Alexander is seized in fee simple absolute title of the above described premises and that he claims such title by adverse possession, as he has openly and notoriously claimed title to said real estate by adverse possession for a period of more than twenty-one years.

The plaintiff, Dearl Alexander, further has alleged in his complaint that you, as defendants, have some claim or interest in the aforesaid real estate. You are hereby required to answer said complaint and set up your claim or forever be barred to what interest you may have in said real estate, on or before the 15th day of February, 1975.

Opening lead—king of clubs.

The Italian Blue Team, which has dominated the world of bridge for many years, seldom have hands where both their pairs stray disastrously from the beaten path.

But the fact is that occasionally they do, and here is a hand from the 1965 world championship between Italy and the U.S. to prove it.

At the first table, D'Alelio opened one club for Italy and Pabis Ticci responded one diamond. Both bids were artificial. One club showed 12 to 16 points and one diamond showed 0 to 9 points.

When the American West bid a notrump (natural), D'Alelio doubled to show that he was near the top of his range for a club bid. This was somewhat indiscreet under the circumstances, and the American pair took full advantage of D'Alelio's incautious double.

Pabis Ticci wound up at two diamonds doubled, going down four to the tune of 700 points.

Events at the second table—with a U.S. pair North-South against the Italian stars, Forquet and Garozzo—did very little to take the sting out of the wound. Here the bidding mysteriously went:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	Pass	1 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

The notrump bid by Garozzo at this table was altogether different from the notrump bid at the previous table.

At the first table, West's notrump bid had designated the values normally associated with an opening notrump bid. It showed 16 to 18 points and balanced distribution.

But at the second table, West's notrump bid in the protective seat could have been made with considerably less values—perhaps 5 or 6 points less—than West actually had. East understandably passed and Garozzo made four notrump, scoring only 180 points instead of the 430 points he could have earned by bidding and making a game.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Psychosomatic Medicine

The psychosomatic concept of medicine was almost discarded at the turn of the century. Opponents of the idea felt that this new discipline had no validity.

Since then, the horizons of psychosomatic medicine have expanded. Now it is recognized as vital in the understanding of almost all physical problems that man is heir to.

There is NO physical disorder that does not have some psychological overtone.

The psyche (mind) and the soma (body) are a single, unified, functioning element. There cannot be any separation between these two if disease is to be thoroughly understood.

Physicians now acknowledge that a patient's social and emotional makeup are as important in the diagnosis and the cure of disease as are the many new tests performed with computerized equipment.

There is a distinct difference between two terms: "psychogenic" and "psychosomatic." A psychogenic disease is one that originates in the mind Emotional stress, for example, can be responsible for physical disorders such as ulcerative colitis or bronchial asthma.

"Psychosomatic" refers to the emotional overtones associated with physical illnesses. For example, anyone who has recovered from a heart attack has a normal right to fears and anxieties which will color his pattern of living.

Doctors do not use the term "psychogenic" or "psychosomatic" as finger-pointing accusations that a patient's complaints are not real. It is possible to feel actual pain when the the origin of the pain lies in the emotions.

Families of patients who have psychological symptoms must be just as understanding and supportive as if the disorder were purely physical in origin. The person who thinks he feels pain actually does feel pain. The need to alleviate it is as important as if there were evidence of a fracture or a tumor of the lung.

In this world of confusion and conflict it is understandable that the level of anxiety about health is high. When that level interferes with a person's happiness or capacity to function he must seek the specialized guidance of doctors or psychologists highly trained in the art of emotional disease.

It is never a shame or a stigma to seek such counseling. When an emotional origin of disease is suspected, the mature approach is to confront the emotional problem, see it in its totality, and solve it with psychological help.

Police check 6 weekend mishaps

Washington C.H. police investigated six accidents over the weekend, one of which involved the injury of a three-year-old Hillsboro girl.

SATURDAY, 10:02 a.m. — An accident on W. Court Street, near the Hinde Street intersection, involved cars driven by Barbara Carmean, 24, Hillsboro and Gloria J. Rourke, 19, of 766 Knollwood Court.

A passenger in the Carmean auto, Cindy Carmean, 3, Hillsboro, showed visible signs of injury and was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment of contusions of the right shoulder.

Ms. Rourke was cited for failure to yield right of way.

5:20 p.m. — A truck driven by Lee A. Jackson, 36, Arcanum, hit a parked car owned by LuAnn Coressi, 834 Kohler Dr., with a trailer his truck was towing in McDonald's restaurant parking lot on S. Elm Street.

9:51 p.m. — A car driven by Gareth C. Evans, 17, of 509 Hickory Lane, backed into a parked car belonging to Robert J. Fultz, 20, Greenfield, at Frisch's parking lot on Clinton Avenue.

SUNDAY, 2:19 p.m. — A car driven by Ralph R. Hickman, 63, of 525 S. Main St., traveled off Main Street at the Circle Avenue intersection and collided with a street sign pole and a mailbox.

Hickman was cited for reckless operation and driving while intoxicated.

2:48 p.m. — A car driven by Daniel L. Wood, 51, Miami Trace Road, backed into a car belonging to Andrew G. Merritt, 16, of 810 Merritt Way, at the Hidy Foods parking lot on Columbus Avenue.

7:05 p.m. — An auto driven by Lucky E. Webb, 24, Tampa, Fla., collided with an oncoming vehicle driven by Deborah D. Robbins, 19, of 417 Rose Ave., as Webb pulled from his parking spot in front of 734 E. Market St.

He was cited for starting without safety and driving while under license suspension.

Damage to the two cars was moderate.

Burglary incident tops police log

A breaking and entering incident, a bomb threat, a personal injury and an incident involving the discharging of a firearm within the city limits were reported by Washington police today.

The Pizza Hut on S. Elm Street was burglarized sometime between 3:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. Saturday, police reported.

Police department investigation revealed someone had crawled into the restaurant through a vent and stolen the Muscular Dystrophy donation card containing $10 to $15.

Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken, 501 S. Elm St., received a bomb threat from an unidentified male caller at 8:40 a.m. Sunday, police reported.

The man stated, "You'd better get out of there! There is a bomb in there and it's going to go off at 12 o'clock."

An investigation is continuing.

Audrey Hoagland, 31, of 401 Peddicord Ave., was kicked in the mouth at the Rocking Chair Inn, 428 Wilson St., the evening of Dec. 6, according to police reports. Police received the report from Fayette Memorial Hospital, where Ms. Hoagland was treated for a fractured jaw, at 4:36 p.m. Saturday. She had declined to press charges.

The storm window and the sash window at the Lawrence Darif residence at 328 Ely St., were broken when hit by a .22 caliber slug at 1:46 p.m. Saturday, police reported. Investigation showed the damage was caused by the bullet ricocheting and damage was estimated at $35.

Littering charge filed by police

An 18-year-old Leesburg man has been arrested by Washington C.H. police and charged with littering.

Mark E. Smith was arrested by Patrolman Larry Mongold at 11:30 p.m. Sunday, because of his alleged connection with a trash dumping incident on property owned by Homer Smith, Rt. 5, located at the end of Flint Drive.

Ptl. Mongold said his investigation led him to a Gregg Street woman's address and when the woman was contacted, she explained she had paid Smith $8 to haul her trash away.

Smith is in city jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

British ambassador urges cooperation

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Global inflation, mounting recession and an oil crisis have combined to make it impossible for national leaders to isolate problems and set clear courses of action to deal with them, the British ambassador to the U.S. said Sunday.

Only one thing is clear, Sir Peter Ramsbotham told a graduating class at the University of Akron: "No nation can go it alone these days.

"The welfare of the western world now depends on stable relations among the member nations and with the nations of the rest of the world," the ambassador said.

Ramsbotham also said he would welcome appointment of former U.S. Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson as U.S. ambassador to Great Britain. That nomination was predicted last week by three daily newspapers.

On economics, Ramsbotham said any modern economy needs 13 basic raw materials, and he noted the U.S. used to produce more than it imported of nine.

"By 1970, the list had diminished to seven, and by 1985, it will have shrunk to about four," he said.

Ramsbotham said what he called the "new economic order" created by the vast and growing wealth of the oil exporting nations added to difficulties besetting the economies of the rest of the world.

"Until recently it was accepted as axiomatic that for the industrial West, there was security of access to supplies of raw materials at reasonable prices throughout the world. That assumption was shattered a year ago with the Arab oil embargo," the Englishman said.

Richardson, who resigned rather than follow former President Nixon's order to fire the first Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox, is well respected in England, Ramsbotham said.

The ambassador said Richardson was certain to strengthen ties between the two nations.

Rocky confirmation set late this week

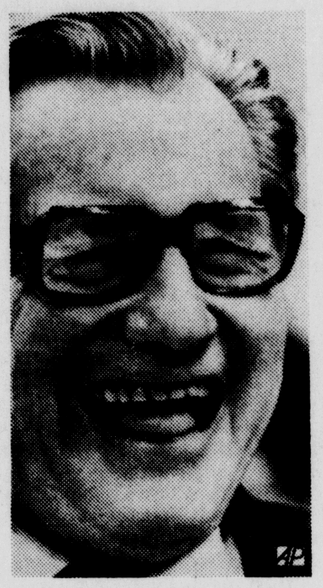

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will have a new vice president by the end of the week, if Congress keeps its schedule in the last days before adjourning and confirms Nelson A. Rockefeller as expected.

In addition to confirming Rockefeller as vice president, Congress is expected to take final action on legislation this week to increase unemployment benefits, curb strip mining and expand foreign trade before adjourning for the year.

The Rockefeller nomination, already approved overwhelmingly in the Senate, faces a House vote Thursday or Friday after being recommended 26-12 by the House Judiciary Committee.

Rockefeller's swearing-in ceremony is expected to follow quickly after the House vote. The United States has been without a vice president since Aug. 9.

House-Senate conference committees also are scheduled to iron out differences among several bills designed to increase unemployment compensation and create more public-service jobs. The unemployment rate in November rose to 6.5 per cent from 6 per cent in October, and more than 6 million persons are out of work.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER

A final Senate vote today would send to the White House a compromise bill aimed at preventing environmental damage due to strip mining of coal.

President Ford has promised he would veto the bill on the ground it would result in decreased coal production at a time when the nation is looking for alternatives to expensive foreign oil.

Ford also has expressed deep reservations about the inflationary impact of another compromise bill that requires 30 per cent of imported oil to be carried on U.S. tankers.

The bill, strongly supported by maritime unions and shipping interests, is up for final Senate action today.

Ford has said the bill would fuel inflation and raise gasoline prices. But Senate aides say there is doubt Ford will veto the bill because it was made clear to him that if he wanted a far-reaching trade bill he would have to accept the shipping measure.

The trade bill empowers the president to negotiate mutual tariff reductions and includes a provision aimed at ensuring free emigration of Russian Jews. The measure is in a House-Senate conference committee to work out differences between versions approved by the two chambers.

AMA journal urges tobacco subsidy end

WASHINGTON (AP) — An article in the Journal of the American Medical Association today accused Congress of subsidizing "increased death and disability" by paying subsidies to tobacco growers, and an accompanying editorial urged an end to such payments.

A spokesman for the AMA said it was the journal's first call for congressional action against smoking after its decades-long campaign of educating physicians and patients about the hazards of smoking.

"Congress is using our tax money, in many ways, to subsidize increased death and disability among our citizens, as well as those of the rest of the world," wrote Dr. Weldon J. Walker of White Memorial Medical Center's cardiopulomonary unit in Los Angeles and a member of the JAMA editorial board.

JAMA editor Robert H. Moser said in an editorial: "Walker's stern challenge to the legislators should be heeded."

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare calls cigarette smoking the leading cause for the 600,000 deaths a year from coronary heart disease, 72,000 deaths from lung cancer and 25,000 deaths from chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

The Tobacco Institute Inc., a trade organization representing cigarette manufacturers, said federal tobacco subsidies actually hold down production by setting acreage quotas.

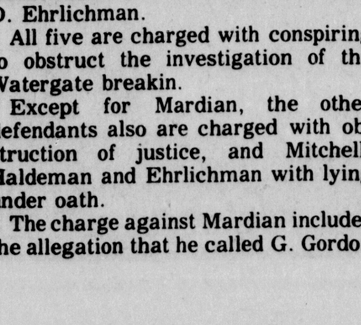

William Kloepfer Jr., the institute's senior vice president, also said federal and state excise taxes on tobacco products will yield $5.5 billion in revenues this year.

In addition, he said, tobacco held by the government will yield a 50 to 100 per cent profit when sold, "a pretty fantastic business deal."

Walker said the death rate from heart disease, although still the nation's No. 1 killer, has been dropping steadily since the first U.S. surgeon general's report on smoking and health in 1964.

After a 19 per cent increase on an age-adjusted basis between 1950 and 1963, the death rate from coronary heart disease fell 10.5 per cent and "coincided precisely" with the surgeon general's report, he said.

However, the death rate from lung cancer has increased 54 per cent every 10 years, he said. Walker said the adverse effects on human lungs linger on after a person stops smoking.

Ford and Giscard end summit meet

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique (AP) — The presidents of the United States and France called jointly today for a conference of oil consuming and oil producing nations "at the earliest possible time."

The call was a compromise to break a French-American deadlock on how best to cope with increased oil prices. Presidents Ford and Valery Giscard d'Estaing agreed in summit talks on a series of "interrelated steps" leading to the proposed conference.

A communique issued as they ended two days of talks on this Caribbean island said these steps "should be taken in sequence:"

—Consuming nations, working "within the framework of existing institutions," should develop programs for energy conservation, for developing existing and alternative sources of energy and for financial solidarity.

—Consumer nations should hold a meeting next March "to develop an agenda and procedures for a consumer-producer conference."

—The preparatory discussions among consumer countries "will be followed by intensive consultations" to prepare a unified position for the meeting with the exporting countries.

The two presidents talked in a friendly, relaxed atmosphere in the balmy Caribbean climate and went swimming together during a luncheon trip Sunday to a 200-year-old plantation hotel. They seemed to have ironed out their differences over how to cope with the crisis arising from soaring oil prices.

Spokesmen for both described the meetings as "amicable and friendly."

Aides said the subjects discussed included the international monetary situation, Middle East problems, the European security conference and Indochina as well as the oil dilemma.

One more session was scheduled this morning before Ford's departure for Washington.

Giscard d'Estaing gave a state dinner Saturday night for his American visitor, and Ford responded with an "All-American" poolside barbecue Sunday night. A White House chef grilled New York strip steaks for the 44 guests. Sarah Vaughan flew from the United States to sing and received a kiss from President Ford for her performance.

Watergate coverup trial expected to run past Yule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate cover-up trial is entering its final week of testimony with the jury verdicts for five former Nixon administration and campaign aides not expected until after Christmas.

Former Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian is testifying in his own defense and the prosecutors are expected to cross examine him today.

Only one more defendant, Kenneth W. Parkinson, former lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee, is still waiting to present his case.

Mardian and Parkinson often seemed like spectators in the crowded courtroom during the first 11 weeks of the trial when attention centered on their three co-defendants: former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-Nixon White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

All five are charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate breakin.

Except for Mardian, the other defendants also are charged with obstruction of justice, and Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman with lying under oath.

The charge against Mardian includes the allegation that he called G. Gordon Liddy from California on June 17, 1972, the day of the break-in, and told him to try to reach then Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and ask him to get one or more of the Watergate burglars out of jail.

On the stand Friday, Mardian denied that and other allegations.

Mardian also testified that his impression was that Richard M. Nixon, not Mitchell, made many major campaign committee decisions. He said he based that on his knowledge that Mitchell occasionally was overruled and that Nixon was the only person he knew who had that authority.

Parkinson is expected to start presenting his case on Tuesday. Later in the week, defense and prosecution lawyers will argue before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica on what sort of instructions he should give the jury before it begins deliberations.

At least three days are expected to be required for closing arguments by the lawyers.

That schedule could take it up to Christmas Eve and current speculation is that in that case Sirica would delay sending the case to the jury until just after the holiday.

Open house sessions start Tuesday

Public hearing set Wednesday on proposed U.S. 35 project

A public action plan meeting designed to discuss a proposed improvement of U.S. 35 from the western end of the Frankfort bypass in Ross County through Fayette County is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Bernard B. Hurst Jr., deputy director of the Ohio Department of Transportation, said to inform area residents on the purpose and scope of the project, the Fayette County Action Plan group will hold an open house at the Mahan Building on Tuesday from 2 until 8 p.m. and again on Wednesday from 2 until the 7:30 p.m. meeting time.

J. HERBERT PERRILL, chairman of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners, will serve as chairman for the Fayette County Action Plan group. The group consisted of Fayette County commissioners, township trustees, the Fayette County engineer, members of the Fayette County Regional Planning Commission, Washington C.H. City Manager Dan Wolford and representatives of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

During the open house, personnel from the Ohio Department of Transportation will be present to explain displays and discuss the overall purpose of the Wednesday night meeting. The proposed design features of the U.S. 35 improvement from near Ohio 138 in Ross County, through Fayette County, to the Fayette-Greene county line, will be the subject of discussion at the public meeting.

The public is invited to voice opinions on the design features of the project such as interchanges, number of lanes and grade separation.

Two sections of the U.S. 35 improvement are presently under construction in Ross County, including the Frankfort bypass and the Pleasant Valley segment, near Chillicothe. The Washington C.H. bypass of U.S. 35 was officially dedicated during a formal ribbon-cutting ceremony March 26.

Picketing continues to curb full coalfield production

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Almost two weeks after a month-long United Mine Workers strike officially ended, the Appalachian coalfields were expecting only partial production today.

UMW locals in central and southwestern Pennsylvania and in West Virginia agreed Sunday to honor picket lines manned by striking UMW construction workers.

Although both miners and construction workers belong to the UMW, the two groups work under separate contracts.

The miners won a 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits over a three-year contract, but the construction workers want additional unemployment benefits and travel pay because they are subject to more frequent layoffs and often have to move around from one mine construction site to another.

Contract negotiations between the UMW and the Association of Bituminous Contractors continued in Washington Sunday but there was no indication that a tentative agreement was near.

A tentative contract was approved by negotiators last week, but the UMW's 38-member bargaining council sent it back for further study. The council must approve a contract before it can be submitted for a rank and file vote by the 4,400 construction workers.

Picketing last week idled about a fifth of the UMW's 120,000 miners. About 8,000 were off the job in Pennsylvania while West Virginia estimates were around 7,500. Almost 4,000 were idle in Virginia, as were most of Indiana's 2,500.

The figures are expected to be greater this week as a result of the locals' official sanction of picketing activity.

Demos delay Lavelle ouster

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three recommendations emerged Sunday night from a meeting of John Glenn Democrats, faced with trying to find a consensus candidate for state party chairman.

Glenn, a million-vote winner for U.S. Senate in Ohio's Nov. 5 election, talked with newsmen after a 3½-hour meeting in his Columbus home with elected state officials and their representatives, along with a delegation of county Democratic chairmen.

He said they were unable to reach a consensus on a replacement for the present chairman, William A. Lavelle, and decided to ask him to remain in the post until after Jan. 13 when John J. Gilligan turns over the governor's office to GOP Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes.

Lavelle said previously he would resigned next Friday at a planned meeting of the state Democratic Executive Committee. Glenn said he is urging that the Friday meeting be postponed.

If Lavelle, Gilligan's hand picked chairman, steps down anyway, the group recommended that the job be taken on an interim basis by Hamilton County Chairman John A. Wiethe, Glenn said before flying to Washington.

Thirdly, Glenn said the gathering rejected Lavelle's statement that his resignation would be contingent upon his remaining a member of the Democratic National Committee.

It was learned that three prospects for state chairman were discussed at length by Glenn, State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahey, Lt. Gov.-elect Richard F. Celeste, representatives of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown and Auditor Elect Thomas E. Ferguson and others attending the meeting. Earl Cunningham of Summit County and E. W. Nastrangelo of Lake County were among representatives of the Ohio Democratic County Chairmen's Association present.

The three names discussed "at length," Glenn said, were Montgomery County Chairman Paul Tipps — whose connections with Gilligan appear his main liability in the Glenn camp — Franklin County Chairman Nelson Lancione, and Robert Blakemore of Akron, former Summit County chairman.

Lancione did not attend the session because of "other commitments," he said, adding that "the county chairmen were well enough represented."

Glenn's big victory in the Senate race, coupled with Gilligan's defeat at the hands of Rhodes, put the former astronaut into the party's leadership position, for all practical purposes.

His rift with the defeated governor dates back to late last year when Glenn rejected Gilligan's request to run on the state ticket for lieutenant governor.

Glenn said he now hopes a unified party can be built around Democratic holds on four of the six statewide offices and the handsome new Democratic majorities in both houses of the legislature.

Holdout on coffee likely to be flop

By The Associated Press

Major Latin American coffee states are planning to withhold coffee beans from the market to bolster sagging prices, but New York commodity experts doubt they will succeed.

Informed sources in Caracas, Venezuela, said Brazil, Colombia, Mexico and other major coffee growers will join smaller Central American countries in holding back 30 per cent of their coffee crop.

Venezuela's President Carlos Andres Perez told the Central Americans at a summit conference in Caracas Saturday that his government would use its oil money to back them. Informed sources said Venezuela would put up $80 million.

But commodity dealers in New York said the coffee countries' attempt to emulate the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries would probably have little impact on consumer prices because there is a surplus of coffee beans and consumption in the United States is declining.

On the oil front, Saudi Arabia's oil minister says that contrary to rumors, his government has no plans to sell its investments in Britain.

"If we start withdrawing it means we lose what we have," Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani told a television interviewer in London. "Besides, it would hurt the political stability in a country like Great Britain."

The Saudis have told American oil companies that they will accept only U.S. dollars in payment for their oil, and this set off rumors last week that sent the pound sterling to an alltime low on foreign exchange markets.

Yamani asserted that Saudi Arabia is fighting against higher oil prices. But he said his government would have to "listen carefully" to those who advocate cutting oil production to maintain reserves unless Western countries supply the technology and "full cooperation" Saudi Arabia needs to make the best use of its oil revenues.

In another interview, Kuwait's Finance Director Chalid Abu Saud told the West German magazine Der Spiegel that global inflation was making it impossible for the Arabs to discuss a cut in oil prices seriously.

In Guyana, Prime Minister Forbes Burnham said the Reynolds Metal Co.'s bauxite mines would be nationalized Jan. 1. He said talks will be held on compensation.

Reynolds, the third largest North American aluminum company, gets only about 1 per cent of its bauxite — the raw material of aluminum — from Guyana. The company has been disputing $8.5 million in taxes Burnham demanded earlier in the year.

Sadat cautious on Mideast outlook

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, describing the Mideast situation as a bomb about to explode, says he is having contacts with President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to decide whether to continue the U.S. approach to negotiations.

"If the Americans through their step-by-step approach can achieve any progress or success, I welcome it," he said in an interview with an Iranian publisher Sunday. "I can agree to it. If not, we shall be going to Geneva according to the Soviet theory, and the Americans also are not excluding Geneva because it is a fact that we shall all be going."

The United States has preferred to delay resumption of the Geneva peace talks until more concrete progress can be achieved in private negotiations between Kissinger and the Mideast governments.

Sadat warned that immediate action is needed to defuse the tense Middle East. He also said he believed Israel has a nuclear capacity and added that Egypt would find a way to acquire such weapons but would not be the first to use them.

The president was interviewed by Iranian publisher Farhad Massoudi of the Etalat group of Tehran. His remarks were made available to The Associated Press today.

"When I say defuse the bomb, I mean that the momentum of the process of peace must continue," Sadat said. "It started with disengagement agreements. It should have continued since then. There has been a slack. We must revive the momentum."

Asked how much more time he is willing to give Kissinger for negotiations, Sadat replied:

"I am now having contacts with President Ford and Dr. Kissinger and we shall see in the near future what will be the result and after that we shall decide."

Sadat said in the meantime Egypt, Syria, Jordan and the Palestine Liberation Organization would meet soon to work out a joint strategy at Geneva in accordance with the decisions of the Arab summit at Rabat. The PLO won backing at the summit to set up a Palestinian state.

Asked if he believes the Mideast is approaching a peace settlement or another war instead, Sadat said the recent "rigid positions" of Israel lead him to question his usual optimism.

"Do they really need peace, do they really aim for peace?" he asked. "We aim for peace, I assure you. For that I am optimistic. But it depends on the other side."

A large, slow moving low pressure center will bring cold air through the Ohio Valley and north to Lake Erie today and Tuesday. A second low pressure center developing in the Carolinas will help hold clouds over the Buckeye state.

Overnight, skies were cloudy with measurable precipitation over much of the eastern portion of Ohio. Precipitation was rain and snow mixed, changing to rain. Temperatures have been on the mild side, generally 10 to 15 degrees above normal readings for mid December.

Sirhan guilt questioned by ex-solon

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein says that after a personal year-long study, "I don't believe the evidence sustains the theory that Sirhan Sirhan is the murderer of Robert F. Kennedy."

Sirhan is serving a life sentence in California for the assassination of Sen. Kennedy on June 5, 1968, in a Los Angeles hotel following Kennedy's victory in the California presidential primary.

Lowenstein, a former Democratic congressman from New York, revealed his doubts about the shooting at a news conference Sunday, accompanied by Paul Schrade, a former United Auto Workers official who was wounded at the time of the assassination.

Schrade said Lowenstein had convinced him that there were many unanswered questions in the case.

Lowenstein said he made his investigation because of the "recalcitrance of the authorities" to make all the technical evidence public and because in the wake of Watergate "the country now understands what it didn't before — that things that 'never could have occurred' have occurred."

He said, however, that he was not proposing that Sirhan, a Jordanian immigrant who expressed anger over Kennedy's pro-Israel position, was part of a larger conspiracy. He said he had no ideas so far about the identity of the wielder of the "true gun" in the killing.

Schrade said such a probe is necessary because it "has to do with the future, the life of Teddy Kennedy." He referred to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Mrs. Hearst issues plea to Patty

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Catherine Hearst wants her fugitive daughter Patricia to come home for Christmas.

Mrs. Hearst made the plea in a 300-word letter published in Sunday's San Francisco Examiner, the newspaper edited by her husband, Randolph A. Hearst.

Miss Hearst, 20, was kidnaped last Feb. 4 by the Symbionese Liberation Army and has since renounced her family and stated her allegiance to the terrorist group.

"Christmas is almost upon us again, and I am sure you must realize our agony as we face the possibility of a Christmas without you," the mother said.

2 sextuplets still alive

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Another of the Lange sextuplets born nine days ago died early this morning, leaving only two of the premature infants left in their battle for life.

Dr. James Harrod said a boy, Jason, died at Valley Medical Center of respiratory failure. He was the youngest of the six infants and weighed the most at birth, 2 pounds 4 ounces. A normal baby usually weighs between seven and nine pounds.

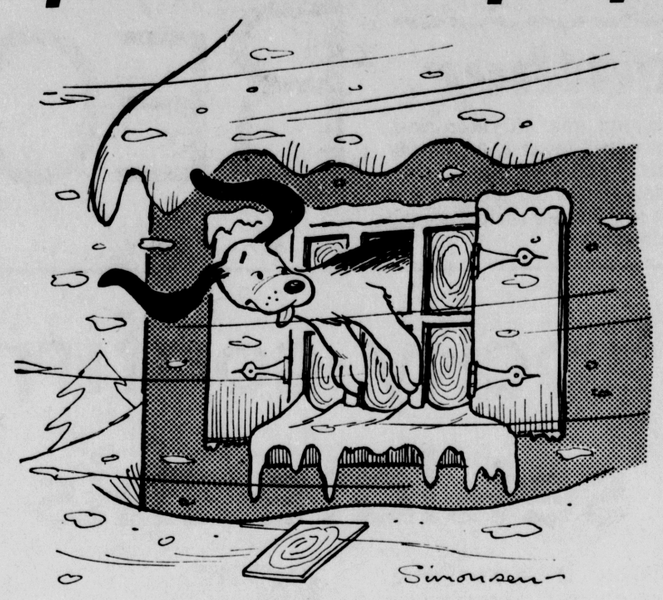

Like the other five infants, Harrod said Jason struggled against hyaline membrane disease, a disorder that starves the lungs of oxygen.

Another boy, Brian, has shown some improvement over the past two days, but remains in critical condition and on a respirator to help him breathe, said Harrod.

The first born, Jolene Rene, a girl, who had sipped donated mother's milk through a tube over the weekend, appeared to be the strongest. Harrod said she is in stable condition and "making progress, although requiring intermittent respiratory assistance."

Santa's problem pup

CHAPTER 6
By Bob Boyle

Halfway through he got stuck.

When they got to the kennel she let Peako off the leash.

He went to the big window in front of the kennel and looked toward Santa's house.

"That won't do you any good," Miss Kay Nihn said as she put a chain across the door.

Peako continued to look out the big window. It was made up of many small panes of glass that crissed cross each other.

Miss Kay Nihn finished chaining the door and said, "Well, you missed your supper so you'll have to go hungry until tomorrow. Now good night and stay put."

As she left she turned off the light.

Peako started to cry.

"Be quiet," Miss Kay Nihn shouted.

After she was gone for a few minutes Peako went to the door and tried to push the chain back with his nose.

He couldn't budge it.

He stood on his two hind legs and tried to move the chain with his front paws.

It still wouldn't budge.

He then tried to grab it with his mouth but it was too tight.

The chain wouldn't move.

Peako couldn't get out the door.

He walked to the back of the kennel but found no way out there.

He went to the front window again.

He put his nose against one of the small panes.

He pushed and pushed and pushed.

Pop went the pane of glass as it fell against the snow.

Peako scrunched himself up, put his head through the opening and then squeezed his tiny body through it.

Halfway through he got stuck. He started to whimper. But he couldn't move.

His cries alerted the other little puppies in the kennel.

They saw that Peako was stuck.

Two of the little poodles got behind him and with their noses they started to push.

They pushed and pushed and pushed and, suddenly, Peako slid through the opening.

He turned to them and wagged his tail as if to say "thank you."

He then turned and ran lickity-split toward Santa's house.

He went to the front door and breathed on the knob to make it warm. He grabbed it in his mouth and again did a somersault, and click, the door opened.

He closed it by pushing his nose against it and ran to the dining room.

But Santa and all the eleves had gone.

Peako started to whimper.

"Hey, what's that?" Juniperperper said, as he rubbed the sleep from his eyes.

"I hear something, too," Jinkersnipes said as he awoke. "It sounds like a dog."

"You don't think it's him, do you?" Juniperperper asked.

"No, I don't think it could be Peako," Jinkersnipes said. "Miss Kay Nihn said she put a chain on the kennel door.

Just then, Peako leaped up onto Juniperperper's bed and started to lick his face. He jumped down and then jumped to Jinkersnipes's bed and licked his face.

The two elves started to laugh.

"It's Peako, it is Peako," they shouted.

The other elves began to awaken.

"Hey, Peako is here," they said. "Good old Peako got out and is here."

The dog ran from elf to elf, licking their hands and faces.

"Hurray for Peako," Jasper said. "He showed old Miss Kay Nihn."

Mrs. Claus was sleeping soundly but the commotion awakened her, too.

Putting on her robe she went into the elves' room.

Peako ran toward her and started to wag his whole body.

"Peako, Peako," she said. "What are you doing here? Miss Kay Nihn will be furious."

After licking Mrs. Claus' hand, Peako ran into Santa's bedroom.

Santa was sleeping soundly in his red pajamas, with a huge nightcap on his head.

Peako jumped up and started to lick Santa's face.

"What's this, what's this?" Santa said. "What's going on? Who is licking my face?"

Mrs. Claus came in and turned on the light.

"Look who is here," Mrs. Claus said.

"It couldn't be, but it is," Santa said. "It's Peako. My, my, how did you get away from Miss Kay Nihn?"

The elves crowded around the door.

"Let him stay, Stanta, let him stay," they shouted. "Please let him stay."

"Well, it is late," Santa laughed. "And I wouldn't want to wake Miss Kay Nihn at this hour, so I guess it will be all right for Peako to stay here tonight at the foot of my bed.

"Now boys, back to bed," Mrs. Claus said. "We must get settled."

When the elves had gone, Peako went to the foot of Santa's bed and fell soundly asleep.

"He is some dog," Santa said, as he closed his eyes.

Boston school desegregation plan readied

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston School Committee submits its phase two desegregation plan in federal court today and decides whether to close schools early for the holidays following a weekend of massive demonstrations for and against busing.

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity ordered the committee to approve a plan and submit it to him by noon today. The committee scheduled a vote on the plan, which is slated to call for the busing of 35,000 school children, just 30 minutes before the deadline.

The initial court-ordered desegregation plan was implemented in Boston schools this fall with the busing of 18,000 of the system's 95,000 pupils. That plan has already divided the city and led to sporadic racial violence.

Sunday, some 4,500 school busing foes rallied on Boston Common, listening to speeches denouncing Garrity and calling for a constitutional amendment to prohibit forced busing.

Just 24 hours earlier the Common was the scene of a prointegration rally which attracted an estimated 20,000 demonstrators, capping a three-mile "National March Against Racism."

Both rallies followed a week of violence and demonstrations in a number of high schools, and the stabbing on Wednesday of a white South Boston High School student. Seven schools in the predominantly white section of South Boston and Roxbury High in the city's black section have been closed since that incident.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed in early trading today, in a carryover of the uncertain trading of last Friday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off a fraction shortly after the opening, while advances and declines were about even on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said there was some anticipation among investors that the government might move soon to fight the recession. Still they noted the sharp drop in November industrial production, as indicated by the figures released Friday by the Federal Reserve Board.

Campbell Red Lake Mines was up 1¾ to 32¾.

Last week the Dow Jones average rose 15.17, closing at 592.77.

In all 793 issues advanced and 920 declined on the Big Board.

Johnny Cash eyes detective show

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A guest appearance with Peter Falk on television's "Colombo" program earlier this year has given country singer Johnny Cash the bug to star in his own nonviolent detective series.

"I think he'll do it. I really do," said Cash's sister and business assistant, Reba Hancock.

Mrs. Hancock said if a script is completed and approved within the next few weeks, a CBS television pilot movie will be filmed in January. And if the ratings are good enough, the series will likely follow, she said.

Mrs. Hancock said script writers working for producer David Wolper are trying to create a story showing Cash as a gentle character, but without losing the potential for good ratings which seem to demand violence in television police shows.

"A police show has to have a certain amount of action," said Cash's agent in Los Angeles, Marty Klein. "Otherwise, it can't get on television. It just can't be a pablum-type show."

Klein said he hopes to get Cash a "new concept" in police show formats.

"They're going to show him in this particular thing living on a farm. They're going to show his private life, which you don't see on television with police shows. You sure don't see it in 'Colombo' or 'Mannix.' He's even going to have a mother."

Cash is not expected to sing in the show. However, plans call for having plenty of country music as background — at the police department, for example.

Cash's wife and singing partner, June Carter Cash, will be written into the story as an associate at the police department, Klein said.

Cash's home in the story is his real-life farm at Bon Aqua, near Nashville. After the initial movie, plans call for building a sound stage duplicate of the Nashville Metro Police Department headquarters to continue the series.

Klein said that to get the pilot movie on the air before the current season ends in April, it must be filmed no later than Jan. 15.

Klan moves to widen membership

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — A major faction of the Ku Klux Klan has voted to admit Catholics and immigrants in a move apparently aimed at increasing the group's appeal in northern industrial areas.

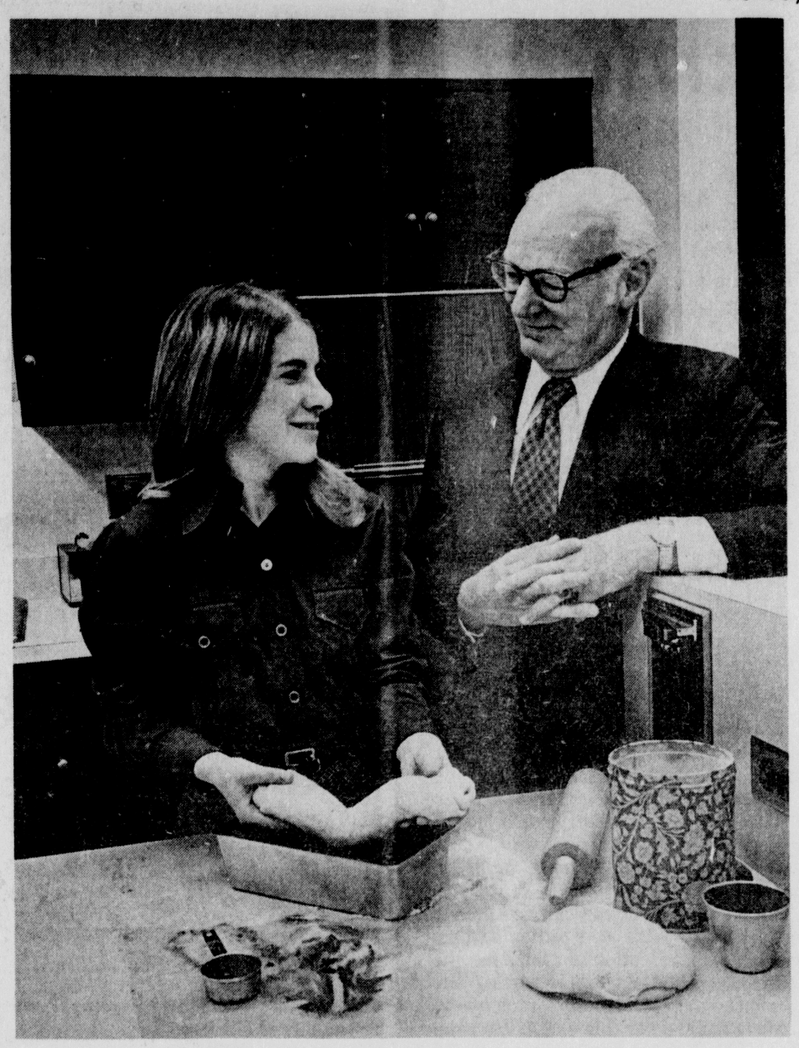

The 16-member governing board of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, the second largest Klan organization, approved the amendments at a meeting Sunday in this suburb of Atlanta.

Previously, the organization had been limited to white, native-born Protestant Americans, with some chapters excluding women. Klan leaders said they would continue to ban non-whites, non-Christians and anyone who is not a citizen of the United States.

The decision was announced by Dale Reusch, 35, of Lodi, Ohio, the organization's proposed candidate for president in 1976. Reusch said he proposed the changes because "half of my membership in the North are Catholics."

"I have been taking them in for five years, at my discretion," he said. "They have proven to be very good, effective Klan members."

The largest Klan organization is the United Klans of America, led by Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Opinion And Comment

Message gets across

There's always a bit of the rough with the smooth, but sometimes the rough's not so bad after all. In support of this thesis we cite the case of the Dr. Jazz Old Fashioned Ice Cream Parlor American Cancer Society no-smoking campaign award.

The smooth consists of the award itself, and of the striking means by which this Chicago establishment won it. The Dr. Jazz Old Fashioned Ice Cream Parlor is rigged (with the cooperation of its patrons, as will be seen) so that this happens when a smoker lights up: smoke sensors activate a siren and red lights, and everybody in the place stares at the offender.

Now for the abovementioned rough. It seems that, according to one of the emporium's co-owners, "some people light up just to make it go off." We confess that we'd find the temptation hard to resist. And in any case, when the lights flash and the siren wails and the assembled ice cream afficionados give the miscreant the cold stare treatment, the message must come through loud and clear: Smoking in places where others prefer breathing unsullied air is really not quite couth - and besides, it's bad for the health of all concerned.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Too little, too late?

WASHINGTON — The bells are ringing, calling laggard senators to vote on a proposition that is in its ultimate meaning, to be or not to be.

They are ringing again and again, quorum calls, amendments, the whole time-consuming process pressing down on harassed men eyeing the calendar, the end of the session and escape for the Christmas recess.

It has such a prosy sound: the trade reform act.

But in its complex and voluminous form the decision is whether or not this nation is to participate in a system of international trade looking to a reduction of tariff barriers and an expansion of that trade for the good of peoples everywhere.

The fact that this vital measure should come up so very late is an outrage. For two weary, dreary years the trade bill has been crawling past the legislative barriers, some inherent in the process, others thrown up by the pressure of lobbies that want to wall off America's productive system.

During all this time a hobbled United States has been unable to participate in negotiations on tariff barriers.

And if the measure is not passed in this last-minute rush it will be a signal to our trading partners that we are opting out to go it alone.

That can mean rising protectionism everywhere. As everyone plays beggar thy-neighbor, a recession can become a depression. It happened in 1930 when the Smoot-Hawley protectionist tariff bill gave a downward push to the worsening economy here and in Europe.

One way the trade act can be killed is by loading it with amendments. This will be the temptation not only for the opposition but for those favoring the measure seeing an opportunity to achieve some desirable end in the final scramble of the dying Congress.

As passed by the Senate, the bill must then go to conference with the House which acted long ago. Burdened with amendments, the process of reconciliation may be impossible.

The most powerful lobby opposing trade reform is the AFL-CIO. This is a perfect example of narrow trade unionism bent on shutting out any and all competing products. The theory is that made-in-America products priced to trade union wages will supercede foreign products now sold in U.S markets.

The ultimate result would be to shut off American sales abroad, although studies show that liberal trade creates more and better jobs in export industries than are lost through import competition.

The principal agent for the AFL-CIO in the Senate is Vance Hartke, the Indiana mixmaster who is third ranking majority member on the finance committee. The act has floundered in the swamp of that committee for weeks, thanks in considerable part to the chairman, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana. Long is adept at the tactics of delay, if only by simple inertia. Entrenched in his chairmanship, he has happily served the interests of Big Oil.

Another reason for the delay has been the long controversy over the Jackson amendment calling for the free emigration of Jews from the Soviet Union. Senator Jackson, who also has AFL-CIO support in his campaign for the presidency, reached a compromise on the emigration issue with Secretary of State Kissinger.

The goal, granted the Soviets live up to the assurance of up to 60,000 Jews allowed to emigrate, is tariff treatment for the Soviet Union comparable to that accorded America's other trading partners.

But this gives George Meany the shivers.

Not only does he fear that any such arrangement will let in state-subsidized goods from Moscow but he is convinced that detente itself will open the way to Communist domnation of the world.

If the act goes down to defeat, the whole process will have to begin all over again in the new Congress. With many freshmen members in the House indebted to the handouts of the AFL-CIO in the November election, the labor lobby will exercise even greater power. The threat is indefinite delay for a step essential to America's role in the world.

President Ford belatedly came out with a strong plea for affirmative action on the trade act. Whether it was not only too late but too little the vote will show. In any event the decision should be above the partisan politics of the moment.

Cincy hotel construction canceled

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati is shopping for another hotel chain to provide badly needed accommodations after Regency-Hyatt House of Chicago canceled plans for a high rise luxury structure.

"It was a blow," complained Fred Lazarus III, who headed a Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce committee which conducted three years of negotiations and raised $2.7 million for local investment.

Lazarus, who heads Shillito's, a division of Federated Department Stores, said Regency-Hyatt House blamed inflation for backing out.

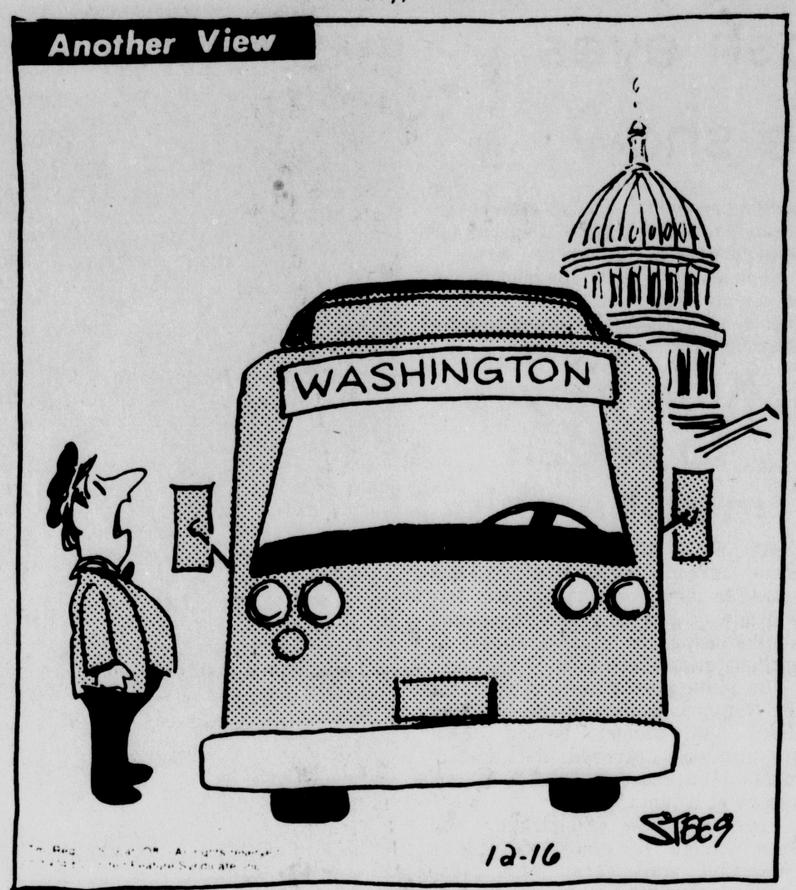

Lazarus quoted a letter from R-HH vice president A.N. Pritzker, Chicago, which said the estimated cost had risen from $2.2 million to $2.7 million in less than a year.

Even anticipating an average $37.50 daily room rent with 75 per cent capacity would not bring in enough cash to make mortgage payments and operating costs, the letter said.

For this and other circumstances not mentioned, Pritzker said his firm was backing out.

The Cincinnati Convention and Visitors Bureau earlier reported it was barely holding its own finding rooms for conventioneers and is badly in need of 650 new rooms to handle visitors.

Energy budget eyed for state

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Beginning next spring builders will have to consider a new type of budget for construction in Ohio — an energy budget.

The energy budget is a proposed addition to the Ohio Building Code, reports Ed O'Brien, chairman of the Governor's Task Force on energy conservation in building.

"The energy budget will restrict the amount of energy a building can use," said O'Brien. "The principal thrust is a schedule of types of building and amounts of energy, but the section also defines terms so engineers and architects will know how to conform."

From March 1, builders will have to fill out a form detailing energy requirements of proposed construction to obtain a building permit, O'Brien said.

Failure to meet the task force's tentative energy standards doesn't mean a permit will not be issued, O'Brien said.

"March 1 starts a data-collecting period," he said. "Builders will have to submit the form so we can accumulate data and set realistic standards."

The forms, filed with local building departments, will be forwarded to the Ohio Department of Building Standards in Columbus.

On June 1, 1976, another section will become law, and builders will be required to live up to the regulation's limits, O'Brien says.

Under the proposed schedule, an office building would be limited to 50 British Thermal Units (BTUs) of energy per hour per square foot of space. An arena would be entitled to twice as much energy. A hospital rates 70 BTUs per hour per foot and a nursing home 40.

The budget has won tentative approval of the Architects Society of Ohio, said O'Brien, a mechanical engineer with a Cleveland architectural firm.

The task force was created a year ago by Gov. John Gilligan to study how the Ohio Building Code could be modified to save energy. The tentative schedule of energy limits was reached after public hearings and meetings with architects and engineers, O'Brien says.

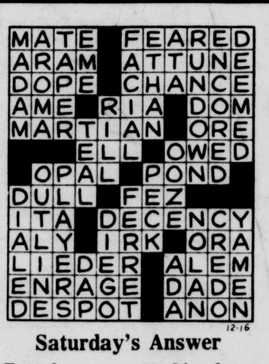

The task force considered regulating building methods and use of insulation, glass and other materials but decided against it because of the difficulty in writing the details and enforcing them, he said.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

The office Christmas Party: does his wife go?

DEAR ABBY: My husband's boss is having a Christmas party for the employees. Husbands and wives are invited and unmarried employees may bring their own dates.

Last year I couldn't go because I was in the hospital having a baby. And the year before I missed the party because I had the flu.

My husband is trying to talk me out of going this year. He says if I go I'll have a lousy time because I won't know anybody there. He says he'd like to take a single girl who works in his department.

I really want to go. I even made myself a party dress to wear. I think it's time I met my husband's co-workers, besides, I don't think it looks right for a married man to take a single girl to the company party. What do you think?

MRS. STAY-AT-HOME

DEAR MRS. I think you should go to the party with your husband. Assure him that if anybody has a "lousy" time, it won't be you!

DEAR ABBY: Our son is a very successful professional man who is married, has a beautiful family, and lives 1,500 miles from us.

Yesterday I recieved a call from his secretary. She said "Your son would like you an your husband to be his houseguests from December 22nd through December 28th. Please call me collect and let me know if he and his wife can expect you."

I was hurt and shocked. In previous years my son (or his wife) invited us personally. I thanked the secretary and told her I would talk to my husband and let her know.

When I told my husband about the call he said, "I'll go if you want to, but I don't consider that much of an invitation."

Abby, I agree with my husband, but it's more than some parents get from their married children. Besides, we haven't seen our grandchildren since last Christmas and we are aching to see them.

Should we swallow our pride and go? Or should we be honest and let our son know that if he (or his wife) couldn't find the time to phone us personally we don't care to accept their hospitality?

Maybe I should mention that our son has always sent us money for first class plane tickets.

HURT BUT TEMPTED

DEAR HURT: Your son appears to be very insensitive, but whom would you be punishing if you stayed home? Yourselves. So, be a little selfish, and go!

DEAR ABBY: Do you see anything wrong with re-wrapping Christmas gifts that have been received in previous years and giving them to others for Christmas?

I have dusting powder, colognes, stationery, nightgowns, etc., and my husband has neckties, wallets, scarves, etc., none of which are useful to us. but all of which are good as new. So why should we go our and spend good money to buy gifts for others when we have so many nice gift items on our closet shelf?

Of course I would re-wrap them attractively. Is there anything morally wrong and dishonest about this?

CUTTING CORNERS

DEAR CUTTING: Certainly not, unless you are asked where the gift came from (which is highly unlikely), and you lie about it. (P.S. Remember, perfume and cologne do not last indefinitely. Only fine wine and violins improve with age.)

DEAR ABBY: Someone asked if plants had feelings, and you stated that they reacted to "sounds".

A man named Backster demonstrated by use of an electrocardiograph that plants do have feelings. He conducted an experiment in which a plant reacted violently when someone entered the room thinking menacing thoughts about the plant.

LARRY R.

DEAR LARRY: Fascinating! Please explain how a plant expresses a "violent" reaction.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Dec. 16, the 350th day of 1974. There are 15 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1773, American colonists disguised as Indians boarded a British ship in Boston harbor and dumped 342 chests of tea overboard. The tax protest went down in history as the Boston Tea Party.

On this date:

In 1770, the German composer, Ludwig von Beethoven, was born.

In 1809, Napoleon Bonaparte was divorced from Josephine by an act of the French parliament.

In 1835, a fire in New York City burned some 600 buildings.

In 1916, the monk who wielded powerful influence over the Russian Czar, Gregory Rasputin, was murdered.

In 1944, the World War II Battle of the Bulge was being fought in Belgium.

In 1960, two airliners crashed after colliding over New York Harbor, killing 131 persons.

Ten years ago: Senator Edward Kennedy walked out of a Boston hospital six months after his back was broken in an airplane crash.

Energy alternatives eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top administration officials are drafting major energy policy recommendations for President Ford after spending a weekend in isolation considering possible government measures to curb energy demand and boost domestic production.

The group met in a nine-hour brainstorming session Sunday and a 12-hour meeting Saturday at Camp David, Md. to go over alternatives. Several participants said they were asked by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton not to discuss the talks in detail.

The President's Cabinet-level Energy Resources Council, chaired by Morton, will review the findings of the Camp David meeting, possibly as early as today, and begin refining proposals into specific policies for recommendation to Ford.

One participant said the group took into account "a pragmatic appraisal of what is possible to get through Congress," apparently hinting at a pessimistic view on proposals for a high gasoline tax or any other type of costly energy taxation.

Remaining in contention would be such other tactics as tax incentives allowing industry and the public to save money by saving energy, additional voluntary programs and perhaps mandatory measures that require energy conservation.

No major policy options were definitely discarded during the weekend meetings, the source added.

"It was a very positive meeting," said one participant.

The meeting was called after the administration conceded that voluntary energy-saving measures have proved unsatisfactory.

Ford has said he will announce new energy policies early next year, probably in his State of the Union address to Congress.

Participants in the meeting included Morton, Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar; Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent; Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb, who also serves as the executive director of the Energy Resources Council; and Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

In other energy and economic developments:

—General Motors said the cost of raw materials in its automobiles is leveling off, possibly signalling an end to high inflation. GM Chairman Thomas Murphy said an indicator of material costs rose 42 per cent between August 1973 and August 1974, but has hardly increased at all in the past three months.

—Rep. Philip Burton, D-Calif., said there has been a lack of urgency on President Ford's part to combat the nation's economic problems. Appearing with Burton on ABC's "Issues and Answers," Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., said the blame for economic woes should be placed on slow action by Congress and, in general, on the oil embargo, the poor crop and general world conditions.

—Oil firms say they are sharply curtailing plans to build new refining facilities because of industry concern over economic conditions and government policies.

Cleveland news strike continues

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Cleveland newspaper strike entered its 46th day today with no progress in evidence and no contract talks in sight.

The Cleveland Newspaper Guild had sought to resume bargaining today at 10 a.m., but the Cleveland Newspaper Publishers Association rejected the suggestion over the weekend because of a vote scheduled for Saturday on the publishers' offer.

A federal mediator has left resumption of the talks to the guild and the publishers.

The guild rejected the publishers' offer a second time Saturday 116 to 94 by secret ballot.

The offer, first made Oct. 31, amounted to a wage increase of $62 a week over three years. It was rejected by voice vote Nov. 1 when editorial workers struck.

Present top minimum pay for newsmen is $300 weekly.

Plain Dealer management says its offer is patterned on a 30-month agreement approved by the newspaper's truck drivers.

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the nation's largest and most powerful lobbying organizations, the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, plans to move full force into rural health issues next year if its members approve the plan.

A spokesman for the NRECA said he did not expect that the plan, now being drawn up by a staff committee, will be a controversial issue at the organization's annual meeting Jan. 19-23 in New Oreans.

If the program is approved, the NRECA plans to exert major pressure on Congress for basic changes affecting health care for all Americans, with a special emphasis on improvements in rural areas, the spokesman said.

The organization represents nearly 1,000 rural electric power systems which serve nearly 6.3 million consumers in 46 states. It traditionally has supported major federal legislation aimed at a wide variety of social issues, including rural housing and other rural development programs.

Rural health has been a matter of congressional review periodically over the years, including a three-day hearing in October by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., who urged Congress "to work logically and rationally toward a solution to the deplorable health problems in the countryside."

Robert D. Partridge, executive vice president and NRECA's general manager, says the problem is twofold: high medical and health care costs have led to a drive in Congress for some form of national health plan; and medical practionners and facilities are concentrated in urban areas.

"Since it's generally understood that it's up to the patient to get to the local clinic for help, today many rural residents are faced with the fact that the nearest doctor is miles away and that house calls are largely out of the question," Partridge said in the current issue of "Rural Electrification" published by his organization.

Among the points made by NRECA officials are:

—Rural areas have fewer doctors, nurses, pharmacists and dentists per capita than do the metropolitan areas.

—Health problems are greater for the poor and the elderly than for other groups, and rural areas have proportionately more of both kinds.

—In 1972 there were 140 counties in the nation without doctors, an increase of 43 per cent since 1963.

"Plainly speaking, the lure of the city dollar and other advantages of an urban practice have left rural America shortchanged in health and medical care," Partridge said.

He said metropolitan areas have more than twice as many physicians per 100,000 population, 50 per cent more registered nurses and nearly 75 per cent more dentists. But Partridge said he was not suggesting that cities have a surplus of medical and health care.

"The point is that rural America is being left behind, with some areas unable even to get a doctor to locate there at all," Partridge said. "Something must be done to meet this basic human need and we aim to do whatever we can to correct the situation."

'The Grand Miracle' Jeff DAR Chapter topic

Mrs. Norman Wissinger was hostess to members of William Horney Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution of Jeffersonville for the December meeting.

Mrs. Louis Ulen, regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form assisted by chaplain Mrs. G. Max Morrow. Mrs. Ottis Thompson, flag chairman, led the Pledge of Allegiance and Mrs. Earl Glass led the singing of the National Anthem.

Mr. Robin Smith, guest speaker and pastor of the Pleasant View Church of Christ, used for his subject, "The Grand Miracle." In reverent recollections he spoke of the Christmas Story, and read from the Book of St. Matthew. He said that the angelic glory of that Holy night of long ago fills the hearts of Christians everywhere with new hope, and the minds with peace.

Mrs. Everad Broberg, secretary, read minutes of the November meeting. Twenty members answered roll call.

Mrs. Harold Zimmerman read the President General's Message. The state regent's message was read by Mrs. Wissinger. Miss Helen Fults, National Defense chairman, read from the National Defender NSDAR, December 1974, "The Capital Christmas Pageant" and "The Christmas Spirit" by Velta Allen.

Thank you notes were read by Mrs. Carroll Ritenour from Kate Duncan Smith, Tammassee and St. Mary's Schools for the boxes of clothing sent them. Seven boxes of miscellaneous items were sent to these schools and Christmas greetings were read.

A generous cash offering was collected for Kate Duncan School for Christmas cheer in memory of a deceased member. Mrs. C.S. Kelley, chairman of DAR service to veterans, gave an interesting report of the gifts, cookies and money sent to the VA Hospital for veterans where Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Ulen and Mrs. Zimmerman spent a day working on various Christmas projects.

Delegates elected to Continental Congress were the regent, by virtue of her office, and Mrs. Norman Wissinger. Alternates are Mrs. Harold Zimmerman, Mrs. Richard Craig, Mrs. Marvin Stockwell and Mrs. G. Max Morrow. Tellers were Mrs. Dale Kirk and Mrs. Earl Hite.

The American's Creed was read. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Carroll Ritenour, Mrs. George Ehrle, Mrs. Earl Glass, Mrs. Charles Franenknecht, Mrs. Byron Harter, Miss Helen Fults, Mrs. Franklin Wharton, Mrs. A.E. Kemp and Mrs. C.L. Culberson.

Mrs. Robert D. Little will be hostess for the January meeting.

A dessert course suggestive of the holiday season was served during the social hour.

Cecilian Double Trio entertains

Yuletide cheer abounded when members of the Elmwood Ladies Aid Society met Thursday noon at the Terrace Lounge for a most enjoyable Christmas party.

Guests joining in the festivities with the 21 members were Mrs. Henry A. Simmons, Mrs. Roger Pope and son Brian, Mrs. Milbourne Flee, Mrs. Maurice Hopkins, Mrs. Gerald Wheat, Mrs. Edwin Thompson, Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Donald Schwaigert and Miss Verna Williams.

Holiday appointments were effectively carried out in the table decorations with colorful potted poinsettias and attractively designed doorknob favors marking each cover. Christmas floral arrangements formed striking centerpieces.

Mrs. Ruth Smith gave the invocation before the serving of the delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Carl Meriweather, program leader, introduced the members of the Cecilian Double Trio and their pianist, who entertained with an entertaining musicale of Christmas songs. Featured soloists were Mrs. Edwin Thompson and Mrs. Lloyd Fennig. At intervals during the rendition of the beautiful selections, Mrs. Gerald Wheat narrated the Christmas story. Later favorite carols were sung by the entire group. In conclusion the Double Trio offered the hymn "Silent Night" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas".

Mrs. Walter Parrett, retiring president, conducted a short business meeting when communications were read and reports given. Recorded were 86 calls and 10 cards. Mrs. Parrett announced that two families were remembered with holiday baskets and Mrs. James Carr reported that 16 Thanksgiving cheer plates were delivered to shut-ins. Mrs. Hazel Miller was feted with the group saluting her with "Happy Birthday".

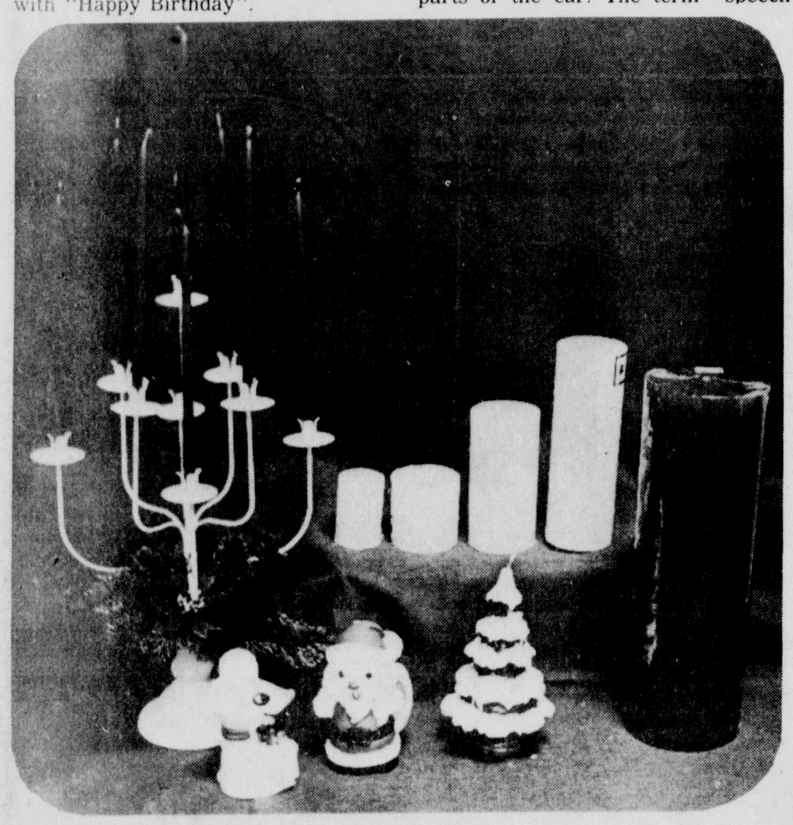

Gifts for perfect attendance were presented by Mrs. Parrett to Mrs. Mary Stackhouse, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Edith Scott, Mrs. Margaret Runnels, Mrs. Hazel Miller, Mrs. Emily Lanum, Mrs. James Carr and Mrs. Clarence Hackett.

Beautiful and impressive in its solemnity was the candlelight service with Mrs. Ruth Smith in charge of installing the new officers for 1975. Afterwards the new year books were distributed. Mrs. Addie Barger, the new president, announced as the year's project the giving of special cash contributions for every holiday in 1975.

Heaped around the lighted Christmas tree were many gaily wrapped gifts which Santa's helpers distributed among the members.

Success for this holiday party goes to the efforts of the committee composed of Mrs. Parrett, Mrs. Barger, Mrs. Dorothy Bell and Mrs. Meriweather.

Since the organizaton decided to dispense with meetings during the three ensuing months, the next meeting is not scheduled until April.

"HO-HO-HO" — The familiar jingle is being heard as Santa Claus (Mark Thellmann) arrives at the Mahan Building for the annual holiday dinner and party given for employes at The Record-Herald by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rodenfels which was held Saturday evening.

R-H employes feted

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rodenfels were gracious hosts Saturday evening when they entertained the employes of The Record-Herald at the annual Christmas dinner-party, held in the Mahan Building. A smorgasbord featuring turkey and beef was enjoyed.

A beautifully decorated and lighted Christmas tree was in the alcove of the entrance, with holiday decorations on the wall. Candles in red and white, encircled with holly and poinsettias centered the tables which were covered with white cloths.

Santa, in the person of Mark Thellmann, arrived during the evening with 'gag' gifts for everyone, and with special gifts for Mr. Rodenfels, presented by the group. George Malek and Mike Flynn were masters of ceremonies. Music for dancing was provided, and guests lingered long.

Present for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Rodenfels, Mr. and Mrs. Rob Rodenfels of Hillsboro, Mr. and Mrs. Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Malek. Mark Thellmann and Miss Debbie Sweet, Miss Sandy Fosson and Mike Childers, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Arthur, William Metais and Miss Karen Gerker, Miss Barbara Hyer, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Flowers, Mr. and Mrs. James Poole, Mr. and Mrs. George Pierce, Eddie West, Robert Speakman, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sword, Mr. and Mrs. Budd Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Huffman, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Fries.

Work with deaf AAUW topic

The December meeting of the American Association of University Women was held in the home of Mrs. Everad Broberg, with Mrs. Willard Rutledge and Mrs. Donald Ginn assisting.

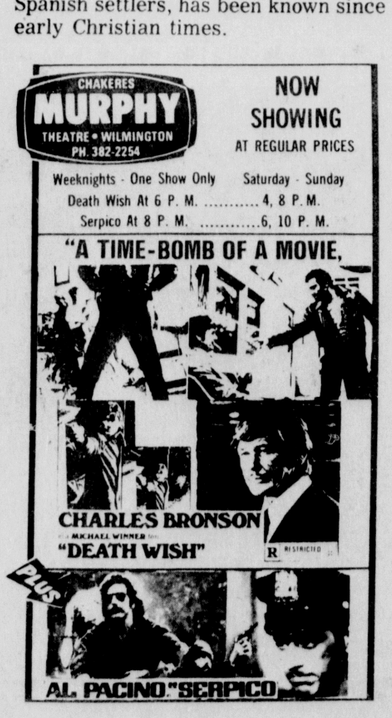

After delicious seasonal refreshments were served to members, the Rev. Mr. Broberg spoke on "Entrance Into the World of Silence." He stated that it was a very trying experience for him, because he had previously been able to listen and converse with people. In addition, he pointed out that he learned much from the deaf themselves. There are degrees of deafness, he said, and it can start from various parts of the ear. The term "speech reading" is the proper one instead of "lip reading," for facial expressions, hands, fingers, etc. are also used to help the deaf person understand what is being said. Finger spelling is used for proper names, and the sign language for other words and phrases. Rev. Broberg showed an example of Braille printing that he uses, and how the machine works.

During the business meeting, it was decided to contribute to the AFS funds of Miami Trace and Washington Senior High Schools. The president, Mrs. Walter Parsley, spoke of the luncheon meeting which she and Mrs. Robert Lee attended in November as guests of the Columbus Branch AAUW. Mrs. Maxine Thorson, National Association chairman of Fellowships, spoke about the many women who are aided each year financially in securing more education. Besides teaching, other fields of study are law, medicine, architecture, engineering, nursing, business education etc.

The members present had brought various handmade Christmas items to show and to tell how they were made.

The January meeting will feature a foreign dish potluck dinner in the home of Mrs. Glenn Merritt.

The legendary "passion flower," an intricate flower that never blooms longer than a day, is now available at florists due to a new process that lengthens the life of the bloom. The process, developed by a New Hartford, New York, firm, permits the passion flowers to be used as a fresh flower in bouquets, corsages and floral arrangements. The passion flower, brought to the Americas by early Spanish settlers, has been known since early Christian times.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stephanie Edwards, who occasionally appeared in the "Girl With Something Extra" series, is a girl with something extra.

But she'd rather not discuss it. It's the trombone she used to play.

The fact is mentioned in a handout for ABC's new "AM America" morning show she'll be cohosting next year. And she is weary, in a good-natured way, of being kidded about the sliphorn.

"Charles, get rid of the trombone," she begged the press attache accompanying your observer. Your observer, a fine flugelhornist, had the brass to ask about her horn. He quickly dropped the matter.

Miss Edwards, a tall, friendly young Minnesotan, comes to Fun City by way of Los Angeles, where for 3½ years she's cohosted a morning talk show with KABC-TV personality Ralph Story.

She says she got into show biz the traditional way — college drama study, a march on Hollywood and door-pounding for acting jobs between such civilian work as secretary to a minister and instructor in a modeling school.

She credits Story, who'll be the "AM America" Western correspondent, with greatly helping her career. She said she saw him on the tube one day and simply wrote him for advice on how to get started in show biz.

"He called me in for an interview and hired me as a researcher," she said. "I later became his secretary and after a year of that, he had the opportunity to start the KABC show and said, 'I know you'd rather be on camera than behind it' and gave me a try."

Miss Edwards, who strikes one as a very common-sense, straightforward person, says she's found this town, "not as bad as I expected, considering it's a place I never said I'd go....

"But the thing I found the toughest to deal with is how much money it takes to live here. I am really frightened that I didn't ask for enough money."

Perchance her lawyer can take that up with ABC if the show clicks?

"If I can afford the attorney," she laughed.

The Public Broadcasting Service, which on Dec. 5 aired "Primate," a controversial documentary by Frederick Wiseman, says it's sending a 30-minute discussion program about the show today to public TV stations for broadcast at will. Wiseman appears in the second program.

The Yerkes Primate Research Center, where "Primate" was filmed, has a representative in today's show, but not the center's director, Dr. Geoffrey Bourne. He was so outraged by "Primate" he refuses to appear on any followup program in which Wiseman also appears.

Ford's son eyes rodeo lessons

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Rodeo Cowboys Association has offered free tuition in a rodeo school to President Ford's son John.

The offer came Sunday afternoon at the final performance of the National Finals Rodeo here.

Ford, 22, a senior majoring in forestry at Utah State University, flew here "specifically to see the rodeo," association spokesman Randy Wittee said.

Young Ford, wearing a new pair of cowboy boots and a new white hat, said he planned to accept the free rodeo lessons offered by Finals Commission Board Chairman Bob Ragsdale.

Annual report given

Sanders re-elected pilots president

At the annual meeting of the Fayette County Pilot's Association Inc., officers were elected for 1975 and various accomplishments during 1974 by the local organization were acknowledged.

Jack Sanders was re-elected president, Curtis Hiser re-elected vice president, Robert Wilson was re-elected treasurer and Ruth Pfaff was elected secretary for 1975.

Sanders listed various actions taken by the pilot's association in his annual report:

— payment of nine months of maintenance on the nondirectional radio beacon to Boylan and Cannon Electronics, Inc., for 1975;

— installation of rotating light beacon and road signs on Ohio 38 for the Fayette County Children's Home and Fayette County Airport;

— incorporation of the club as a non-profit organization through the legal advice of Otis Hess, with the objectives of improving the Fayette County Airport and promoting the concept that general aviation benefits everyone; — establishment of club by-laws and purchase of new lighting system (runway lights, taxi lights with mik-a-light) which will enable controlling of intensity to reduce electrical power;

— establishment of monthly meeting dates;

— designing of official club stationery and book of minutes;

— sealing of runway and removal of snow from the landing strip and taxiways by the county engineer's office;

— holding of the annual fly-in with profits going toward general airport improvement fund; and

— sponsoring children from the country children's home as guests for the club's flagpole dedication, picnic and tour of Wright-Patterson Air Force Museum.

Sanders reported the airport's new lighting system would result in a considerable savings in bulb replacement. The old bulbs were purchased at $2.39 each with a life expectancy of 700 hours; new bulbs are 49 cents a piece with an expectancy of 8,000 hours.

During the business session, Tic Bryant, John Woodmansee and Frank Patton were recognized and commended for their voluntary hours in installing the new runway lights, the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and County engineer were praised for their cooperation to the club during 1974 and Maurice Hopkins, program committee chairman, presented a film on the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Middle East war possible

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Israeli prime minister Golda Meir says that war may break out in the Middle East again this winter, but "that depends entirely on our neighbors."

Appearing Sunday on CBS' "Issues and Answers," Mrs. Meir said she did not think that Israel would make a pre-emptive strike but that she had learned from experience "that we should be ready for war at any moment."

Mrs. Meir has been in the United States for 12 days helping raise money for the United Jewish Appeal.

Board OKs radio equipment purchase

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners agreed Monday to purchase emergency communication equipment for newly-appointed disaster services director Raldon M. Smith.

Smith had requested approval of the radio equipment, to be installed in his vehicle and owned by the county at a cost not to exceed $300, in order to communicate directly with the Fayette County sheriff, city police and fire departments in times of emergencies.

The commissioners also approved Smith's request to attend any state or area meetings conducted on emergency disaster services and authorized him to make a study of locations for a local headquarters for the disaster services office and report his results to the commissioners.

The public action plan meeting on the proposed improvement of U.S. 35 though Fayette County is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Mahan Building at the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

AN OPEN house will be held in the Mahan building from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. Tuesday and again on Wednesday from 2 p.m. until the 7:30 p.m. meeting time. During the afternoon sessions, officials from the Ohio Department of Transportation will be present to explain displays, charts and the overall purpose of the U.S. 35 bypass construction.

J. Herbert Perrill, commissioner chairman, emphasized the public is invited to voice their opinions on the systems, location and design of the project at the public hearing Wednesday.

In other action Monday, the commissioners met with William L. Pool to discuss additional public liability coverage insurance for county officials as a result of a federal court proceeding. Perrill said the outcome of the court decision may result in county officials being liable "money-wise or jail-wise" if certain provisions such as balanced diet and adequate exercise area are not maintained for county prisoners.

The commissioners agreed to close the Fayette County Courthouse doors at 12 noon Dec. 24 and remain closed until 9 a.m. Dec. 30 in order to save fuel and extend the Christmas holiday for Courthouse employes.

Jet planes to sniff upper-air pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do jet planes pollute the upper atmosphere?

To find out, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is equipping four commercial Boeing 747 airliners with sensors to measure pollution along the world's major air lanes.

The five-year program began this week when a United Airlines jumbo jet carried the detectors for the first time. It will take readings during normal commercial flights over the continental United States and between the West Coast and Hawaii.

Within months, jets of three other airlines will operate the sensors: Pan American over its global air corridors; Qantas of Australia in the Southern Hemisphere, and Scandanavian Airline System over the North Polar route.

The $5 million project is called GASP, for Global Air Sampling Program. The goal is to determine how jet emissions and other pollution sources affect the atmosphere at altitudes above 20,000 feet.

GASP project manager Porter J. Perkins said results may show whether the level of the ozone, which shields the earth from harmful ultraviolet solar radiation, is changing over time; whether jet vapor trails contribute to cloud cover, and how much of the dust in the atmosphere comes from aircraft.

When the planes climb to an altitude of 20,000 feet, the air sampling equipment turns on automatically and does not interfere with regular aircraft operations. A tube protuding six inches beneath the first class cabin takes in air for analysis by the instruments. Particles are counted and some are collected on an air filter which is changed at the time the plane is serviced.

Highland hospital troubles continue

HILLSBORO — Highland District Hospital, which has been plagued with a series of problems, faced still another following the filing of a complaint in Highland County Common Pleas Court.

The action is directed against two respiratory therapists on the hospital staff. Temporary and permanent injunctions to prevent them from continuing to render their services for the hospital are sought.

Respiratory Therapy, Inc., of Columbus, asked the injunctions against Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Ramon Elizondo, of Hillsboro. The complaint says that Elizondo became an employe of the firm Nov. 29, 1971, with his wife joining the company March 22, 1973. They were assigned to Highland District Hospital by the firm, which had a contract for services.

ACCORDING TO the petition, their contracts included provisions for non-competition within a 100-mile radius of Columbus for 12 months subsequent to the termination of their employment. The plaintiff says this means that they would not have been allowed to work as respiratory therapists for any other firm for a year within those geographic boundaries.

Both defendants ended their employment with the firm in August, 1974. The plaintiff says both have since been employed by the hospital in violation of their contracts.

The complaint goes on to charge that Mr. and Mrs. Elizondo conspired with the hospital to replace the plaintiff firm upon termination of its contract. Respiratory Therapy's contract expired Dec. 1, 1974, the complaint states.

The hospital's board of governors, at the recommendation of its medical staff, had discussed starting its own therapy department, which would entail purchase of some initial supplies and equipment costing about $16,000.

Jerry Gillman, hospital administrator, reported to the board that the Elizondos were qualified to head the department. The board gave preliminary approval to the plan at its November meeting.

Jurors seated to ponder Wilmington slaying case

WILMINGTON — A jury was seated shortly before noon Monday in the murder trial of a former Wimington police officer.

A panel of six men and six women will hear the evidence against Dale A. Powell, 26, of Wilmington, who is charged with the April slaying of a Wilmington novelty import shop owner, Randall Goldie, 22, of Martinsville. The jury is expected to visit the scene of the alleged murder Monday afternoon.

Powell, a member of the Wilmington Police Department at the time of the slaying, was arrested two days after Goldie was found dead in his car in the parking lot of Scottie's Restaurant on Wayne Road. He had been shot several times at close range with a shotgun.

There has been widespread speculation that the shooting incident was related to Goldie's alleged involvement in drug trafficking, but those close to the investigation have refused to discuss possible motives.

Powell appeared in Clinton County Common Pleas Court in May and entered a plea of not guilty to the murder charge. Judge Howard D. Barnes set bond at $50,000 which the defendant posted a short time later.

Two other officers were suspended from the force shortly after Powell's arrest. Police Chief Thomas E. White said that although the men were not connected with the slaying in any way, they apparently had information concerning Powell's possible involvement for some time before turning it over to investigators.

One officer was dismissed, the other was reinstated following a civil service commission hearing.

Agronomy agent applauded

Alfred Baxter, agronomy agent on the Washington C.H. Cooperative Extension staff who started a career in agricultural education in 1949, was honored for these 25 years of continued educational work with farmers and youth in 17 southwest Ohio counties by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Agents Association at the annual meeting in Columbus.

During Baxter's first five years on the extension service staff of the college of agriculture and home economics at Ohio State University, he was a 4-H agent serving in Mercer County. In these years he started a 4-H club council and stimulated the formation of a Junior Fair program.

In October, 1954, Baxter moved to Clinton County and he became county extension agent, agriculture. Some of the educational projects conducted as agriculture agent was a soil testing program which grew from 350 tests in a year to 2,500 tests per year in eight years.

Baxter conducted a public affairs program as extension agent which resulted in the formation of several organizations which continue to serve people of the area today.

A corn demonstration program was started with farmers which pointed out the merits of recommended cultural practices.

Since January, 1965, Baxter has served farmers and agri-businessmen in a 16-county area as an agronomy agent on the Washington C.H. Area Cooperative Extension Service Center staff. In this role, Baxter has spent his professional time on crops and soils topics and projects. Some of his time is spent in doing agronomy research. Farm crop demonstrations are used by Baxter to acquaint farmers with methods and techniques of crop production.

RECEIVES AWARD — Alfred Baxter, agronomy agent on the Washington C.H. Area Cooperative Extension staff, is pictured receiving an award and congratulations for 25 years of service from Virginia Zirkle, president of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Agents Association, at the association's annual meeting at Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Ohio State University.

Lebanon workers eye new walkout

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)— Eighteen striking city employes threatened to resume picketing this southwestern city of 8,000 today if their bid to unionize the municipal utility force was not approved.

The action would defy a court order and follow a weekend of tension triggered by a fire at a police captain's home and attempts to disrupt the city's power supply.

A Warren County Common Pleas judge Friday ordered all employes back to work today— or quit or face a $20 a day fine.

Benny Dwer, a spokesman for the 18 holdouts who have been striking since Nov. 19, said picket lines would be set up again if city leaders did not place their resolution before City Council.

A 45-minute power failure darkened the city Friday night. The home of Police Capt. Nick Toller was the target of an arson attempt, officials said.

Police and firemen are not involved in the union move. The strikers are employed in the water and power plants.

The city released a statement Sunday confirming other acts of violence such as random gunfire and other attempts aimed at the power supply.

Police were assigned to key city utility plants and the homes of city leaders.

City Manager Charles Guard said City Council "reaffirmed the support of the administration in their position on the strike."

He offered to meet with Benjamin Goodman, a Hamilton attorney representing the striking workers, to discuss "critical issues."

Judge P. Daniel Fedders granted the city a preliminary injunction Friday against continued striking and picketing.

The workers had defied his Nov. 21 temporary injunction and his amended Dec. 10 restraining order prohibiting picketing on city property.

He found all 18 men in contempt of court Friday. The city, however, has refrained from taking action against the picketers.

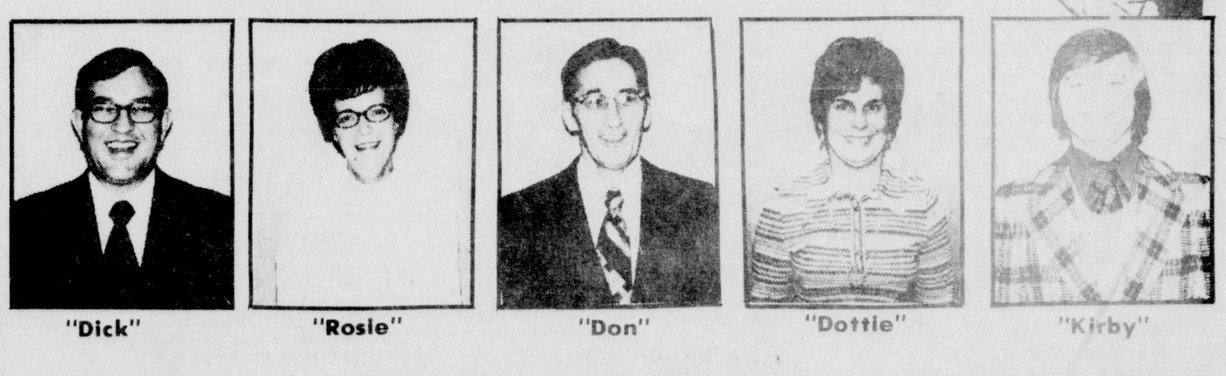

The striking workers want council to approve or disapprove their attempt to join the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW).

Miami Trace blows 21 point lead

Panthers escape Hillsboro surge

FIGHTING FOR LOOSE BALL — Miami Trace sophomore Dan Gifford hits the deck as he attempts to pry the ball away from an unidentified Hillsboro player. The Panthers' Randy Rhonemus watches in case the ball comes loose from the two players. (Ed Summers Photo)

HILLSBORO — Miami Trace barely escaped a scalping at the hands of Hillsboro, Saturday night. Blowing a 21 point third quarter lead, the Panthers held on to squeeze out a 51-49 South Central Ohio League victory.

The victory may prove to be costly to the Dale Creamer coached Panthers as Allan Conner, Miami Trace's leading scorer, left the game in the first period with a severe ankle injury. He had tallied seven points and garnered seven rebounds before he was injured.

Behind some sterling defensive play, the Panthers jumped out to an early five point lead and continued to build it to a 43-22 margin with just over a minute left in the third quarter. Hillsboro finally began to come alive as sophomore Tim Fuller pumped in eight of his 16 points in the final minute of the third period to cut the margin to 43-30.

Prior to Fuller's outburst, the Indians had only managed five points since midway through the second quarter against the scrappy defense of the Panthers.

Fuller and forward Mike Sharkey, who netted 20 points, continued the Hillsboro barrage in the fourth period. The comeback was also aided by five Miami Trace turnovers in the first three minutes of the frame. Roger Jewett's basket closed the gap to two points, 43-41, with six minutes remaining in the game.

Freshman Art Schlichter came through with a crucial basket on a driving layup with 4:48 remaining on the clock to increase the Panther lead to 45-41. He also added both ends of a one and one free throw situation two minutes later to give Miami Trace a six point margin.

Bob Ream's Indians refused to die, however, and pumped in three quick baskets, after a free throw by Dan Gifford, to cut the Panther lead to a single point, 48-47, with 30 seconds on the clock.

Mark Spears added the first of two free throws after he was intentionally fouled, but the Indians took possession on a jump ball following his missed second shot. Hillsboro managed several shots before Panther Phil Skinner finally came out with the ball and was fouled with seven seconds left in the contest.

Skinner missed the charity toss and the Indians immediately called time out after grabbing the rebound. The Indians apparently set up a play during the timeout but it was spoiled when center Randy Rhonemus snatched the long inbounds pass.

Rhonemus was fouled as he attempted to pass off and calmly stepped to the line to drop in both free throws to clinch the Panther victory. The Panthers allowed Sharkey a final uncontested layup as the buzzer sounded.

Rhonemus had led the Panther defense throughout the game, blocking five shots and knocking down several Indian passes under the basket. He also grabbed 10 rebounds and added eight points to the Panther cause.

Gifford led the Panther scoring attack with 15 points, most coming as Miami Trace built up its early lead, and hauled in seven rebounds.

As a team the Panthers hit a healthy 52 per cent on 21 of 40 shots, while Hillsboro could manage only 21 of 74 for a cool 27 per cent.

Miami Trace committed 16 turnovers, most of them coming in the second half, and the Indians totaled 14 miscues. Both teams committed 17 personal fouls.

The Panthers also held a 40-18 advantage in the rebounding department.

For Hillsboro, it marked the second consecutive game without the services of Kevin Bailey. Bailey, who led the SCOL with nearly a 20 point scoring average last year, was out of the game because of an injured ankle.

With the victory, the Panthers are now 3-2 for the season and move into a second place tie with Greenfield in the SCOL. Both Miami Trace and Greenfield are 2-1 in league play. Hillsboro is now 3-2 on the year and 2-2 in the league.

MT reserves win second

With a nine point outburst in the final two minutes of play, Miami Trace reserves were sparked to a 36-27 victory over the Hillsboro Jayvees, Saturday night.

Joe Black and Terry Rodgers, with 12 and 10 points respectively, led the junior Panthers in the nip-and-tuck battle.

With the score tied at 27 apiece, Rodgers dumped in a bucket to give the Panthers a two point lead. Quickly following were two quick steals, one by Black and another by Bruce Ervin, both of which resulted in Panther scores.

The Miami Trace defense then held the Indians scoreless for the remaining minute of play to wrap up their second victory of the season.

Defense played a big part in the victory as the quick-handed Panthers stole the ball 13 times. They also outrebounded Hillsboro by a 27-18 margin.

Wrestlers finish in third place

Miami Trace's wrestling team turned in an outstanding performance as it placed third among nine entries in the Franklin Heights Holiday Tournament, Saturday.

Miami Trace had seven grapplers placing in the top four spots to capture 72½ points. The host team won the tournament with 98 points and Walnut Ridge was second with 82. Finishing in a tie for fourth were Columbus South and Columbus West with 69½ points. River Valley had 48 points and Bloom Carroll came up with 41 points. Utica was last in the event with 35½.

Individual honors were led by first place finishes by junior Kurt Klontz in the 138 pound weight class and senior Don Dunton in the 175 pound class.

Klontz won his class by taking a 3-1 overtime decision in the first round, a pin in one minute of the second period of the second round and winning a 7-5 decision in the finals.

Dunton won all three of his matches by pins. He came up with a pin in 1:33 of the first period of the first round, 40 seconds of the first period of the second round and 1:37 of the second period of the finale round. Dunton lost the most semifinals and won a 7-3 decision in the finals.

"Klontz and Dunton really did outstanding jobs," remarked first year coach Glenn Jacobson. "Klontz was behind going into the third period of his final match and had to take down his opponent and hold him for 20 seconds. Dunton knew what he had to do and just went about his business."

Sophomore Kirk Stookey took the Panthers' only second place in the tournament. Competing in the 145 pound class, Stookey recorded a pin in 1:01 of the second period in the first round, a pin in 43 seconds of the third period in the second round and lost a 9-5 decision in the third round.

Finishing third were junior Jay Crummy in the 167 pound class and senior Mark Moore in the 185 pound class. Crummy notched a pin in 43 seconds of the first period of the first round, lost a 10-2 decision in the second round, won on a pin in 36 seconds of the first period in the consolation semifinals and won a 4-2 decision in the finals. Moore had a pin in 41 seconds of the first period in the first round, lost a 9-2 decision in the second round, won on a pin in 3:40 of the third period in the semifinals and won a 7-3 decision in the finals.

Fourth place winners junior Tom Eddlemon in the 119 pound class and freshman Scott Martin the 132 pound class. Eddlemon won on a pin in 1:58 of the third period in the first round, lost a 4-2 decision in the second round, won on a pin in 22 seconds of the second period in the semifinals and lost a 4-2 decision in the finals. Martin had a pin in 1:59 of the first period in the opening round, lost a 2-0 decision in the second round, had a pin in 1:12 of the second period in the semifinals and lost 2-0 decision in the finals.

"We were real tickled with our performance," Jacobson noted. "It was very exciting wrestling and the team spirit was real high. This type of performance was necessary to help get us ready for the tournament at Circleville this coming Saturday."

Parseghian resigns Irish post

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — After 11 seasons at the helm of America's most traditional college football power, Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian has decided he needs a rest.

In a short statement released to newsmen Sunday, Parseghian said he would leave coaching for at least one year to rest and evaluate the future course of his career.

The announcement, probably not due until after Parseghian directs the ninth-ranked Irish in the Orange Bowl game against No. 2 Alabama on New Year's Eve, apparently was made to stop speculation that Parseghian would take another college job or move to the professional ranks.

"I'm not resigning at this time to take any other coaching position either on the college level or in the professional ranks," Parseghian's statement said. "I just felt that I should get away from coaching for at least one year.

"I just need time to rejuvenate myself physically and emotionally."

This has been a stress-filled year for the 51-year-old Parseghian. Three close friends have died. One of his two daughters is afflicted with multiple sclerosis. The other daughter was married this fall.

His team, which appeared headed to an easy defense of its national title, was rocked by dismissal of six players from the university in a disciplinary action that Parseghian protested vehemently, and other key players were injured before the season even began.

"The pressure has taken the toll on the man," said a longtime associate. "It's time for him to slow down. I'm surprised he's been able to keep up the pace this long."

Close friends say they have seen Parseghian's decision coming for some time. One said the decision was made after the Navy game this year.

"After 25 years as a head coach, I find myself physically and emotionally drained," Parseghian said. "This is certainly not an impulsive decision.

"I've been mulling this over in my head for some time now, and I finally decided at midseason that my health and the welfare of my family was more important than anything else."

Parseghian scheduled a news conference at 11 a.m. Tuesday to discuss his decision. He would not come to the telephone to talk with newsmen who called his unlisted home number.

Parseghian will remain at the university for the next year, helping with the athletic program, said The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, vice president in control of athletics.

Before coming to Notre Dame in 1964, Parseghian was head coach eight seasons at Northwestern and five at Miami of Ohio, where he began his coaching career in 1951.

The Associated Press learned that four of Parseghian's assistants have his endorsement to the faculty board to succeed him.

Brown denies conservatism

CINCINNATI (AP)—Did Paul Brown, coach of the Cincinnati Bengals, violate one of pro football's unwritten rules in Saturday's 27-3 National Football League loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers?

The 66-year-old veteran defended his conservative game plan, saying survival was the key concern for the injury-riddled Bengals.

But his critics contend Brown shunned the code that calls for a pull-all-stops effort even if victory is meaningless.

"We fought it out the best we could," said Brown, after criticism for passing only eight times in the nationally-televised season finale.

Pittsburgh, the AFC Central Division champion, had already wrapped up the title and was headed for the playoffs.

The decision to stick to the ground left Brown open for second-guessing.

"It was a good thing we weren't playing at home or we'd been booed out of the stadium," said Bengals defensive back Lyle Blackwood.

Other members of the club were divided on the strategy.

"I don't think Paul was pulling any punches," said offensive lineman Stan Walters. "He goes out to win every game.

"We did what we thought we could do best," he said.

Royce Berry, the demoted defensive captain who has been in Brown's doghouse, pinned the conservative attack on the loss of passing-minded quarter Ken Anderson, who was injured.

Catfish Hunter expects to become free agent

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League's top pitcher, Jim "Catfish" Hunter, was expected to become a free agent today in an historic arbitration ruling.

The formal announcement was scheduled to be made in New York today, but unnamed sources revealed the arbitrator's decision Sunday.

Hunter's attorney during the arbitration hearing, told The Associated Press Sunday that neither he nor Hunter knew of the decision, although both have felt all along that they would win.

"I've heard so many rumors in the past 48 hours," said Jerry Kapstein from his home in Springfield, Va., "but I don't know."

Arbitrator Peter Seitz refused to confirm the reports, but said the decision could be expected today. It was learned his signed decision had been forwarded to the Major League Baseball Players Association as well as to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office.

Earlier Sunday, a Westerly, R.I., radio station, WERI, said that Kapstein told them that Hunter probably would sign with either the New York Yankees or Boston Red Sox.

Hunter, the 1974 AL Cy Young winner who pitched the Oakland A's to three consecutive World Series championships, sought to become a free agent because the A's failed to live up to the terms of his existing contract.

As a free agent, the righthanded pitcher is free to offer his services to any of the 24 major league clubs, including the A's, and may well command the largest bonus and salary contract in baseball history.

The 28-year-old pitcher signed a two-year $200,000 contract with the A's last season. He was to get $50,000 a year in salary and $50,000 a year was to be paid to some deferment plan of Hunter's choosing.

Bucks' quickness beats Bobcats

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "This is our quickest Ohio State team in several years," said Fred Taylor.

Dale Bandy, Ohio University's rookie coach, agreed after the Buckeyes pinned a 96-87 nonconference loss on the Bobcats Saturday night.

"We are not a quick club and that hurt us. Both of Ohio State's guards (Larry Bolden and Mark Bayless) are very quick," said Bandy.

"Our quickness got us some cheap baskets," admitted Taylor after watching Ohio State move to a 3-1 record. Ohio dipped to a 1-3 mark.

The easy goals helped the Buckeyes hit a blistering 55 per cent from the floor.

"We put enough points on the board to win," Bandy said. "We just have to get better on defense."

Forward Andy Stiegemeier and Bolden each scored 20 points as all Ohio State regulars reached double figures. Bill Andreas and Bayless accounted for 17 and Craig Taylor 14.

Ohio's scoring thrust came from Scott Love with 27 points and Walter Luckett with 25. No other Bobcat had more than 12.

In other major Ohio college action, Bowling Green ran its record to 5-0, keeping Ball State winless 100-69 behind substitute Larry Wingate's 20 points.

Michigan held Dayton to its lowest total in three seasons, dealing the Flyers a 61-50 setback. Dayton's Johnny Davis, averaging nearly 25 points, managed just eight.

It was a lost weekend for Cincinnati in Tennessee's Volunteer Classic. Navy, behind Mickey Hampton's 25 points, handed the Bearcats their second loss in as many nights 76-67.

Xavier, 4-1, beat Thomas More 76-69 with Mike Plunkett's 24 points and 15 rebounds the main weapons for the Musketeers.

Youngstown posted its biggest victory margin in history, walloping New Hampshire 121-46. The previous record was a 72-point spread against Lakeland College 11 seasons ago.

The Hoosier-Buckeye Conference was the only Ohio league active Saturday night and Defiance won while Bluffton and Findlay bowed to Indiana foes.

Defiance, with Bob Martin's 20 points leading the way, staved off Manchester 77-70. It was Defiance's fourth straight conference victory.

Art Larson's two free throws with 18 seconds left gave Anderson a 54-52 decision over Bluffton. Hanover posted its 34th straight home victory, topping Findlay 88-65.

Cards win title with comeback

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It took less than 30 minutes for the St. Louis Cardinals to wake up—and not the 30 minutes in which they'd gotten shoved around.

"Nobody said much at halftime," said Terry Metcalf, revealing the silence in the Cards' dressing room, when they trailed the New York Giants 14-0. "Without saying anything, we all knew we had to do a better job. We'd given up too much and weren't about to give up more."

What St. Louis—mainly Metcalf and Jim Hart—gave in the second half was a typically brilliant comeback performance that resulted in a 26-14 victory.

And that gave the Cardinals their first National Football League divisional title in 26 years, and St. Louis' first ever. When the Cards won the NFL's Western Division title in 1948, they called Chicago their home.

Washington's Redskins, who had charged into a tie with the Cards atop the National Conference East, clobbered Chicago 42-0 and finished tied with St. Louis, each with 10-4 records.

But the Cards got the title by virtue of their two regular-season victories over Washington. The Redskins had to settle for the NFC's wild-card playoff berth.

In Sunday's other games, it was Miami 34, New England 27; Los Angeles 19, Buffalo 14; Houston 28, Cleveland 24; the New York Jets 45, Baltimore 38; San Francisco 35, New Orleans 21; San Diego 17, Denver 0; Philadelphia 28, Detroit 17, and Atlanta 10, Green Bay 3.

On Saturday it was Pittsburgh 27, Cincinnati 3; Minnesota 35, Kansas City 15, and Oakland 27, Dallas 23.

Roger Wehrli's 32-yard punt return to the New York 41-yard line actually woke up the Cards, who had lost two straight games and four of the last six to turn a divisional runaway into a dogfight. But it was Hart and Metcalf who kept their eyes open—and widened the eyes of St. Louis' wildly cheering fans.

Hart started out by firing an 18-yard pass to Mel Gray. A few plays later, St. Louis had its first touchdown in seven periods on Hart's four-yard pass to Ken Willard.

Jim Tolbert's interception of a Craig Morton pass set up another one just 57 seconds later. Tolbert returned the ball to the New York 28 and, on the next play, Hart hit tight end Jackie Smith for a touchdown.

And just minutes later, the Cards got another interception—and another touchdown on Metcalf's one-yard run.

Metcalf polished off the Giants early in the fourth quarter on another touchdown run, this one covering 16 yards.

St. Louis will visit the Minnesota Vikings, champions of the NFC Central Division, next Saturday in a first-round playoff game. On Sunday, the Redskins will face the NFC West's winners, the Rams, in Los Angeles.

In the AFC next Saturday, the Dolphins, first in the East, are in Oakland to play the Raiders, the best of the West. On Sunday, Pittsburgh, the AFC Central Division champ, hosts Buffalo, the conference's wild-card team.

Redskins 42, Bears 0

Veteran Sonny Jurgensen, who started in place of No. 1 quarterback Billy Kolmer, connected on 14 of 22 passes for 205 first-half yards, hitting Charley Taylor for an 11-yard touchdown pass and setting up touchdown runs of one and four yards by Larry Brown to give Washington a 21-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, quarterback Joe Theismann took over and threw a 13-yard third-quarter touchdown pass to Taylor. Duane Thomas and Charley Evans ran for the final Washington touchdowns in the last period.

Dolphins 34, Patriots 27

New England's Mack Herron set an NFL record for most single-season total yards in the Patriots' loss to Miami. Herron gained 185 yards on rushes, receptions and kick returns to finish with 2,444 for the year, four more than Gale Sayers got with the 1966 Chicago Bears.

But the Pats couldn't handle the aerial tandem of veteran quarterback Earl Morrall and rookie wide receiver Melvin Baker, who teamed on touchdown passes covering 37 and 46 yards. Don Nottingham also bulled in for two Miami scores as the Dolphins wiped out New England's early 24-0 lead.

Rams 19, Bills 14

Bob Schriber and Ron Jaworski each scored his first regular-season touchdown, Schriber on a 14-yard pass from James Harris, who also scored on a one-yard run, in Los Angeles' victory over Buffalo.

Oilers 28, Browns 24

Dan Pastorini threw two touchdown passes and Fred Willis and Willie Rodgers ran for decisive second-half scores that enabled Houston to finish at 7-7, its first non-losing season since 1969.

Jets 45, Colts 38

"I don't know whether or not this is my last game," Joe Namath said after completing 19 of 28 passes for 281 yards and two touchdowns in New York's victory over Baltimore.

49ers 35, Saints 21

Gene Washington caught a 17-yard touchdown pass from rookie Tom Owen on the first play of the fourth quarter and, just 23 seconds later, defensive tackle Bill Belk recovered a fumble by New Orleans quarterback Larry Cipa and scored another touchdown, putting San Francisco ahead 28-7.

Chargers 17, Broncos 0

Otis Armstrong of Denver, with a 142-yard day, won the NFL rushing title with 1,407 yards. But San Diego rookie Don Woods surpasses John Brockington's first-year rushing mark of 1,105 yards by gaining 105 to finish with 1,162. And he got San Diego's first touchdown on a six-yard run in the first quarter.

Eagles 28, Lions 17

"We considered this Michael's strongest test, and he did a fine job of throwing and play selecting against a Detroit defense that constantly changed," Coach Mike McCormack said of rookie Mike Boryla, who replaced veteran quarterback Gabriel three weeks ago after the Eagles had lost six straight.

Falcons 10, Packers 3

Dave Hampton's five-yard run in the opening period for Atlanta accounted for the game's only touchdown.

Basketball teams sought for league

An independent basketball league is being formed in Greenfield. Any teams interested in playing in the league should contact Charles Harris at 335-2804 by Sunday. Entry fee to the league is $140 and all games will be played at the Greenfield Armory.

Vancouver Blazers edge Crusaders, 2-1

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The Cleveland Crusaders saw their losing string extended to four games as they were edged by the Vancouver Blazers 2-1 Sunday night.

The Blazers began the scoring with a fluke goal by Bryan Campbell in the first period. Campbell's pass-out from behind the net hit Cleveland defenseman Wayne Mauloyn on the leg and bounced into the net.

From High School To The Majors!
A native of Baltimore, Al Kaline joined the Tigers at age 18, right out of high school—entering the major leagues without ever playing in the minors. Through his 22 seasons, he's played in the All-Star game 16 times and has won 10 Gold Gloves for fielding excellence. This year he spent full time at the plate as Detroit's "designated hitter."

"Newspaper Carriers, You Lead the League!"

. . . says the great Detroit Tigers star Al Kaline. And Al knows something about league-leading—he's tops among active American League players in number of games and number of hits, and second in six other hitting categories.

As he entered this season Al was closing in on the 3,000-hit mark, which has been attained by only 11 players in baseball history—nine of them already in the Hall of Fame. But between his at-bats, he takes time to pay tribute to America's newspaper carriers on the occasion of Newspaper Carrier Day 1974.

"It takes steadiness to be a good ball player," Al says. "You've got to be in there all the time, working hard, giving it all you've got. And that's exactly what your newspaper carrier gives you—steady performance every day. That's why these young folks are tops in my league!"

Carriers are tops in the U. S. Savings Bonds thrift league, too. Through the years they've supported the program, and thousands of them buy Bonds regularly out of their earnings. Many of them do it through Newspaper Carriers Thrift Clubs, setting dollars aside each month for college expenses or other important needs. They believe in their country's future and their own. That's what buying Bonds is all about.

Won't you join Al Kaline and the Treasury Department in a big "thank you" to your own and all of our country's newspaper carriers? It's their day in the sun—Newspaper Carrier Day 1974!

Take stock in America.

See truck strike again

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A leader of last winter's truckers strike says a repeat may loom at the end of January if the nation's indepenent truckers don't get some significant concessions from Washington.

William J. Hill, national chairman of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, said Sunday another national truckers strike could start as soon as Jan. 31 unless truckers get federally-sponsored long-term loans to refinance their rigs and higher weight limits.

He said truckers also will need approval for freight surcharges if the Ford Administration imposes fuel taxes or if fuel prices increase.

Without help from Washington, Hill said independent owner-operators will meet Jan. 17 to plan a second widespread shutdown.

The president of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, Hill is also a leader of the National Independent Truckers Unity Committee, said NITUC members would meet Jan. 17 "in the final pre-shutdown meeting."

Hill said federal Department of Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar has agreed to back the truckers' request for the long-term loans.

Princess ends Burton romance

LONDON (AP) — Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia has broken off an eight-week romance with actor Richard Burton and has returned to her husband in London, the Daily Mail reported Monday.

The London newspaper said the 38-year-old princess had rejoined her banker husband Neil Balfour, their son Nicholas and her two daughters by a previous marriage.

"Yes, I am back. There is nothing more to say," she was quoted as saying. The Daily Mail said friends said Princess Elizabeth told them that Burton's drinking was one of the reasons for the breakup. "I didn't realize it takes more than a woman to make a man sober," she was quoted as saying.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO

Dearl Alexander, Plaintiff, vs. Ida Inskeep, et al., Defendants.

NO. Ci-74-269
LEGAL NOTICE

TO: Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Orgin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, the unknown heirs of George and Ida Inskeep, Reason Inskeep, John Inskeep, Origin Inskeep, Edward Inskeep, Susan Shank, Mallie Riber, Marie Inskeep, Addie Sharp, Luella Rhoten, Clarence Brady, Benjamin Brady and Daisy Day Day, all of whose addresses are unknown and cannot, with reasonable diligence, be ascertained.

You will take notice that Dearl Alexander commenced his civil action in the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette County, Ohio, in the above styled case to quiet title to the following described tract of real estate.

Situate in the City of Washington, County of Fayette and State of Ohio. Beginning at an iron pin in the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street (66 feet wide) at the most easterly corner of the tract of land conveyed to Henry Brownell, Jr. (Deed Book 92, Page 464), said point bears N. 47 deg. 38' E. as measured along the line of Rawlings Street a distance of 496.72 feet from the northeasterly line of Delaware Street (50 feet wide); thence N. 42 deg. 22' W. along the northeasterly line of said Brownell's tract a distance of 165.00 feet to an iron pin in the southeasterly line of a proposed 16.5 foot wide alley; thence N. 47 deg. 38' E. along the line of said alley a distance of 81.68 feet to an iron pin at the most westerly corner of the tract of land conveyed to E. & H. Simeri (Deed Book 92, Page 390); thence S. 42 deg. 39' W. along the northwesterly line of Rawlings Street a distance of 82.50 feet to the place of beginning, containing 0.311 acre.

The sum and substance of his complaint is that Dearl Alexander is seized in fee simple absolute title of the above described premises and that he claims such title by adverse possession, as he has openly and notoriously claimed title to said real estate by adverse possession for a period of more than twenty-one years.

The plaintiff, Dearl Alexander, further has alleged in his complaint that you, as defendants, have some claim or interest in the aforesaid real estate. You are hereby required to answer said complaint and set up your claim or forever be barred to what interest you may have in said real estate, on or before the 15th day of February, 1975.

Opening lead—king of clubs.

The Italian Blue Team, which has dominated the world of bridge for many years, seldom have hands where both their pairs stray disastrously from the beaten path.

But the fact is that occasionally they do, and here is a hand from the 1965 world championship between Italy and the U.S. to prove it.

At the first table, D'Alelio opened one club for Italy and Pabis Ticci responded one diamond. Both bids were artificial. One club showed 12 to 16 points and one diamond showed 0 to 9 points.

When the American West bid a notrump (natural), D'Alelio doubled to show that he was near the top of his range for a club bid. This was somewhat indiscreet under the circumstances, and the American pair took full advantage of D'Alelio's incautious double.

Pabis Ticci wound up at two diamonds doubled, going down four to the tune of 700 points.

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	Pass	1 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

The notrump bid by Garozzo at this table was altogether different from the notrump bid at the previous table.

At the first table, West's notrump bid had designated the values normally associated with an opening notrump bid. It showed 16 to 18 points and balanced distribution.

But at the second table, West's notrump bid in the protective seat could have been made with considerably less values—perhaps 5 or 6 points less—than West actually had. East understandably passed and Garozzo made four notrump, scoring only 180 points instead of the 430 points he could have earned by bidding and making a game.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Psychosomatic Medicine

The psychosomatic concept of medicine was almost discarded at the turn of the century. Opponents of the idea felt that this new discipline had no validity.

Since then, the horizons of psychosomatic medicine have expanded. Now it is recognized as vital in the understanding of almost all physical problems that man is heir to.

There is NO physical disorder that does not have some psychological overtone.

The psyche (mind) and the soma (body) are a single, unified, functioning element. There cannot be any separation between these two if disease is to be thoroughly understood.

Physicians now acknowledge that a patient's social and emotional makeup are as important in the diagnosis and the cure of disease as are the many new tests performed with computerized equipment.

There is a distinct difference between two terms: "psychogenic" and "psychosomatic." A psychogenic disease is one that originates in the mind Emotional stress, for example, can be responsible for physical disorders such as ulcerative colitis or bronchial asthma.

"Psychosomatic" refers to the emotional overtones associated with physical illnesses. For example, anyone who has recovered from a heart attack has a normal right to fears and anxieties which will color his pattern of living.

Doctors do not use the term "psychogenic" or "psychosomatic" as finger-pointing accusations that a patient's complaints are not real. It is possible to feel actual pain when the the origin of the pain lies in the emotions.

Families of patients who have psychological symptoms must be just as understanding and supportive as if the disorder were purely physical in origin. The person who thinks he feels pain actually does feel pain. The need to alleviate it is as important as if there were evidence of a fracture or a tumor of the lung.

In this world of confusion and conflict it is understandable that the level of anxiety about health is high. When that level interferes with a person's happiness or capacity to function he must seek the specialized guidance of doctors or psychologists highly trained in the art of emotional disease.

It is never a shame or a stigma to seek such counseling. When an emotional origin of disease is suspected, the mature approach is to confront the emotional problem, see it in its totality, and solve it with psychological help.

Police check 6 weekend mishaps

Washington C.H. police investigated six accidents over the weekend, one of which involved the injury of a three-year-old Hillsboro girl.

SATURDAY, 10:02 a.m. — An accident on W. Court Street, near the Hinde Street intersection, involved cars driven by Barbara Carmean, 24, Hillsboro and Gloria J. Rourke, 19, of 766 Knollwood Court.

A passenger in the Carmean auto, Cindy Carmean, 3, Hillsboro, showed visible signs of injury and was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment of contusions of the right shoulder.

Ms. Rourke was cited for failure to yield right of way.

5:20 p.m. — A truck driven by Lee A. Jackson, 36, Arcanum, hit a parked car owned by LuAnn Coressi, 834 Kohler Dr., with a trailer his truck was towing in McDonald's restaurant parking lot on S. Elm Street.

9:51 p.m. — A car driven by Gareth C. Evans, 17, of 509 Hickory Lane, backed into a parked car belonging to Robert J. Fultz, 20, Greenfield, at Frisch's parking lot on Clinton Avenue.

SUNDAY, 2:19 p.m. — A car driven by Ralph R. Hickman, 63, of 525 S. Main St., traveled off Main Street at the Circle Avenue intersection and collided with a street sign pole and a mailbox.

Hickman was cited for reckless operation and driving while intoxicated.

2:48 p.m. — A car driven by Daniel L. Wood, 51, Miami Trace Road, backed into a car belonging to Andrew G. Merritt, 16, of 810 Merritt Way, at the Hidy Foods parking lot on Columbus Avenue.

7:05 p.m. — An auto driven by Lucky E. Webb, 24, Tampa, Fla., collided with an oncoming vehicle driven by Deborah D. Robbins, 19, of 417 Rose Ave., as Webb pulled from his parking spot in front of 734 E. Market St.

He was cited for starting without safety and driving while under license suspension.

Damage to the two cars was moderate.

Burglary incident tops police log

A breaking and entering incident, a bomb threat, a personal injury and an incident involving the discharging of a firearm within the city limits were reported by Washington police today.

The Pizza Hut on S. Elm Street was burglarized sometime between 3:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. Saturday, police reported.

Police department investigation revealed someone had crawled into the restaurant through a vent and stolen the Muscular Dystrophy donation card containing $10 to $15.

Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken, 501 S. Elm St., received a bomb threat from an unidentified male caller at 8:40 a.m. Sunday, police reported.

The man stated, "You'd better get out of there! There is a bomb in there and it's going to go off at 12 o'clock."

An investigation is continuing.

Audrey Hoagland, 31, of 401 Peddicord Ave., was kicked in the mouth at the Rocking Chair Inn, 428 Wilson St., the evening of Dec. 6, according to police reports. Police received the report from Fayette Memorial Hospital, where Ms. Hoagland was treated for a fractured jaw, at 4:36 p.m. Saturday. She had declined to press charges.

The storm window and the sash window at the Lawrence Darif residence at 328 Ely St., were broken when hit by a .22 caliber slug at 1:46 p.m. Saturday, police reported. Investigation showed the damage was caused by the bullet ricocheting and damage was estimated at $35.

Littering charge filed by police

An 18-year-old Leesburg man has been arrested by Washington C.H. police and charged with littering.

Mark E. Smith was arrested by Patrolman Larry Mongold at 11:30 p.m. Sunday, because of his alleged connection with a trash dumping incident on property owned by Homer Smith, Rt. 5, located at the end of Flint Drive.

Ptl. Mongold said his investigation led him to a Gregg Street woman's address and when the woman was contacted, she explained she had paid Smith $8 to haul her trash away.

Smith is in city jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

British ambassador urges cooperation

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Global inflation, mounting recession and an oil crisis have combined to make it impossible for national leaders to isolate problems and set clear courses of action to deal with them, the British ambassador to the U.S. said Sunday.

Only one thing is clear, Sir Peter Ramsbotham told a graduating class at the University of Akron: "No nation can go it alone these days.

"The welfare of the western world now depends on stable relations among the member nations and with the nations of the rest of the world," the ambassador said.

Ramsbotham also said he would welcome appointment of former U.S. Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson as U.S. ambassador to Great Britain. That nomination was predicted last week by three daily newspapers.

On economics, Ramsbotham said any modern economy needs 13 basic raw materials, and he noted the U.S. used to produce more than it imported of nine.

"By 1970, the list had diminished to seven, and by 1985, it will have shrunk to about four," he said.

Ramsbotham said what he called the "new economic order" created by the vast and growing wealth of the oil exporting nations added to difficulties besetting the economies of the rest of the world.

"Until recently it was accepted as axiomatic that for the industrial West, there was security of access to supplies of raw materials at reasonable prices throughout the world. That assumption was shattered a year ago with the Arab oil embargo," the Englishman said.

Richardson, who resigned rather than follow former President Nixon's order to fire the first Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox, is well respected in England, Ramsbotham said.

The ambassador said Richardson was certain to strengthen ties between the two nations.
